SENATE.-Mr. Chandler asked the Senat to take up the bill to facilitate postal and railroad communication between the State-The bill was made the special order for Friday next, at one o'clock. Its language is afollows:

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States confers upon Congress in express terms the power to regulate commerce among the several States, to establish post roads, and to raise and support armies

Be it enacted, &c., That every railroad company of the United States, whose road is operated by steam, its successors or assigns, be and is hereby authorized to carry upon and over its road, connections, boats, bridges and ferries, all passengers, troops, government supplies, mails, freight and property, on their way from any State, to another State, and to receive compensation therefore and to government setting therefore and the government setting the g sation therefor, and to connect with roads of the States so as to form continuous lines for the transportation of the same to the place of destination.

Provided, That this act shall not affect any stipulation between the government of the United States and any railroad company for transportation or fares without comp tion, nor impair or change the conditions imposed by the terms of any act granting lands to any such company to aid in the construction of its road.

Mr. Grimes called up the House bill for the better organization of the pay department of the navy. It provides, as passed in the House, that from and after the passage of this act the active list of the Pay Corps of the Navy shall consist of eighty paymas-ters, forty assistant paymasters, and thirty passed assistant paymasters. Paymasters passed assistant paymasters. Faymasters shall be regularly promoted and commissioned from passed assistant paymasters from assignment asserts from assignment. and passed assistant paymasters from assistant paymasters, subject, however, to such examinations as are required by law, and such as may be established by the Secretary of the Navy.

Section 2. That passed assistant paymasters shall give bonds for the faithful performance of their duties in the sum of $15,000, and that their annual pay shall be at sea $1,500, on other duty $1,400, on leave or waiting orders $1,200.

The Senate Committee recommended the following amendment, which was adopted: Insert after the words "assistant paymasters," and before the words "subject, however," the following: "and all passed assistant paymasters authorized by this act to be appointed who have not heretofore been appointed and commissioned as assistant paymasters, and all assistant paymasters ereby authorized to be appointed, shall be selected from those who have served as acting assistant paymasters for the term of two years, and who were eligible to appointment in that grade when they were appointed acting assistant paymasters as

The bill, as amended, was passed. Mr. Sherman called up the bill making appropriations for the Post Office Department for the ensuing year. It provides, as reported from the Finance Committee, as

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted. That the following sums, or so much thereof, as may be necessary, be and the same are hereby appropriated for the year ending June 30, 1867, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated—to take effect as soon as Brazil shall have performed the condition on her part provided in the law authorizing said service for the mail stagments service between the United mail steamship service between the United States and Brazil, $150,000; Provided, that this appropriation shall take effect only when Brazil shall have performed the condition or her part provided in the law authorizing said service: for the mail steamship service between the San Francisco, Japan and China for six months, ending June 30, 1867, $250,000; for the overland mail transportation between Atchison and Fol-som, and for marine mail transportation between New York and California, $900,000. SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the Postmaster General be and he is hereby authorized to employ sailing vessels for the transportation of the mails between the transportation of the mails between the ports of the United States and any foreign ports where the service may be facilitated thereby, allowing and paying therefor a compensation not exceeding the sea postages compensation not exceeding the sea postages accruing on the mails so conveyed.

SEO 4. And be it further enacted, That the Postmaster General be and he is hereby required to report to the Secretary of the Treasury annually, prior to the first day of December each year, his estimate of the money required for the service of the Post Office Department for the ensuing fiscal year; which estimates shall be reported to Congress with the printed estimates of ap-congress with the printed estimates of appropriations required by the joint resolution of the seventh of January, 1846.

Mr. Henderson submitted the following amendment to the bill, as an additional section, viz: That in all cases in which persons have been or shall be appointed, either during the recess or during the section of the Senate, as assistent restriction. sion of the Senate, as assistant postmaster er civil officers under the government whose appointments require the consent the Senate, and whose appointments having been submitted to the Senate, have been rejected or not consented to before the aljournment thereof, no money shall be drawn from the treasury, or used from any fund or appropriation created by law, to pay the salaries of such persons, under such appointments, or under any previous appointments to the same office, for services rendered after said adjournment.

And if any such person so rejected by the And it any such person so rejected by the Senate shall, after such adjournment, be appointed to the same office, no money shall be drawn or used as aforesaid to pay his salary, until his appointment shall have been consented to by the Senate at its su ceeding session.

A protracted discussion occurred on the above, and was participated in by Messra. Henderson, Sherman, Johnson, Trumbuil, Howe, Cowan, Howard and Sumner.

Mr. Trumbuil offered the following as Mr. Trumbull offered the following as an amendment to Mr. Henderson's amen !-

That no person exercising or performing the duties of any office, which by law is required to be filled by the advice and consent of the Senate, shall, until he is so conserved by the Senate are shall, until he is so conserved by the Senate are shall and the senate are shall be the senate and the senate are shall be senated by the Senate are shall be senated by the senate are shall be senated by the senated by firmed by the Senate, sective any salary or compensation for services, unless he be commissioned by the President to fill a vacancy which has begun to exist during the recess of the Senate ann since its last adjournment.

