-XXXIXTH CONCRESS—FIRST SESSION [CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.]

SENATE.—The Reconstruction resolution was taken up at 1 o'clock.

The pending question was on the followamendment, offered by Mr. Doolittle on Thursday last:

"After the census be taken in the year 1870, and each succeeding census, Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union according to the number in each State of male electors, over twenty-one years of age, qualified by the laws thereof to choose members of the most numerous branch of the Legislature; and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States according to the value of the real and personal taxable property situated in each State, not belonging to the State or of the United States.

Mr. Howe (Wis.) resumed the floor in continuation of his speech begun yesterday. He alluded to the President's action in the case of Semmes, elected Probate Judge in Alabama. He did not condemn the President for that—not at all—but he would say that Semmes was as well qualified to act as judge as the people of Mobile were to elect a judge. Why could not Congress do by a law of its making what the President had done without an act of Congress?

Mr. Howe said an attempt would be made to pack the next Congress in favor of the President's policy, but he did not think it would be successful. It was not the first attempt of the kind, and it would be no more successful than an attempt two hundred years ago to pack the Parliament of James II, in favor of Catholic indulgence.

After a personal discussion between Messrs. Howe and Doolittle. Mr. Doolittle's amendment was disagreed to. yeas 7, nays 21. Those who voted in the affirmae were Messrs. Cowan, Davis, Doolittle, Guthrie, Hendricks, Johnson and Riddle. Mr. Poolittle offered an amendment differing from the one just disagreed to by stituting the words "male citizens" for 'male electors." Mr. Cowan (Pa.) spoke against any change in the basis of representation, and said he should vote for the amendment offered by Mr. Doolittle, because he considered it better than the proposition of the Committee of Fifteen.

Mr. Sherman said he be believed Mr. Doolittle's amendment was right in principle, but he should vote against it, because he felt it his duty to sustain the action agreed upon by his political friends, and he knew it would be impossible to arrive at any conclusion without some sacrifice of personal preferences.

Mr. Doolittle's amendment was disagreed to—yeas 7, nays 21.

Mr. Williams offered an amendment as a substitute for the second section, as follows: SECTION 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States accord ng to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever the right to vote at any election held under the Constitution and laws of the United States, is denied to any of the male inhabitants or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation in such States shall be reduced in the proportion of which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens not less than twenty-one years of age in such State. Mr. Hendricks moved that the above be printed and that the Senate adjourn. The enate refused to adjourn, but after some discussion the motion was renewed, and at 5 P. M. the Senate adjourned. House. — The bill to regulate the safe keeping of public money was passed.

Mr. Delano (Ohio) offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Banking and Currency to inquire into the propriety and necessity of amending the law under which National Banks are organized, so that the rate of interest and so as to inflict upon any association attempting to charge more than the legal rate of interest, such penalty as may be deemed proper for the purpose of enforcing a com-

Mr. Brandagee (Conn.) from the Commit-tee on Naval Affairs, reported back a bill to authorize the President in case of public exigency to establish a naval station at Cleveland, Ohio, or some other point on the Northwestern lakes, which was recommitted and ordered to be printed.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill reported April 3d, by Mr. Kelley, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to accept League Island, in the Delaware river, for naval purposes.

Mr. Kelley (Pa.) addressed the House in advocacy of the bill.

Mr. Brandagee followed in opposition, describing League Island as 374 acres of mud bottom, three feet below the surface of the Delaware river at ordinary high tides, and a hundred miles from the ocean, and quoting the resolution of the Naval Board, which had examined it, "that in the opinion of the Board the public interest would not be promoted by acquiring the title of League Island for naval purposes."

He moved a substitute for the bill, requesting the President to appoint a commission of not less than seven competent officers and engineers to make a careful examination and survey of such sites as have or may be proposed for an iron-clad station, and to report to Congress the corresponding advantages and disadvantages of each This substitute, he said, he had submitted to the gentleman from Pennsylvania, Mr. Kelley, and he had then accepted it.

Mr. Kelley explained that his acceptance was procured on gross and grave mis Mr. Brandagee asked what representations the gentleman referred to.

Mr. Kelley replied that they were those which the gentleman, Mr. Brandagee, had made to him. Mr. O'Neill addressed the house in support of the bill, arguing upon the advantages of League Island and the disadvantages of New London as a station for iron-clads. Mr. Hubbard (Conn.) followed in opposition to the bill.

