LIFE'S PATHWAY.

My bark is on life's troubled sea, I care not where it goes; What matter life's wild storms to me? What matter where its close? The best of earth, its hopes and joys, Are dreamy, fading things, We wish, we sigh, we grasp some prize-It flies on magic wings, and the second second second

It is not that I hate the world, TOr it hath hated me; It is not that no Eye hath smiled. To light my weary way; 'Tis not because whate'er I loved, That death has loved it too; No. 'tis not this that makes me sad And careless where I go.

I've madly loved, yet all in vain; Still madly, still unblest, I love, and nurse the growing pain That burns within my breast. My heart must weep, it will not break-My soul must writhe and bear-And none shall know the inward ache. By word, or sign, or tear.

Unloved I came, unloved I go; What is there left for me? What bitterness is yet to know. When gone for aye from thee? When driven down life's dark abyss, And death is hanging o'er. I will not wish I'd loved the less. But thou hadst loved me more.

[Special Correspondence Cincinnati Times.] THE FENIAN WAB!

Our Correspondent "Finnegan," Again-Fenians and Cavalry Saddlers Concen-trating at Euffalo-Seizure of a Phila-delphia Vessel With Munitions of War -Skirmishers Thrown Out-The First Blood Shed-Terrific Engagement, &c.

BUFFALO, May 30th, 1866.—The war that or a space did fail, at length, after renewed and elaborate preparation, including the arrival of Head Centre Stephens from the Old Country and his reception at Jones' Woods, comes thundering on the gale, and a thundering old gale they are kicking up a thundering out gate may all aloning up too. Fenians are arriving on every train. Nearly every man of them is provided with a cavalry saddle. These saddles are de-signed to fit the backs of Canadian ponies. Fenians in disguise were in Canada last winter, measuring the ponies for the saddles. Preparations are being made to have the Preparations are being made to have the ponies shod at the Horse Shoe Falls, Great excitement was created early this morning by a report that skirmishers had been thrown out. I investigated at once, and ascertained that the report was correct; four skirmishers more the report was correct; four skirmishers were throw out of a saloon on Canal street.

A vessel that came into port to-day was seized by the authorities and searched upon suspicion that it has brought munitions and ammunitions of war to the Fenians, The supposition was correct. Theofficers found sixteen thousand rounds of ammunition and one small single barrel pistol. With a little repairing the pistol would do good service. There were also two pounds of soda crackers and seventy-five barrels of Robertson county whisky. It is expected that the blow will be struck at Niagara Falls. The noise which the Falls make in falling will prevent the noise of the blow being heard.

Yesterday a party of men, recognized as Fenians, because each one of them had a small cavalry saddle suspended around his small cavalry saddle suspended around his neck, attempted to invade Canada by way of the Suspension Bridge. They were gal-lantly charged on by the gate-keeper and repulsed—he charged them a quarter a piece -and they immediately retired in good order and practice of the art on equally satisfac-tory terms, and all was going on swim-mingly, when he made a condition which he insisted should be imperative, and which proved to be the rock upon which our bar-gain split and went to pieces. This condi-tion was, that I should not practice the art in Philadelphia. I might take my camera, my plates, and my mercury bath to towns in the-interior of the State, but I must give Phila-delphia a wide berth, for the reason, as

Interior of the State, but I must give Phila-delphia a wide berth, for the reason, as my daguerrectype friend-declared, that there was not business in the city for another 70"saloon," and he did not want to injure his own business. I was unwilling to leave the city, which was my home, and I was strengthened in my determination to throw up the bargain' by the advice of a judicious friend, who ex-pressed his confident belief that in the pressed his confident belief that in the course of a few months all the people who wanted daguerrectypes would be supplied, and then the trade would die out!

These are sober facts, strangely as they may read at the present day. This experi-ence is almost a match for that of the brother of Braining The Provide Strangely as they are also be also b of Benjamin Franklin, whose mother endeavored to dissuade him from starting a newspaper, as there was already one weekly paper published in-Massachusetts, and another journal would never be needed.

C. S., JB,

An Extraordinary Story of Crime. The Twenty-first Annual Report of the New York Prison Association, which has just been published, contains some extraor-dinary accounts of invelesness and crime in that State. in that State. The following statement is made:

