It is certain that several, at least, were shot or hung without the pretence of a trial, at the caprice of an officer or subordinate. It is certain that Mr. Ramsay, the Provost Marshal, stands charged by a multitude of wit-nesses, black and white, with excesses for which a parallel must be sought among the infamous eccentricities of Oriental despots.

It is certain, at least—for the statement rests on the authority of the resident magistrate at Bath—that he flogged with his own hand fifteen men who had never been sentenced, and were to be sent before the BAPTIZED.-Several persons were bap-tized on Sunday, in the Delaware river at court-martial at Morant Bay. It is probable, moreover, that men were bribed with the hope of life-a hope not always realized-to betray their accomplices; that persons accused of crimes were refused permission to call witnesses in their defence, and that some were executed, the only proof or whose guilt was their being found wounded. Theseare things which cannot be dismissed with common-places about the dire necessities of war, and the unfairness of scrutinizing-retrospectively through a microscope the pro-ceedings of men confronted with an overwhelming danger. They are acts, not mili-tary, but judicial, done for the most part after armed resistance had ceased, and when there was nothing to prevent a deliberate separation of the innocent from the guilty.

Upon the whole, the inference we are compelled to draw from the facts hitherto disclosed, subject, of course, to correction when the result of the inquiry shall be made known, is that an abuse of power, beyond all excuse or palliation either in nature or degree, will probably be brought home to several British officers and a large number of British soldiers or sailors. It is a conclusion from, which our readers will bear us witness that we long shrank, and which to have accepted hastily would have been almost as dishonorable as to shut our eyes almost as dishonorable as to shut our eyes to it now that it is forced upon us. It is right we should recognize before all things in a great political emergency the paramount obligation of securing the public safety. Order comes before liberty, the rights of society before the rights of the individual. Had the Volun-teers drawn up before the Morant Bay Court House killed some hundreds of people in-stead of only a few by a volley fired in self-defence, or had any number of rebels caught red-handed been hanged upon the nearest trees, we should not have inquired too closely into the legality of such acts. We are preeditor. into the legality of such acts. We are pre-pared to go yet further, and to contend that a Government er any other constituted au-thority is entitled 'to a strong presumption in its favor when engaged in quelling an outbreak commencing with a massacre. But presumption must yield to proof, and we cannot but discern through much exag-geration and many inventions the proof that geration and many inventions the proof that a Reign of Terror did prevail after the ne-cessity for it had ceased. A time comes in every such crisis when the "dogs of war," however properly "let slip," ought to be sternly recalled, and after which the higher law must be invoked in vain. It seems to have been the chief fault of Gov. Ever that he failed to appreciate this, and seems to have been the chief fault of Gov. Eyre that he failed to appreciate this, and, oppressed with burden of his own anxieties, asked no questions about the operation of martial law. The most cruel wrongs are often inflicted through a division of responsibility between those who give orders without seeing them executed, and those who execute them without consulting their who execute them without consulting their own consciences. It will be for the Com-missioners in this instance to apportion the blame between these two, and their task is one that few will envy. They will carry with them, however, the sympathy and support of the nation, which, jealous as it rightly is of its military character, will never suffer the sacred principles of justice and mercy to be profaned with impunity in its service.

within the coming year, they would all be taken as soon as completed.

STABBING FRACAS.-Yesterday afternoon fracas occurred near the car depot on Bridge avenue, between two individuals named Matthews and Armington, in which the former was stabled in three places. No arrests have yet been made.

AN ACTUAL FACT.—A day or two since. the contractors for cleaning the paved streets, were seen scraping up the dirt and offal that have been accumulating for some time past.

AMUSEMENTS. The Ravels appeared last evening at the Academy of Music and were greeted by a host of old and new admirers. This even-ing they present a remarkably attractive bill, exhibiting the genius of the entire troupe. At the Chestnut "Never too Late to Mend" will be repeated. It was very successful last night and deserves further notice. The Minstrels will also appear this evening and at to-morrow's matinee. Mrs. D. P. Bowers and Mr. J. C. as Swig. At the American we have the usual variety. At Concert Hall the Kaleido-photoscope is in full operation. At Assembly Building we have Signor Blitz. A CHANGE.—The theatrical paper called The Stage has changed name and owner-ship. It is now called The Star, and is edited by Mr. Charles E. School, one of the ablest and most active journalists in the city. By avoiding personalities and yet Star may be a success, which The Stage cer-tainly was not. We heartily wish Mr. School abundant success. His field is a pleasant one, and there is ample room for the display of his peculiar ability as an editor.
