The Bank of England-Its Charter and the British Government,

For the third time in the twenty-two years' history of the Peel Act of 1844, the Bank of England has been compelled to ask of the Government a suspension of its terms of incorporation. For the third time the Ministers of the Crown have interposed to Friday, the 11th inst., the Bank had not the wherewithal to continue its payments to de-positors, its reserve of notes being so re-duced that, without an intimation from the Government of relief it could not have gone on with its business another day. On such an intimation it did proceed with its dis-counts and payments so close to the point of entire exhaustion that the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced in the House of Commons at midnight on Friday, that the Government had authorized an overvises of Government had authorized an over-issue of notes, and would ask of Parliament the pas-sage of a bill of indemnity for this yiolation of the Peel Act of 1844. This, in brief, is the suspension of the Bank of England as announced in the news of yesterday morning by the steamer Cuba. Our English friends in New York, or some of them, at least, say the bank has not suspended specie payments. Technically, they are right; but practically the bank on Friday had neither specie nor its once secured notes to continue business, twentyfour hours longer. Practically, it was in imminent peril of suspension in its worst phase; for its gold being locked up in the Issue Department, together with £15,000,000 of public stocks for the security of its notes, and its notes being exhausted, the great establishment was at a dead-lock, as it had been on two similar occasions before, in 1847 and 1857. Who Deal Asta theritoria the 1847 and 1857. The Peel Act authorized the employment of only £14,000,000 of public stocks, in addition to the gold, in the Issue Department, but as the same act authori-zed £8,000,000 circulation by the provincial zed £8,000,000 circulation by the provincial banks of England, without the sixty miles circuit of London, and these banks subse-quently surrendered £1,000,000 of this pri-vilege, the one million was transferred by Government to the Bank of England. From the great peril of Friday, May 11th, the bank was rescued by the Ministers of the Crown, by authorizing a suspension of the Peel Act, and an increased issue of notes. The relief to be sure was not to the bank alone, but to the whole financial and bank alone, but to the whole financial and trading public. It was absolutely and instantly imperative. It could not be delayed even for the brief forms of a bill of indemnity to be passed through the two Houses of Parliament. The suspension took place on the advice and assurance of Her Majesty's First Lord of the Treasury, Earl Russell, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Glad-stone, that it should not work a forfeiture of charter.

It always appeared strange to us that the governing power of the English system of banking should have persevered in attemptpanking should have persevered in attempt-ing to maintain the exact proportions of the original Peel Act of 1844, which they have now three times failed to keep inviolate. The trade of the Kingdom has been trebled since 1844. The great stimulants to this in-crease, and indeed to the increase of the commerce of the world, were unknownin 1844, and almost unheard of by Sir Robert Peel when he was removed by death in 1850 Peel when he was removed by death in 1850 -we mean the extraordinary gold discove-ries in California in 1848-50, and in Australia nest in Cambring in 1845-30, and in Australia in 1851-2. The principle of his Bank Act, was, perhaps, the best for the time. He be-lieved that £14,000,000 of notes, based on public stocks, in addition to the notes secured by the gold in the Issue Depart-ment (and which cannot be used to pay de-posite except by the absolute canceltion posits, except by the absolute cancelation of a corresponding amount of notes,) were sufficient for the paper currency of the great establishment, but there is no reason to suppose that had he lived ten or fiftee years longer, or even five years longer, he would have insisted upon the same arbi trary basis, without reference to the rapid and enormous growth of trade. He had already seen the Bank Act once suspended in the famine crisis of 1847, and could not have been a believer in its infallibility, as many of his successors in the administraappear to have been even after the second suspension of 1857.-The old expedients adopted in this case by Mr. Gladstone of, provisionally, allowing the temporary addition of £5,000,000 or £10,000,000 to the circulation of the Bank, has probably by this time brought relief, if not commercial ease. And the effect will be, or certainly ought to be, a revision and permanent enlargement of the celebrated Peel Bank Act of 1844. N. Y. Times.

A Lucky Hatmaker. The Russian peasant who saved the life of the Czar is a signal instance of the embar-RISLEY'S CONTINENTAL NEWS, EXCHANGE the CZar is a signal instance of the emotion-rassing position of a man upon whom ho-nors are thrust. It appears that he is wholly uneducated, and therefore unfit for the cultivated society into which his lot is now cast through the gratitude of Alexad-der. Gen. Todleben, the defender of Sebastopol, has undertaken the task of imparting the needed instruction.

