Gentlemen who usually have their clothing made t valure, can be as well or better fitted from our stock measure, in a second in every respect, at from 25 to 50 per cent. lower prices. Those who prefer can have their goods made to measure in the best manner, with a fine assort ment of price goods to select from.

TO CLOTHING DEALERS. Our purchases for this season having been delayed spatting the expected decline in goods, we have now on hand the largest and best assorted stock of Colhingin Philadelphia, purchased for CASH EXCLUSIVELY, AT THE VERY LOWEST BATES OF THE SEASON, which THE VERY LOWEST RATES OF THE BRANCH, WHEN-enables us to realize a fair profit and sell at prices less than the cost of same goods in most other establishments. we can supply Clothiers doing a fine city trade with goods adopted to their sales, at prices so much lower than the cost of their present stocks, that, by making an average of the whole, they will be enabled to dispose of their goods at prices covering the average cost, and even BENNET1 & OO., TOWER HALL, paying a profit.

been admitted by the House of Reprebill had previously passed the Senate. so that only the President's signature is needed to make it a law. Mr. Sumner, Mr. Stevens and others of the ultra radicals have opposed it, because the State Constitution limits the right of suffrage to white male citizens above the age of twenty-one. But as the same limitation exists in the constitution of Pennsylvania, where there are many thousands of colored men, a large number of whom are intelligent, educated, rich, and large payers of taxes, the objection was not fairly taken. We should reform our own State constitution, in this respect, before we object to the admission of Colorado, which probably has not a dozen colored male citizens, over 21 years of age, in its whole population. It has been intimated that the President would veto the Colorado bill, because its passage will strengthen the Republican vote in the Senate. But as he has heretofore favored the admission of the young State, and as its constitution conforms to his views in regard to negro suffrage, we do not see how he can, with any consistency, withhold his signature from the bill.

The people of Colorado have a right to claim a place in the Union as a State. The territorial system is inadequate to the development of the wealth that they possess. Besides, it always favors political speculators and intriguers, and in this particular case, there have been scandals connected with it that can only be checked by an entire change. A State Government, with officers elected by the people, and representatives in each house of Congress, will relieve the people in many ways. An executive chosen by the people and responsible to them for the proper performance of his duties, is of great importance to every community, but especially so to a community occupying a region so abounding in rapidly-developing wealth as Colorado. Emigration from the other States will be stimulated by the changed political condition, and there will be still greater investments of Eastern capital in the mining and other enterprises of the region. This will re-act favorably upon the whole country, and we therefore hope that the President will approve the bill for the admission of Colorado without delay.

MILES O'REILLY.

Colonel Halpine, who has made himself widely known under his soubriquet of "Miles O'Reilly," edits a paper in New York, called the Citizen. Being an Irishman, as we believe he is. we are of course, prepared for a certain amount of Hibernic sm in his pro uctions." But we confess to have been somewhat taken aback by the size of the Colonel Halpine's theory of reconstruction presents two original points, as every properly-horned bull should. His first idea is that loyalty is a mere accidental thing, and his second is that none but first-class rebels should be permitted to rule the South or be represented in Congress. These two propositions are distinctly laid down in the article referred to. He asserts that ninetenths of the loyal soldiers of the Union would have fought as hard against the flag as they did for it, if they had happened to be at the South instead of at the North, Of course Colonel Halpine has a perfect right to speak for himself, and so far he is probably quite right, but he cannot go very much farther without flinging the grossest insult into the face of the real soldiers of the Republic. We admit that the corrupting and demoralizing influences of the South, under Slavery, were tremendous. We know how they sapped the foundations of honor, truthfulness, and all morality, political and personal; but it would have needed generations of residence, even under these pernicious influences, to have destroyed that passionate, religious love of country and flag, which Colonel

Halpine holds so cheap. The other idea of this excellent Irishman is equally Irish, only more so. Descended, as all true Irishmen are, from an illustrious line of Kings, the O'Reilly scoffs with exquisite scorn at the "whitelivered caitiffs" who refused to be rebels, even in the company of such "wealthy and well-born gentlemen" as Lee and Semmes and Wigfall. The aristocratic blood of the O'Reillys revolts at such a "lying, eraven, passionless, povertystricken scum of wretched renegades" as those who insisted upon being loyal when all around them were traitors and rebels. A district of ex-rebels which would send John Minor Botts to Congress in preference to Robert E. Lee. would deserve, Miles O'Reilly being judge, "the scorn and infamy of the world."

