On motion of Mr. Morrill, a proviso was Under an agreement made on Saturday, Mr. Farnsworth was permitted to offer as an amendment an additional section as follows: That all assessors collectors and revenue agents provided for by this act, or the several acts to which it is amendatory shall be appointed by the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate; and the advice and consent of the Senate shall be given before any such officer shall be removed from office, unless such emoval shall be for malfeasance in office during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Williams, under a similar arrangement to that made with Mr. Farnsworth; submitted an amendment to the 65 section, giving the appointment of the Special Com-missioner of the Revenue to the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, instead of the Secretary of the

were added to the free list.

The amendment to reduce the tax on smoking tobacco of all kinds, not sweetened nor stemmed, nor butted, from twenty cents to ten cents per pound was rejected— yeas 54, nays 67; so the tax remains at twenty cents.
Mr. Schenck's amendment, in reference to cigarettes or small cigars made of tobacco, graduating the tax according to the market value, as follows: No. 1, over eight dol-lars per thousand, a tax of two dollars per thousand: over eight and not over twelve. a tax of four dollars; on all other cigarettes and cigars a tax of four dollars and forty per cent. ad valorem to be assessed on the excess beyond twelve dollars per thousand

The Presbyterian O.S. Assembly. St. Louis, May 28.—The appeal and com-plaints of Robert J. Breckinridge and others against the Synod of Kentucky, have been before the Old School Assembly to-day. But little progress was made, the time being mainly occupied in deciding who are the real parties in the case, an effort having been made to couple the complaint of Mr. McMillen against the same Synod with that of Mr. Breckinridge. It was finally determined that Mr. Breckinridge and his associates were the proper complainants, and the Synod of Kentucky the defendants. Mr. Breckinridge made a strong speech against this decision, he wishing to reach the Presbytery and signers of the declaration by testimony, and not cut them off by resolution. He objected to taking back all these rebels. The following are the names of those appointed by the Assemblies on the Reunion Committee:

The Freedmen's Bureau. A mass of documents were sent to the House yesterday in relation to the Freed-men's affairs, including a letter from As-sistant Commissioner Scott, dated Charlesten, S. C., May 21, in which he states to Major General Howard that he had just returned from accompanying Gens. Stead-man and Fullerton on their inspection of the Sea Islands. Although a careful in-vestigation was made, no flaw, he remarks, could be found in his management of the Sea Island question, or any other affairs of the Bureau in South Carolina. It gives him much pleasure to state that the planters came forward and upheld his policy throughout, and "were panic-stricken at the very idea of the removal of the Bureau." The Assistant Commissioner for North Carolina says the number of destitute freed-men dependent on the Government has been gradually reduced, and it is hoped that by the end of another cuarter the ne-cessity for the gratuitous issue of rations and clothing will have ceased entirely. The demand for labor continues unabated, and is far greater than the supply. Many planters in the Southern States have applied to him for help, and some have applied to him for help, and some have engaged parties in North Carolina to return with them. The inquiry is no longer heard, "What can be done with the negroes?" but

FORTRESS MONROE, May 28.—Messrs.
O'Connor and Shea left this evening for New York, having been in close consultation with Jefferson Davis most of yesterday and to-day. They found him in better health than anticipated. Though somewhat worn from his long confinement, he was still in possession of his keenest faculties, and alive to the importance and engrossing nature of the long invalved in his arrounded tiple.
