Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves, no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another. These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariable remover soon follow Lost of Power, Futulty and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson, at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred in two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy.

Who cansay that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, InSANITY and CONSUMPTION? The records of the Insane Anglums, and the melancholy deaths by Onsumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lanaticae, Jums the most melancholy exhibitions appear. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destinute—neither mirth nor grief ever visits it, Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

Mig. H. T. Helmedld.—Lear Sir:—In regard to the question asked meas to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used or known to be used in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are saware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired in my indigment is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture, find extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right of udge of its merita, and without prejudice or partiality a grey yours precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effect on patients.