Thename of this lucky person is the terri-ble one of Joseph Kommissaroff Kostromski. His patent of nobility has been pub-lished, and a correspondent writes of him that "he is absolutely a martyr to public feeling, and has no doubt many a time wished himself back at hat-making. Not content with giving him ovations at thea-tres, poor Kommissaroff has had to eat and drink with all sorts and conditions of men from the artizan to the prince. At a dinner given by the nobles of St. Petersburg to the deputies from Moscow and other places, who have come with addresses to the Em-peror, Kommissaroff sat next to Count Orloff Davpdoff, who was in the chair. There was the unfortunate Kommissaroff going through his second dinner that day, dressed for the first time in the stuffy uniform of a nobleman, and wiping his hon-est, hot face with the trusty right hand that shoved Karakosoff's elbow. His bealth was drunk amidst cheers that might be compared to the roar of artillery, and he returned thanks in words that did not reach either his neighbors or the report-ers, on account of the enthusiastic uproar ers, on account of the enhanced. How Mrs. which his presence created. How Mrs. Kommissaroff passes her time is not so well known, for her husband's popularity is but little reflected on her. She appears, how-ever, by his side in a photograph which meets with an immense sale in the streets of the capital. But of course she will come in for some of the good things that are lavished on her husband. Moscow sends bim a gold sword of honor, the Emperor gives him a pension, the inhabitants of St. Petersburg a house, and the nobles of every province are soliciting the honor of inscrib ing his name in their genealogical registers. The Emperor of Austria has sent him the Commander's Cross of the Franz Joseph Order.

Terrific Tornado at Honesdale, Pa.

HONESDALE, Pa., May 28 .- A terrific tor nado swept over the lower portion of this borough last evening. The immense cov-ered bridge, spanning the Lackawanna river at Sixth street, was lifted a distance of six feet in the air and fell into the river. It is a mass of ruins.

A boy who had just crossed the bridge was carried some fifty feet up the river. Several barns, outhouses, &c., were demolished Trees and sticks of timber filled the air, fly ing like shingles. The course of the tornado was from west to east. It then turned and went south, and veering again finally took a northeasterly course. No lives were lost. The thermometer indicates seventy degrees.

NASHVILLE, May 28.—The case of Isham Henderson was resumed to-day. The de-fence introduced forty-three depositions of prominent citizens of Wheeling, Virginia, as to the reputation for truth and veracity of William McKay Hoge. Thirty-two of the deponents greed that his reputation was bad, and nearly all testified they they would not believe him under oath. Eleven testified that his reputation was that of a felon.

The Tennessee Legislature has adjourned until November 8th.

Several wealthy families have arrived in this city, on the steamer Continental, who fied from the Liberal rule.

The published accounts say that at the sack of Hermillo, the Liberals murdered thirty-five foreigners and five hundred citi-zens, who helped to defend the town. A strong division of Imperialists started from Mazatlan, on the 17th instant, in pursuit of Corona.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26 .- A letter from Hermillo, corroborates the account of the atrocities which the Liberals committed at that place, and states that stores were ranthat place, and states that stores were ran-sacked, the rich inhabitants laid under con-tribution, all who could not pay murdered and all women violated. The question of republican or monarchial principles was entirely set aside, and the whole population of Sonora were rising to revenge the cruel-ties of the Liberate ties of the Liberals.

INDIAN DIFFICULTIES IN ARIZONA.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a communication from Superinten-dent Leihey, from La Pas, Arizona, dated April 12th, in which information is given of an outbreak between the whites and a party of the Hualapois, which originated on the 6th ult., at a place called "The Willows" on the rand from Fort Mofere to Prospet on the road from Fort Mofare to Prescott.

A party of five white men, who were on a prospecting tour, had made their camp there, and whilst four of them were absent the Indians killed the white man in camp, and burned the cabin, As soon as this be-came known at Hardyville, a settlement seven miles above Fort Mofare, a party of armed citizens immediately went out and killed in all nine Indians—among the num-ber the Chief of the Hualapois—and several.

women and children. Superintendent Leihey thinks it by no means improbable that an alliance will be formed between the Hualapois and Chinnebenoss against the whites, and says if such proves to be the case, the condition of the white settlers on the river will be very pre-carious, owing to the insufficiency of troops stationed in that portion of the territory. He also remarks in his communication that the only safety for life and memory or the the only safety for life and property on the river is the establishment of the Indians on reservations, in order to accomplish which the presence of troops will be actually necessary.

MEDICAL STATISTICS OF THE WAB.—The Secretary of War, in compliance with a re-solution of the Senate, calling for a compen-dium of medical statistics collected during the war, states, on the authority of the Surgeon General, that the records of many of the hospitals have not been received, and that the tabulation of those at hand is not complete, and that any compendium of the medical statistics of the war, at this time, must necessarily be based upon partial data, and hence be unreliable and valueless.
