SENATE.-At one o'clock Mr. Howard called up the reconstruction resolutions, the question being on amendments offered yesterday.

The first question was on the following amendment submitted by Mr. Howard: Insert at the beginning of the first section the words "All persons born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside."

Mr. Doolittle moved to insert after the word "thereof" the words "excluding Indians not taxed." Mr. Howard hoped that amendment would not be adopted. Indians born with-in the United States who retain their tribal relations were not in law citizens.

Mr. Cowan asked Mr. Howard for a definition of the phrase "citizens of the United States." Is the child of a Chinese immigrant in California a citizen? Is the child of a gipsy born in Pennsylvania a citizen? He (Mr. Cowan) contended for the right of each State to say who shall be its citizens. State to say who shall be its citizens.

Mr. Conness (Cal.) spoke in favor of Mr.

Howard's amendment. The progeny of Mongolians in California was very small in number, and the proposed amendment would but very slightly affect the citizenship of California.

Mr. Doolittle explaned the necessity of his amendment to exclude from citizenship tribal Indians. Citizenship carried with it the rights, duties and immunities of a citi-zen, and these ought not to be conferred zen, and these ought not to be conterred upon Indians.

Mr. Trumbull said the pending amendment of Mr. Howard did not include Indians living in tribes, who were not subject to the complete jurisdiction of the "United States. He did not believe the insertion of the words revoced by Mr. Doclittle would the words proposed by Mr. Doolittle would make the proposition any clearer.

Mr. Johnson said the Senate was well mr. Johnson said the Senate was well aware that very serious questions had arisen, and some of them had given rise to much embarrassment as to who are citizens of the United States, and what are the rights which belong to them as such, and the object of Mr. Howard's amendment was to settle that question. He thought therefore, that the committee to whom the subject was referred, and by whom the report had been made, had acted very wisely in defining what citizenship was. He knew of no better way of accomplishing that than the one adopted by the committee. There was no definition in the Constitution, as it now stands, as to what constitutes a citizen of the United States. That was an open question in that instrument. The courts had decided that any man who is a citizen of a State becomes, ipso facto, a citizen of the United States; but there was no provision at all as to how citizenship can exist, except through the mediumship of the citizenship of a State. Al that the committee's amendment provided was that all persons born in the United States, not subject to some foreign Power, shall be considered citizens of the United States. That would seem not only a wise but a necessary provision. There should be some definition of what citizenship is. Mr. Johnson next passed to the amendment of Mr. Doolittle, and expressed himself in favor of it. He hoped the friends of the joint resolution would adopt it.

Mr. Trumbull (III.) was unwilling to adopt a proposition that recognized taxation as a basis of citizenship. It would not be just to admit rich Indians to citizenship and exclude poor ones.

Mr. Hendricks (Mo.) supported the amendment of Mr. Doolittle. Mr. Howard (Mich.) said the great objection to Mr. Doolittle's amendment was that its effect would be to naturalize all Indians who paid taxes. He believed with Mr. Trumbull, that the Indians were foreign powers. They were treated with as such,

and were so regarded by the Constitution, which conferred the power to treat not only with foreign nations but with Indian tribes.

Mr. Doolittle said the words proposed in his amendment were in the civil rights bill. in a provision similar to that which was now proposed as a constitutional amendment. The civil rights bill undertook to do this same thing which is now proposed here in declaring who shall be citizens. The com-mittee of fifteen fearing that this declaration by Congress was without validity unless a constitutional amendmentshould be brought forward to enforce it, thought proper to repeat this amendment. Mr. Fessenden (Me.)—I desire to say that in all the Senator says on this subject in connection with the committee of fifteen, he is drawing upon his imagination. There is not one word of correctness in all he says.

Mr. Doolittle said he would take issue with Mr. Fessenden on that point as a ques-

Mr. Grimes (Iowa) said Mr. Doolittle's charge was not only an imputation upon the committee of fifteen, but was an imputation upon every Senator who voted for the civil rights bill. It was an imputation that they had voted for a bill which they believed unconstitutional.

Mr. Doolittle (Wis.) said he meant no such imputation. He meant to say that there were doubts as to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill.

Mr. Fessenden (Me.) said no such doubts in regard to the civil rights bill were ever expressed in the committee of fifteen. During all the discussions in the committee, the subject was not mentioned.