There is a family in Oneida county who, There is a family in Oneida county who, according to common fame, have followed the profession of thieving for nearly twenty years. They have grown rich by their un-lawful practices. Their children are edulawini practices. Their children are edu-cated in the best and most expensive semi-naries. They dress genteelly, their man-ners are somewhat polished, and they ap-pear tolerably well in society. Their ope-ration are carried on through the counties of Oneida, Oswego, Otsego, Madison, Che-nango, Schoharie, Delaware and Sullivan. They have numerous well trained confede-rates in all those counties, who are ready rates in all those counties, who are ready by day or by night, at a moment's warning, to ride off in any direction for the sake of plunder, or for the concealment or protec-tion of associates who are in danger of fall-tion or associates who are in usinger of fair-ing into the meshes of the law. These men have been indicted times with-out number in the above-mentioned coun-tion of the second pair and the second pairs and the ties, but none of them have ever been con-victed, nor have any of them ever been in jail for a longer time than was sufficient for a bondsman to arrive at the prison. It is generally believed that there are farmers, apparently respectable, who belong to the gang and share in its profits. Whether this be so or not, it is certain that whenever bail is needed, any required number of substantial farmers will come forward and sign their bonds without regard to the amount of the penalty. These men, as might be supposed, exert a great political influence, and it is well understood that they are always ready to reward their friends and ways ready to reward their friends and punish their enemies, both in primary con-ventions and at the polls. Although, as we have said, they have been repeatedly in-dicted, yet the number of their indictments bears but a small ratio to the number of their depredations. It usually happens that their depredations. It usually nappens that any one who is particularly active in bring-ing any of the gang to justice has his barn or dwelling soon after burned, or his sheep or are missing from the stable, or his sheep or are missing from the stable, or his sheep or cattle from the pasture. These things have happened so often that people are careful how they intermeddle in the matter of seek-ing to bring them to justice. If a person so intermeddling happens to justice. If a person so intermeddling happens to have a mortgage on his property, it is apt to be very soon foreclosed. If he has political aspirations, thousands of unseen obstacles interpose to prevent the fulfilment of his hopes. If he is prevent the fulfilment of his hopes. If he is a trader his custom falls off. If he is a phy-sician, malpractice is imputed to him, or other malicious stories are circulated to his discredit; and at length matters come to each a pass that his out recomparise the pass

O'Mahony has taken luxuriant apartments at Fulton's International, prepared to observe the contest that seems inevitable. Contributions in money, early vegetables, preserved peaches, choice wines, &c., can be left with George Coleman, at the clerk's office, directed to O'M. I have been enabled to obtain the line of morab that will be taken by the obtain the line of march that will be taken by the advance column in attacking Canada by way of Nicolumn in attacking canada by way of Ni-agara Falls. They will rendezvous on the Terrace at Buffalo, thence proceed by the street cars to Black Rock, where they will fish for the remainder of the first day. Several hundred rounds of fishing tackle have been provided, with but one pole. It is have been provided, with but one pole. It is well enough for them to tackle a few black well enough for them to tackle a lew black bass before tackling Canada. The next day they will proceed to the Falls by rail, without breaking bulk, and hold a farewell picnic on Goat Island. The next day they will hold another farewell picnic, day they will hold another farewell picnic, under the Falls, closing with a farewell ex-cursion on the "Maid of the Mist," and a farewell ball in the evening at the Sham-rock House. The next day will be devoted to visiting various points of interest on the Canada side, carriages being provided for that purpose by the Canadian authorities. A farewell address will be delivered in the evening. The next day —

A larewell aduress will be delivered in the evening. The next day —_____ Whew! A messenger has just come in from Black Rock on a special street car, and announces that the conflict has actually begun. The picnics are put off, but the ball gun. The pictures are put on, but the ball is opened. The messenger in getting out of the car accidentally ran against a Fenian, and caused his nose to bleed. First blood for the Fenians! The Fenians cross the river on a boat last night and captured two squaws, with their entire stock of pin-cussions and bead work. They also cap-tured a hackman, but paroled him, as his charges were too exorbitant. The Fenian treasury could stand a war with a wealthy and powerful nation' like Great Britain, but it couldn't stand the charges of a Niagara Falls hackman. They retired without the loss of a man. The conflict is to be resumed. LATER.—The Lake Shore train has just brought reinforcements, who are to be hurried to the front as quickly as possible. They consist of six men with three cavalry sad-dles. I am preparing like all faithful war correspondents, when the conflict opens, to advance to the rear.

STARTLING RUMOR.—A rumor has just reached us that the Canadian squaws, en-raged at the capture of two of their number, organized in force, and cutting off the re treat of the Fenians, a terrible and blooly engagement has taken place, resulting in the release of the prisoners and defeat of the Fenians. I'am going to New York imme diately to ascertain from the Agent of the Associated Press the truth about the matter, Yoursexcitedly, FINNEGAN,

An Interesting Reminiscence, [From the Philadelphia Photographer.] To the Editor of the Philadelphia Photogra-

To the Easter of the Initial elphia Indiogra-pher: Hearing it authoritatively stated re-cently that there are fully fifteen thousand regular photograph and daguerreotype es-tablishments, and an indefinite number of amateur operators in sun-painting in the United States, reminded me of a circumstance that seems ridiculous, when narrated in the light of 1866, but which is none the less true. In the spring of 1842, your correspondent, who was then a very young man, nd on the look out for some business opening, was smitten with a fancy for daguer-reotyping, an art which was then just beginning to attract popular attention. Just beginning to attract popular attention. I had an acquaintance who was interested in almost the only, if not the only, "Daguer-reotype saloon" in the city, and with him I had several consultations with a view to carrying out my idea of becoming a disciple of Monsieur Daguerre. My stight field of Monsieur Daguerre, My artistic friend was amiable to a certain extent; he was willing to furnish me on satisfactory terms with materials for my proposed new profession ; he would have me taught the mystery such a pass that his only recourse is to leave he county.

All who make themselves conspicuous as All who make themselves conspictions as their opponents are in some way made to feel the effect of a thousand blighting and malign influences which paralyze their energies and blast their hopes of success. Although the law has been powerless when exerted against the gang, they have been in exerted against the gang, they have been in the habit of using its energies with great effect against those who stood in their path We were told, with great circumstantiality, by men worthy of all confidence, of nume rous instances where the forms of law were used to punish innocence and shield robbery under their skilful manipulations.
