Pennsylvania Legislature.

[CLOSE OF SATURDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.] House.-Mr. Waddell from a committee appointed to inquire into the truth or falsity of an article in the Phisburgh Dispatch, reflecting on the Legislature, made a partial report, stating that $1,000 had been paid to an individual in Pittsburgh (not a member) to secure the passage of a certain license bill, and that $4,000 additional had been promised to him. The committee asked to b allowed to continue their session during the summer, which was agreed to.
The following passed:

An act to incorporate the German Insurance Company.

Exempting the armory of the City Troop The following act passed the Housfinally: Be it enacted, &c., That the Banks of this State whose cashiers and stockholders com ply with the provisions of the first section of the act to amend the revenue, approved February 30, 1866, be exempt from all other taxation, under the laws of this Common wealth; Provided, That this section shall not be construed to relieve said banks from the payment of any taxes now due the Commonwealth; and provided further, that this act shall not apply to any bank now liable to tax on capital stock and dividends, until after such bank has made a return of its surplus fond, and has reid and to its surplus fund, and has paid such tax upon it as would now be imposed if the amount of such surplus fund was declared as dividends; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to release the real estate of any bank from local taxation. SEC. 2. The second section of the act to which this is a supplement shall be construed to apply to all railroad, canal an itransportation companies not liable to taxation upon net income, in pursuance of the second section of the act of April 30, 1864, to abolish the Revenue Board.

SEC. 3. The legal rate of interest for banks whose cashiers and stockholders shall comply with the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement shall be seven per cent, per annum.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the above bill was passed was agreed to by 38 yeas to 35 nays. (The bill having already been sent to the Senate, this reconsideration was stated by the Speaker to be of no effect.) Joint resolutions, urging Congress to declare it inexpedient to withdraw troops from the rebel States passed. An act to prevent the sale of any intoxicating liquors at any house in any town, city or borough, on the day of any election, was defeated—yeas 29, nays 50.

An act increasing the salary of the Governor of Pennsylvania (atter the expira-tion of the present term) to $6,000, was amended so as to read $5,000, and passed by a vote of 57 yeas to 9 nays. Adjourned. Reception at General Grant's in Wash ington.

A despatch from Washington, dated Fri-

A despatch from Washington, dated Friday evening, April 6, says:

This evening was a fitting close to a day of memorable events. The occurrences of the morning lent to the gathering a special interest, which was heightened by the unexpected presence of President Johnson at the layer. For many hours General Grants. the levee. For many hours General Grant's not over spacious mansion was thronged by the rank, fashion, beauty and notabilities of the capital. The guests were received in the two parlors on the left hand side of the the two parlors on the left hand side of the entrance; in the opposite rooms refreshments were served up, and the basement was devoted to dancing. The President arrived very early, and unannounced. He took up a position by the side of the distinguished General, and shared in the labors of the reception. The guests began to arrive about eight o'clock; and provided in in an increasing stream till. began to arrive about eight o'clock; and poured in in an increasing stream till half-past ten or eleven. Not the least remarkable of the number was Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, whose spare, careworn figure and striking face made him easily distinguishable among the throng, and, though he evidently sought retirement as much as possible, many old-time friends found him out and held him in pleasant conversation. The widely different face of conversation. The widely different fate of these two Vice-Presidents—the uncompromising loyal Tennesseean and the reluctantly disloyal Georgian—was too marked not to present itself to every mind.

Among the assemblage who had come together on the neutral ground of homage to Gen. Grant there were other contrasts almost as singular. Theodore Tilton and Montgomery Blair entered at nearly the same instant, Madame Montholon and the French Ambassador encountered Madame Juarez, leaning on the arm of Signor Romero, the Mexican Minister; Secretary McCulloch and Freeman Clarke, his rebellious subordinate, elbowed each other in the hallway. Shortly before ten o'clock a hurried whis-per passed around the room that Thad. Stevens was coming, and many pressed forward to see the effect of such a meeting on such a day; but there was no unusual manifestation on either side, and Thad after exchanging a distant courtesy with the Chief Magistrate, passed into the next room with a gratified smile on his saturnine visage. Conspicuous among the guests besides those named, were Judge Patterson and Mrs. Patterson, and Mrs. Stover, the President's daughters; Secretary Harlan and daughter, Secretary Welles and daughter, Mrs. Senator Foster, General Howard, of the Freedmen's Bureau, and General Fullerton his former Adjutant General; Messrs. Washburn, Trumbull, Hogan, Judge Bingham, and other members of Congress. It is impossible, however, to enumerate half of the distinguished persons present, nor is it practicable to give more then a brief notice of the magnificent toilettes of the ladies. Mrs. Grant wore a rich straw colored moire, with low corsage, trimmed with lace. The President's daughters, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Stover, were each attired in black velvet. Mrs. Senato Foster wore a blue moire, trimmed with white tulle, and Madame Montholon a mag nificent white satin dress trimmed with crimson velvet. Flowers and pearls were the prevailing headdresses, and there was a conspicuous absence of diamonds and jewelry. Nothing occurred to mar the reception, which was pre-eminently a bril-

