CITY BULLETIN.

WEST PHILADELPHIA.—The miserable, dreary weather of the last two days rendered anything like locomotion extremely uned anything like locomotion extremely undesirable, especially in a part of the city, like that lying west of the Permanent bridge, where the appearance of a pavement resembles one of those easis of the deserts of Arabia. Market street alone indulges in the luxury, and even there the sidewalks are in a state of terrible dilapidation. sidewarks are in a state of terrible dilapida-tion. Every side street running morth and south, is bordered by a sort of semi-em-bankment in the centre of which a narrow plank pathway is placed only capable of carrying two abreast, off of which the pe-destrian steps into a slough as like that of Despond as can possibly be imagined. And even these make-shifts are in miserable order, gap after gap occurring, over which the waylarer has either to leap, or wade through the puddle of flowing mud that fills up the vacuum. Darby road is an intolerable nuisance, difficult of passage during day, and at night a perfect man-trap, from its confluence with Market street to Thirty-seventh street, where this miserably apology for a foot-walk ends, Thirty-seventh intersecting Spruce street at that point. When one remembers the immense amount of pedestrianism along that road, on which stands the only entrance to the Alms House and Philadelphia Hospital, with the immediately adjacent Woodland Cemetery, he must wonder at the patience of the suffering tax-payers of the neighborhood. Whoever the supervisor is, or whoever the supervisors are, who are supposed to have these matters in charge, they should receive summary condemnation at the hands of an indignant public, as well as the Members, of Council who reside in and affect to represent West Philadelphia, Sunday was one of the most unpleasant days of the spring; shower after shower, with spat after spet of snow and been with spat after spat of snow, and keen, biting gusts of wind, making anything like out-door exercise exceedingly disagreeable. The consequence was that the churches were very thinly attended, even the members of the Baptist persuasion, to whom it was once claimed "the Lord had given West Philadelphia," seemed undesirous of a second immersion. Neither the "Berean," Fortieth and Chestnut, Rev. Dr. Cooper, or the new Baptist Church, Thirty-eighth and Chestnut streets, Rev. Mr. Castle, displayed anything like their usual amount of worshipers; and it was the same thing with every other place of religious instruction. Divine services were performed, as usual, at the Insane Department of the Alms House, Rev. Francis Pearson officiating, but this without its fine choir, every member of which resided miles away from the Insti-

The business of the alms-house on Satur-The business of the alms-house on Saturday was perceptibly diminished, only eight persons being admitted, and thirteen being discharged; while there were five elopements, and two deaths: onc from "phthisis," and one from "variola," at the small-pox hospital. In connection with the latter death which is the second that here covered death, which is the second that has occurred at the alms-house during the last week, it is proper to make a few remarks, as various rumors have been in circulation as to the existence of that disease to a very great extent: There have been quite a number of cases on the alms-house grounds during the latter part of the winter, but not in, the building, itself. The small-pox Hespital is far removed from the House, standing on a shaded eminence on the meadows, some square or two below, whence it is impossible to convey anything like infection. At one time, however, there were no less than twenty-seven (27) cases in the edifice, all of whom, with the exception of eight, now within its walls, were sent to the Municipal Hospital, on Turner's Lane, by order of the Board of Health, in response to the deepend of the Board of Grandle of the deepend of the Board of Carolina as to the demand of the Board of Guardians of the Poor. The eight are all convalescent. That the Faculty of the Hospital have faithfully performed their dangerous duty in the pre-misss, is evidenced by the fact that but mises, is evidenced by the fact that but eight deaths have occurred since the 1st of February last. No further cases will be admitted in the Almshouse, and should any one accidentally occur among the inmates, or the disease be introduced by a new comer from the street, developing itself after admission, he or she will be sent at once to the Municipal Hospital.

Of course, there was little or no business transacted vesterday only one person being transacted yesterday, only one person being admitted. There were, however, five additional deaths, but the certificates had not been signed when our reporter left. There was one additional admission to the Insane Department, a transfer from the female outwards. Five other inmates took French leave by scaling the hospital walls.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE.—The body of an unknown white man was found yesterday afternoon in Jones' Woods, near the four-mile stone, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The deceased held in both hands a large single-barreled pistol, which pointed at his head. A ball had passed in his cheeck and out at A ball had passed in his cheeck and out at the back part of the head. The leaves under the body were perfectly dry, and as yesterday and Saturday were wet days, it is supposed the body had been there some time. The man had evidently committed suicide. A lot of plated rings, two dozen spoons, some silver-plated pencils and pens, some pocket and table knives, a piece of cassimere and five photograph albums, the whole valued at about $200, were stolen.

A CURIOUS PLANT.—A very singular plant has lately been introduced by a genelleman of New Orleans, just returned from ileman of New Orleans, just returned from Mexico. It is quite a phenomenon in botanical history. It flourishes on the northern slopes of the mountains of New Mexico and Chihuahua, the haunts of the Apache and Camanche, and is very difficult of access on account of the hostility of those predatory tribes. The Indians use it for certain medical purposes, and hold it in great veneration, declaring that it is a gift from the Great Spirit. Its name is the Flor de Peua or Siempre Vive (evergreen.)