Mr. Doolittle-Well, if there are no doubts as to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, what is the necessity for putting one of its provisions into a constitutional amendment?
Mr. Fessenden—That question the Senator may answer for himself.

Mr. Howard (Mich.) said it was desired to put this question of citizenship beyond the legislative power of such gentlemen as the Senator from Wisconsin. He would pull the system up by the roots and destroy it, and expose the freedmen again to the op-pressions of their old masters.

Mr. Doolittle (Wis.) said he was willing to compare his record on the subject of freedmen and slavery with that of Mr.

After some remarks from Mr. Saulsbury, the yeas and nays were demanded on the adoption of Mr. Doolittle's amendment to insert the words, "excepting Indians not Disagreed to—yeas 10, nays 30, as follows: YEAS—Buckalew, Cowan, Davis, Doolittle, Guthrie, Hendricks, Johnson, McDougall, Guthrie, Hendricks, Johnson, McDougall, Norton, Riddle.

NAYS—Anthony, Clark, Conness, Gragin, Creswell, Edmunds, Fessenden, Foster, Grimes, Harris, Henderson, Howard, Howe, Kirkwood, Lane (Kan.), Morgan, Morrill, Nye, Poland, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Stewart, Sumner, Trumoull, Van Winkle, Wade, Willey, Williams, Wilson.

A message was received from the President of the United States, communicating information of the death of Gen. Scott. It was read, and was read, and

Mr. Wilson (Mass.) offered a concurrent resolution, that the Military Committee of the two Houses constitute a joint committee to take into consideration the message of the President, announcing Gen. Sci death, and report what steps should be taken by Congress to express its apprecia-tion of the character and public services of the late Lieutenant-General.

Certain verbal amendments to the second section, as proposed by Mr. Howard yester-day, were concurred in. The question then was upon the adoption of the following as a substitute for the third section of the House resolution:

No person shall be a Senator or Represen tative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office, civil officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall ave engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove uch liability. Mr. Hendricks (Mo.) moved to amend the above by inserting the word "shall," and before the words "have engaged" the words 'during the term of his office.' Mr. Hendricks, in advocacy of his amendment, said that official oaths were binding only during the term of office.

Mr. Guthrie (Ky.) said that he was opposed to the section above quoted, because of its proscriptive character, and he would vote for the amendment of Mr. Hendricks hecause it makes it less proscriptive.

Mr. Johnson (Md.) spoke in favor of the amendment of Mr. Hendricks. Mr. Sherman (Ohio) inquired of Mr. Hen-dricks whether his amendment would have the effect of excluding men who resigned positions under the Government to take positions under the rebels? General Lee, for instance, who resigned his commission in the army.

Mr. Hendricks said it would, that a resignation was not the expiration of a term of

Mr. Sherman (Ohio) believed that under Mr. Hendricks' amendment, all who resigned their offices would be relieved from the operations of the third section. Mr. Hendricks called for the year and nays on the adoption of his amendment. Disagreed to—yeas 8, nays 34.

Those who voted in the affirmative were Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Guthrie, Hendricks, Johnson, Riddle, Saulsbury and Van Winkle.

Mr. Johnson moved to amend the section by striking out the words "or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State."

The yeas and nays were demanded on the above. Disagreed to—yeas 10, nays 32.

Mr. Johnson moved to strike out the words "having previously taken," and insert the words "at any time within ten years preceding the first of January, 1861, had taken."

The yeas and nays were demanded. Disagreed to—yeas 16, nays 33.
Mr.Van Winkle inquired if the last clause of the section referred to a general removal of disability, or to removal of disability in individual cases?

Mr. Howard said it might be applied either in general or individual instances. It was intended to leave a discretionary power with Congress.

Mr. Saulsbury (Del.) moved to amend by inserting after the words "each House," in the last line, the words, "and the President may, by the exercise of the pardoning power." The yeas and navs were demanded. Disagreed to—yeas 10, nays 32.

Mr. Doolittle addressed the Senate in opposition to the pending section.
The Senate at 5 o'clock, P. M., adjourned.

House.—The House resumed the consideration of the bill to provide for restoring to the States lately in insurrection their full political rights.