Mr. LeBlond, a member of the Naval Committee, explained that the real question at issue was whether or not it would be of advantage to the Government to abandon the Navy Yard at Philadelphia and locate it on the new site at League Island. The Philadelphia Navy Yard was now badiy situated, the city having grown beyond it The citizens were anxious for its removal the naval authorities were in favor of its removal, and the city of Philadelphia offere to present League Island gratuitously to the Government. That was the whole question involved, and it did not in any sense interfere with the project of an iron-clad station

Mr. Brandagee interrupted him to state that the idea was simply not to change the Navy Yard from one point to the other, but to make League Island a place for the construction, repair and safe-keeping of iron clads,

Without disposing of the bill, the House passed from its consideration, and Mr. Raymond, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a hill making appropriations to supply deficiencies for contingent expenses of the House for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1866, which was read three times and passed. It appropriates, for miscellaneous items, ten thousand dollars for folding documents, seventeen thousand five hundred dollars; for furniture and repairs, and packing boxes for members, ten thousand dollars, and for stationery, fifteen thousand dollars.

Mr. Burleigh (Dakota Territory) objected to the third reading of the bill, but the Speaker stated that the objection was one which he could not recognize.

Mr. Burleigh inquired of the Speaker what Mr. Burleigh inquireuo; was sent here for.
The Speaker replied that he was sent here as a delegate from the Territory of Dakota to discuss matters in the House, but not to without disposing of the bill, Mr. Conkling (N. Y.) from the Joint Committee on Reconstruction, reported testimohy taken by the Committee in reference to Louisiana, Texas and the Indian Territory, which was ordered to be printed, and the House, at half-past four, adjourned.

The Gas Works Investigation. The Select Council Committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works held, another meeting yesterday afternoon.

Col. Charles Thompson Jones was examined, as follows: Question,—By Colonel Page.—I have before me a report of the operations of the Gas Works for 1865. From what source, sir, did you obtain the statistics from which the report is made up? Answer. From the chief clerk employed at the Works.

Q. There was a report presented on May 17, 1866, a report purporting to be that of these Trustees. What do you know concerning the material and the accuracy of that report? A. It was compiled by Mr. Chas. S. Miller, member of the Board of Trustees of the Gas Works.

Q. Is it signed by you? A. I signed it by the instruction of the Board of Trustees, on

Q. Have the by-laws been changed since 1862? A. I think they have.
Q. In your report for 1865 it is stated that during the year a great quantity of coal was lost and destroyed; can you tell the number of tons that were lost? A. I cannot by memory only. The figures are on file at the office of the Trust.

Q. What was the cause of the fire that destroyed it? A. Spontaneous combustion. The Board directed the Fire Marshal to make a rigid examination into the cause of the fire. His illness has prevented the rendition of a report by him, Q. What was the actual total damage sustained by the Trust? A. I am not prepared to answer.

Q. Have not the works been tried to the utmost capacity in time of pressure? A. They have. But we have never stopped th. supply of gas in the street lamps to accome modate private residences. I think that during last year the lamps were not kept lighted during the night as long as previously. When the war ended it was supposed by the trustees that the Government hospitals, arsenals, &c., being closed there would be left a more than sufficient supply of gas; but to our surprise it was increased in the month of December, and we were compelled to force the works to their utmos capacity to meet the demand. The engineer has told me that he has stayed whole nights at the works to encourage the men to make gas enough for the next day's supply fo the city.,

Q. Have you ever curtailed the city light because you had not gas to supply the streetlamps? A. For a few nights in last December the Chief Engineer curtailed a number of hours, alleging that he was sup-plying more gas than the contract with the city called for.

Q. In your report of May 17th you have a comparison of the prices of gas, by which it appears that in New York the price is $3 66 per thousand feet. You also state the price of gas in Philadelphia to private consumers as $3 15, including Government tax. What is the amount of that tax? A. Thirty cents per thousand feet. Q. This report embraces the prices of gas in New York, Beston, Buffalo, Albany, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, and the average price is taken as a comparison for the price of gas in Philadelphia. Now, looking to the fact that the works referred to are on a smaller scale than ours, and vastly more remote from the regions supplying coal, and with very far less facilities in this respect; while these are all dends, do you candidly say that you think this is a fair comparison with the Philadel-phia Gas Works, which has no dividends to declare, and which is bound to furnish gas to citizens at actual cost? A. I think it is a fair comparison. When the committee examine our accounts they will see that this Board have made a large addition the sinking fund; so that, in time, the works will belong entirely to the city.

Q. Can you tell me how many cubic feet of gas to the pound will good coal produce?

A. I would prefer that you would summon the foreman from the defendant's works to answer questions of this character. Colonel Page then interrogated Colonel Jones in reference to the construction of a main to Germantown by the way of Wissa bickon creek. The answer was: This main has been more productive than was suphas been more productive man was supposed. Its estimated cost is $10,000 to $15,000. The pipe is still in the ground, and is used to furnish gas to all the hotels and large factories on the Wissahickon, up to Germantown. Without this main gas could not be furnished to the locality. The main connects with the Chelten avenue main at Germantown. It was laid for this special purpose; for the proprietors of these mills had threatened to sue the city for not furnishing gas. Another main was after-wards laid to Germantown, along Ninth to Diamond, because the people of German-town clamored for a sufficient supply, alleging that they could not receive it from the Wissahickon main. Q. What became of the old iron when the retorts gave out? A. It was sold.

