Oneida County fair at Utica. They up a prize for the fastest runner. In those days (this was before the onerous tax on whisky) Lused-to indulge occasionally in that cup which makes us cheer and be an inebriate, as Cowper has it. In a playful moment I asked the boys to get me tight and have fun with me, and they took me at my word. The bar-keepér assisted them by putting li-quor in my gin-cocktail, while my back was turned, adding alcoholic stimulant to my whisky, and pouring decoctions of malt into my beer. I have since sus-pected that tobacco was mingled with my eigars, but on that point I am not quite clear.

Although it exhausted the contents of nearly every bar on the ground to do it, yet I got "full," and the fumes of the liquor arose from my stomach to my brain as from an immense caldron, causing me to behave in the most ridiculous and insane manner. I felt as etherial as a sylph, and actually went through with a flip-flap, landing on my back. I attempted to throw a back summersault through a balloon, resulting in the total annihilation of a confectionery stand, into which I dove head first; I ruthlessly seized the "Int Woman" in her tent, and spun her round in a waltz until she shrieked. I offered to permit the "Living Skeleton" to hold me out at arm's length, sitting on his palm. My absurdities drew a crowd of delighted spectators, and when it was suggested to me that I should compete for the prize at the foot race, fool that I was, I eagerly jumped at the offer. No Athenian athlete ever entered the area amid such tumultuous applause as greefed my appearance upon the course, pealed for the race. Talk about the Grecian games; they afforded no such game as I did that day. There I stood among the other contestants, pants se-cured around the waist with several pairs of borrowed suspenders (my own were insufficient to go around) shirt collar unbuttoned, and bald head shining in the sun like a polished snuff bladder, or a ten cent watermelon.

The crowd jeered and yelled. One advised me to lie down and roll around the course. Another said if I couldn't run around I had better black my face and try a "walk around." I think he was a minstrel.

"You run a foot race?" said a butcher, derisively, taking in my size and and flatness, with a professional eye, "there is only one thing you are fit to run." "What is that?" said I.

"Run candles!"

Frenzied by the insult and the yell of laughter which went up from the crowd, I rushed at my tormenter, who turned and fied. As I pursued him; devasta-tion followed upon my track. I overturned threshing machines, got entangled among cultivators, upset bee hives, crumbled patent fences like glass, in getting over thom, dashed through the floral department, amid the shricks of the women, os flower pots were top-pling to the ground, and finally, in my blind frenzy, stumbled headlong into a vat of crude petroleum. A huge dredging machine, for use in our harbors being on the grounds, was brought into requisition and I was scooped up and left in the air to dream. If I had had any itching to be "in oil before, that ex-perience satisfied me. Thus ended my first and last foot race. Yours racily.