Mr. Bromwell (Ill.) addressed the House. He supported thoroughly and completely the report of the Reconstruction Committee. The measures were not, perhaps, all that he or any one desired, but they were a series of measures which he thought would materially aid in securing the largest attainable liberty to all the people of the country.

On motion of Mr. Schenck, the further consideration of the subject was postponed until next Monday.

The House then proceeded to the conside-The House then proceeded to the consideration of the next special order, being the bill reported by Mr. Schenck, from the Committee on Mililary Affairs, to reduce and establish the pay of officers, and regulate the pay of soldiers of the army of the United States.

Mr. Schenck (Ohio) detailed at length the phiests of the bill and the apparations of the objects of the bill, and the operations of the present cumbrous and roundabout mode of calculating the pay and allowances of offi-cers. He indicated several ameadments which he desired to offer to the bill. These were to make the pay of a general fifteen thousand dollars, and of a lieutenant general ten thousand dollars; to allow to officers, in lieu of the present longevity ration, ten per cent. additional for every five years of continuous and faithful service. The amendments were incorporated in the bill. Mr. Blaine (Me.) exposed the inequality of abolishing commutation of rations, instancing the cost of living at Fort Bridger, where the Government had contracted for wood at fifty dollars a cord; for corn at twelve dollars a bushel, and for flour at seventy-five dollars a barrel, and where, he said, a brigadier-general could not support two horses and two children on his pay of $5,500. Officers on the Utah expedition could not have lived on double their pay, if they had not been allowed commutation of

Mr. Farquar inquired whether the diffi-

Mr. Farquar inquired whether the diffi-culty could not be obviated by allowing ra-tions instead at distant posts.

Mr. Garfield (Ohio) admitted that that would make a great difference, but there was no such provision in the bill.

Mr. Thayer (Pa.) opposed the bill. He held it to be manifest that in this country, covering such a vast extent of territory, the expenses of living must differ widely in expenses of living must differ widely in different parts of the country, and that inequality had been always remedied here and in other countries by making the Government the purchaser of the necessaries of life and furnishing them to officers and men as a part of their pay. The abolition of that system would work the grossest inequality, and common sense and common justice were against the proposed change.

The Speaker interrupted Mr. Thayer to present messages from the President and the Senate in reference to the death of Lieu-the Senate in reference to the death of Lieutenant General Scott, when

Mr. Schenck expressed the hope that no other business would be done by the House to-day, except to concur in the resolution of the Senate directing the two Committees on Military Affairs to report what method should be adopted by Congress to manifest its a preciation of the high character, tried patriotism, and distinguished public services of Lieutenant General Scott.

of Lieutenant General Scott. The resolution was concurred in, and then On motion of Mr. Schenck (Ohio), the House, in respect to the memory of General

Scott, adjourned. CALCUTTA.—The British authorities in Calcutta have just completed a census of the city. The whole population, including the suburbs, is one million souls. Excluding Hourah, the Surrey side, and all the great suburbs like Garden Reach, there are said to be 378,066 inhabitants, of whom 11,057 are Europeans and Americans, 10,950 Indo-Europeans, 33 Greeks, 722 Armenians, 408 Chinese, 113,365 Mussulmans, and 239, 380 Hindoos. Of these there are 100 children to 4751 adults, and 100 females to 159 males. All live in 15,976 brick houses and 42,917 reliable Deodorizer and Disinfectant, slways ready for use, and not liable to any change, equally valuable in the sick room and in the foul sink, it has, in my opinion, no equal. opinion, no equal.

This opinion is concurred in by Drs. Militaberger, Johnson, Chew, McSherry, Butler, and Dr. Van Biber, who made the report to the National Sanitary and Quarantine Convention of 1859, asys.

"It is the best deodorant of which I have any knowledge."

OPAL DENTALLINA.—A superior article for clean ing the Teeth, destroying animalcules which insets them, giving tone to the gums, and leaving a feeling of fragrance and perfect cleanliness in the mouth. It may be used daily, and will be found to strengthen weak and bleeding gums, while the aroma and detensiveness will recommend it to every one. Being composed with the assistance of the Dentist, Physician and Microscopist, it is confidently offered as a RELIA BLE substitute for the uncertain washes formerly in vogue. Eminent Dentists, acquainted with the constituents of the DENTALLINA, advocate its use; it contains nothing to prevent its unrestrained employment. Made only by