Without taking any action on the bill or amendments the Senate went into executive session at 3.30, and soon after adjourned. House.—Mr. Latham (W.Va.) introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, The Committee on Reconstruction has reported that "The people of Fennessee are found to be in a condition, to exercise the functions of a State within this Union; and whereas, by the information received through the investigations of said committee, and through other channels, it is the sense of this House that the people of said State are entitled to representation herein;" therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That the Committee on Reconstruction be, and the same is hereby relieved from the further conside ration of all matters pertaining to the representation of the State of Tennessee in this

Resolved. That the credentials of the rep resentatives elect from said State be and the same are hereby referred to the Committee on Elections, with leave to report at any time, and with instructions to to report a soon as practicable upon the elections, returns and qualifications of each of said representatives elect.

The Speaker declared that the question of Tennessee was not before the Committee on Reconstruction, and, therefore, the resolutions were not in order.

The next business in order was the consideration of a resolution offered by Mr. Julian on the 29th of January, which the went over under the rule, declaring as the deliberate judgment of this House that the speedy trial of Jefferson Davis, either by a civil or military tribunal, for the crime of treason, or the other crimes of which he stands charmed, and his prompt execution if found guilty, are imperatively demande i by the people of the United States, in order that treason may be adequately branded by the nation, traitors made infamous, and the repetition of their crimes, as far as possible, be prevented.

After some cross firing the morning hour expired, and the resolution went over till next Monday.

Mr. Wilson (Iowa), from the Judiciary Committee, made an adverse report on the proposition of the President to modify the test oath, and the committee was discharged from its further consideration, the report being laid on the table and ordered to be Mr. Rogers (N. J.) presented a minority report in favor of the recommendation of the President, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster General, which was also ordered to be printed. Mr. Washburne (Ill.), from the Committee on Commerce, reported a joint resolution, authorizing the President to carry into effect such orders and regulations of quarantine as may be deemed necessary and proper, in aid of State or municipal authorities, in guard against the introduction of choler. into ports of the United States, and also to empower the military and naval com-manders in ports and places in States which have been or may be in insurrection, to enforce such quarantine regulations as may be necessary for the purpose of guardin against the introduction of cholera or ye! low fever, and to provide for the proper care and treatment of patients, and appropriatin. for these purposes such amounts as may b necessary.

The joint resolution was passed. Mr. Washburne (Ill.) stated that a repor on the subject of nitro-glycerine would be made from the Committee on Commerce

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill to reorganize and establish the army of the United States, the question being on an amendment offered by Mr. Thayer (Pa.) to the sixteenth section, in reference to the Quartermaster's Department. This gave rise to considerable de bate, participated in principally by Messrs. Schenck and Thayer.

The first question was an amendment offered by Mr. Schenck to the substitute, which was agreed to. The question recurred on the substitute as amended, and it was rejected—yeas, 45; nays, 70; which left the section standing as reported from the Committee on Military Affairs, and amended by the House as follows:

follows: Sec. 16. And be it further enacted, That the Quartermaster's Department of the army shall hereafter consist of one quarter master general, with the rank, pay and emoluments of a brigadier general; six quartermasters, with the rank, pay and emoluments of colonels of cavalry; ten quartermasters, with the rank, pay and emoluments of lieutenants colonels of cavalry; fifteen quartermasters with the rank. alry; fifteen quartermasters, with the rank pay or emoluments of majors of cavair, forty-four quartermasters, with the rank pay and emoluments of captains of cavalry; and at least two thirds of all original vacancies in each of the grades of lieutenant colonel and 'major, and all original vacancies in the grades of such that the grades of such cles in the grade of captain shall be filled by selection from among those persons who have rendered meritorious service as assistant quartermasters of volunteers in the army of the United States in the late war; but after the first appointments made under the provisions of this section, as vacancies may occur in the grades of major and captains in this Department, no appointment to fill the same shall be made until the number of majors shall be reduced to twelve, and the number of captains to thirty; and thereafter the number of officers in each of the said grades shall continue to conform to said grades shall continue to conform to said reduced numbers. But nothing in this section shall be construed so as to vacate the commission of any officer now commissioned either as assistant quartermaster general, or as deputy quartermaster general. ral, or assistant quartermaster, but only to charge the title to quartermaster, in the case of those who rank as colonels, lieutenant colonels, majors, and captains, without affecting in any way their relative posttion, or the time from which they take such

And be it further enacted, That the provisions of the act for the better organization of the Quartermaster's Department, approved July 4, 1864, shall continuate for the continuation of the Continuat in force so far as they do not become abs lute and unnecessary upon the disbandment of volunteer forces. The nineteenth section, which refers to tile

Subsistence Department, being under consideration. Mr. Woodbridge moved to amend by substituting for it the corresponding section in the Senate bill, and spoke in support of his amendment. He took occasion, in the course of his remarks, to defend the Military Academy at West Point from the imputation of having been a nursery for treason.

Mr. Schenck (Ohio) disclaimed the idea of reflecting on West Point. The committee meant simply this. That after the Government had educated a man four years at West Point, and made him skillful in engineering gineering and gunnery, and general tactice should not set to work inspecting biscuit and making contracts for beef.

Mr. Niblack stated that the indications were that it was not the intention of the House to pass this bill at the present time. If that were so, the House was but losing time in considering the bill section by section. With a view of testing the sense of the House, he moved to postpone the fur-ther consideration of the bill until the first Monday in December next. Mr. Schenck rose to oppose the motion, but yielded to a motion to adjourn.

Mr. Farnsworth offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President to communicate to the House the report of General Smith and James T. Brady of their investigations at New Orleans.

The Speaker presented a message from the President, in answer to a resolution of the House of the 2d instant, transmitting report of the Secretary of War, respecting the collection of the remains of officers and soldiers killed and buried on the various battle fields about Atlanta Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.