Q. Did the parties buying it ever supply you with retorts? A. They did.

Q. Did they make the new retorts of the old iron thus bought? A. They always denied such a charge. They were unfortunate in making retorts. I have heard that same question asked of Mr. Cresson. He scouted the idea, and said that such a thing was im-

Colonel Page then read from the recent peech of Mr. Jones before Select Council, in which he said that to the Investigating Committee would be explained the cause of the greater consumption of gas in the street lamps last year than ever before.

Mr. Jones said that now he was unable to do this, but would be ready to do it at the next meeting.

Colonel Page then read from the last annual report of the trustees from 1859 to 1864, to show that the leaking was uniform, averaging 60.000,000 cubic feet of gas per year. In 1864 it rose to 83,390,000, an in-rease of 23,000,000 feet. Mr. Jones said that all this was susceptible of easy explanation. In 1864 the Board supplied gas to all the Government hospitals, to the refreshment saloons, to the sanitary hospitals and sanitary fairs. All this gas was included under the head of leakage. Colonel Page thought that so far this might be satisfactory, but that in 1865, when Mr. Jones was President of the Board, and when there were no such buildings to furnish with gas, the leakage arose again to 112,490,000, an increase of 30,000,000 over the previous year, and nearly double that of Mr. Jones explained that of this immense excess 10,326,000 feet were lost by clay retorts alone. The contract for clay retorts had been made in 1864; and the Board was compelled to take them. The same coal which in the iron retorts yielded 4 19-100ths cubic feet of gas per b, in the clay retorts yielded only 3 46-100, a loss of 73-100ths. Mr. Jones further stated that by the breaking of their holder, they sustained in immense loss. All its contents were wasted.

The gas had to be pumped out. After the above testimony was elicited, Colonel Page read the following letter from the Trustees:

James Page, Esq., Chairman of Select Council to investigate the management of the Philadelphia Gas Trust:—A resolution was passed by the Board of Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Trust, at their meeting held on the 25th ultimo, appointing the un-dersigned a committee to carry out the spirit of the resolution passed by them and forwarded to Councils May 27, 1866, in reference to the management and condition of the Philadelphia Gas Works. In pursuance of their duty the committee have directed me to inform you that they will be in waiting to receive you at the Seventh street office, on Monday, the 4th of June, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

o'clock, P. M. Yours, NATHAN HILLES, Chairman. John A. Houseman, CHAS. E. GRAEFF, Committee. JAMES MCMANES, CHAS. A. MILLER, June 1, 1866.

Colonel Page answered the note as follows: June 4, 1866.—Nathan Hilles, Esq., Chairman of Committee of Trustees Philadelphia Gas Works-Sin: Your note dated on the 1st inst., but not received till late in the afternoon of the 2d inst., Saturday, permitted no opportunity for its reference to the Spe cial Committee of Select Council, prior to your meeting to-day at 3 P. M. I shall submit it to that committee at the stated meet ing on Wednesday, when you shall be duly apprised of the action taken thereon.

Respectfully, your obedient,
J. PAGE, Chairman, Special Committee Select Councils. The Committee, yesterday, authorized its Chairman to send the following to the Trustees: June 6, 1866.—Sir:—I am directed by the Special Committee of Select Council to say, in reply to your note of the 1st inst., that w inever in the course of investigation they ab now making it shall become necessary to examine any of the Trustees, or confe with any committee they may have appointed, the parties will be severally and duly notified, and yourself, as chairman of the committee, promptly informed.

Very respectfully, J. PAGE.

Nathan Hilles, Esq., Chairman Commit tee Gas Trust.

Col. Page read the following letter, received from the chairman of the special committee of Common Council:

JUNE 2, 1866.—James Page, Esq., Chairman of the Special Committee of Select Counman of the special commutee of select council to Investigate the Management of the Gas Trust—SIR: The special committee appointed by Common Council to investigate the management of the Gas Trust, and examining their books and accounts, consisting of Messrs, Evans, Stanton, Derbyshire, Bardsley and Wolbert, would respectfully request that your committees would act in conjunction with us in the difficult and important work we have before us. Please inform us when it will be the pleasure of your committee to meet us. Very respectfully, in behalf of the Comnittee. R. M. Evans, Chairman.

The committee authorized Colonel Page o send the following reply:

JUNE 6, 1866.—Sir: I have been directed by the special committee of Select Council to say, in reply to your note of the 2d inst. that they respectfully decline the proposi tion therein contained. Very respectfully, JAMES PAGE, Chairman. R. M. Evans, chairman special committee