Colonel Halpine is not exactly respectful, in all this rigmarole of his, to some of our rather distinguished men. If President Johnson reads the Citizen,and who can doubt that he does?-he will not be over-pleased with this wholesale abuse of the class at the South, of which he is so proud to be called the head and front. We doubt if such a string of epithets were ever bestowed on him before, or that when he refused to go with those "wealthy and well-born" gentlemen of the Senate into their treason, he knew what an offence he would one day become, in the patrician eyes of Miles O'Reilly. As the old song says:

"But this is quite natural to an Irishman's so On the other hand, we are afraid that Colonel Halpine has seriously wounded the feelings of some of those "well-born gentlemen," whom he so much affects. who, by the "accidents of birth and residence" ought to have been rebels, but A thirty-seventh State was added to failed to disabuse their minds of their the Union yesterday, Colorado having old-fashioned prejudices in favor of the an nath of allegian sanctity of sentatives, by a vote of 80 to 55. The Thomas, Pope, Anderson, Farragut, Dupont, Lee, Goldsborough, Drayton, Winslow, Turner, Steedman, Middleton and their noble comrades, must pardon the enthuciastic defamer of their loyalty. He is an Irishman and a poet, and the descendant of many kings. We do not know that Col. Halpine's opinions are of any very special value, but as he has received one ovation from loyal Philadelphia, apparently under somewhat false pretences, we have thought it as well to give our friends some idea of the sort of loyalty which passes current enough in New York, but does not suit the purer atmosphere of Philadelphia.

AN UNSOCKETED COUNTRY. The Hon. Alexander H. Stephens. late Vice President of the rebel Confederacy, has recently paid a visit to Augusta, Georgia. According to the Constitutionalist, published in that city-"Mr. Stephens very aptly compares the present condition of the country to an over-thrown Hercules, prostrated by the unsocketing of his whole osseous system. Put back the gigantic limbs in their normal places and the prone Titan will erect him-self at once. The great danger now is, that this disjointing of the physical economy will so shock the nervous government as to produce a species of political tetanus. All good men and true must labor to re-place what has become so terribly un-hinged."

hinged." We would like to know how this resocketing process is to be accomplished. Isit to be achieved by restoring slavery and the Fugitive Slave Law? Is it by restoring Jefferson Davis to his place in the United States Senate, or by soothing the nerves of the "stern statesman" by appointing him Secretary of War, in place of Mr. Stanton? Is it by abolishing the Freedmen's Bureau, and giving the black men of the South into the hands of their late masters? Or, in truth, how ARE we to avoid the political tetanus or lock jaw? So far, both Presidentially and Congressionally, there has been a grand war of words, and no sign of lock-jawat all; but as Mr. Stephens thinks we are in danger of it, let us have his panacea at once, or the consequences may be appalling in the extreme. The "overthrown Hercules" may remain unsocketed forever, with a lockjaw added to his other osseous afflictions.

DEATH OF A JOURNALIST. - We announce with profound regret the death of Mr. George C. Bower, Jr., of heart disease. He was the eldest son of Mr. G C. Bower, the well-known druggist, and his death took place this morning, after a very brief illness. Mr. Bower was for the past ten years and up till within a short time con. nected with the press of this city as reporter and correspondent, and he was one of the most active members of the profession. During the war he was connected with the BULLETIN, the Inquirer, the Press and with one of the journals in Washington bull which he exhibits in one of his City, and his contributions were quite recent articles on Southern affairs. valuable. He was, during McClellan's

Chickshominy campaign, wounded in the knee, while in his energetic course of reporting a battle. Within the past few months he had devoted himself to the study of telegraphy, and intended very shortly to take charge of an office in this city. His sudden death will be a shock to his old comrades of the newspaper profession, and his bereaved relatives have their heartfelt sympathies. His age was about thirty years. A meeting of the Press Club will be held at 4 o'clock, to-morrow afternoon, to take action in reference to the death of Mr.