STREET CAR CONDUCTORS.—The Cleveland Plaindealer wants to know "Who wouldn't be a street car conductor?" It says that on one of the street tracks there, and several feet on each side of it, was a says that on one of the street tracks there, and several feet on each side of it, was a liquid stream of mud, and, in many instances, the fair passengers shrank from wading through it to the sidewalks. Those who had force of character sufficent, asked the conductor to carry them "ashore," and, of course, he complied—particularly when the applicant was plump and good looking. We were witnesses to one of these exhibitions, and it was a touching one, as you can imagine. The arms of the couductor tightly clasped his charge—sweet sixteen, we should judge—her arms were about his neck; her head was upon his shoulder—waterfall, rats, twist and all, and the tilting hoops indicated every point of the compass. One of the conductors, in attempting to carry a girl to the sidewalk, near Perry street, tripped and pitched head first into a mudhole, with his sweet companion, who was nestling in his arms—all so unconscious of danger!

WEALTH OF ILLINOIS. - The assessed valuation of one hundred and two counties valuation of one hundred and two counties in Illinois, for 1864, was $356,709,058; for 1865, it is $391,603,284, a gain of $34,894,231, or nearly ten per cent, in a single year. Doctrine. The following resolution, calling on the Government of the United States to interfere, and by force of arms overthrow the Empire of Maximilian, passed the Assem-bly of California on the 16th of February last, amid great excitement and by an almost unanimous vote—72 to 2.

Whereas, In the message of President Monroe, at the opening of the Eighteenth Congress, it was, among other things, avowed and proclaimed as the settled national policy of the United States that, "in the wars of European Powers, in matters relating to themselves, we have never taken any part, nor does it comport with our policy. any part, nor does it comport with our policy so to do;" that "with the movements in this hemisphere we are, of necessity, more immediately connected;" that "we owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those Powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dan gerous to our peace and safety;" that "with the existing colonies of dependencies of any European Power we have not interfered, and shall not interfere; but with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence and maintained it, and whose in-dependence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European Power, in any other light than as the manifestation of unfriendly disposition toward the United States; and that it is impossible, therefore, that we should behold uch interposition in any form with indifference;" and whereas, the doctrine thus enunciated by President Monroe is heartily endorsed by the receive of Colleges in the control of the process of Colleges in the control of the process of the control of t endorsed by the people of California; there

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate con-curring, That the occupancy of Mexico by any European Power, or the permanent es-tablishment of a monarchy in that country, being dangerous to our peace and safety, should not be consented to by the Government of the United States under any circumstances whatever; and it is the opinion of this Legislature that our National Government should prevent any European Power from interfering with the affairs of Mexico, and that it is the imperative duty of the Government to prevent the establishment of a monarchy in that country against the wishes of the people thereof.

This action was suggested by the following special message from the Governor:
STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SACRAMENTO, February 16, 1866. To the Assembly of the State of California :

—I have the honor to transmit herewith a communication from the consul of the Republic of Mexico, expressing thanks, on behalf of the Government he represents, for the cordial reception extended to him by your honorable body on a recent occasion. In this connection, I cannot refrain from suggesting that a concurrent resolution by the Legislature, expressive of the sympathy entertained by California for the noble men who are sacrificing their lives in defence of republican liberty in Mexico against the assaults of European enemies, would be source of encouragement for them to perse vere in their righteous cause, while at the same time, it could not fail to meet the almost unanimous approval of the people of

FREDERICK Low, Governor. The following is a translation of the communication enclosed:

CONSULATE OF THE REPUBLICOF MEXICO FOR SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, SACRAMENTO: Feb. 15, 1866.—The undersigned, consul of the Republic of Mexico at San Francisco, has the honor to address his Excellency, Governor of the State of California, in order that he may be pleased to offer to the House of Representatives of the State of California, in the name of the Government represented by the undersigned, the most sincere thanks for the expression of sym pathy manifested by the worthy representatives of this State during the session of yes-terday in behalf of the Republic of Mexico, assailed by the hirelings of Napoleon Bonaparte.

The sentiment expressed yesterday in the House of Assembly is a proof of the general opinion of this great Republic as to the Mexican question.

The undersigned cannot express his gratitude for the high honor conferred upon him by the Legislature of the State of California, an honor that he will forever remember as one of the greatest honors ever received by the undersigned.

the undersigned. the undersigned, Mexican consul, take this opportunity to offer to his Excellency, the Governor of the State of California, and its representatives, his most distinguished its representatives, his consideration and esteem.
