"Footlight Flashes" is the title of an autobiographical work by William Davidge, the well-known comedian, published by the American News Company, New York, and for sale by T. B. Peterson & Brothers. The book is not one of which the author should be proud. He has been an actor of wide experience in England and America, and if he chose to come before the public as a writer, he should not only have told the public fresh facts in a sparkling way, but he should have employed respectable grammar and a style as far removed from the bombastic and the sophomorical as possible. Further, when he descended to personal anecdotes he should have chosen such stories as would not make out the members of the dramatic profession swindlers, drunkards, paupers, and "Jeremy Diddlers," and then endeavor to defend the votaries of the art by stale didactic harangues which have been worn out by incessant repetition. Still further, he should not have attempted to imitate Charles Dickens on his own peculiar ground, when that imitation is so glaring as to be ludicrous. We have read the work carefully and speak "by the card" when we thus criticise it, and it may be added that we are cognizant of various blunders made by the author which he might easily have avoided. Mr. Davidge is a comedian of ability, and we greatly enjoyed his famous personation of Bottom, the weaver,in "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, in 1854. when Mr. Burton was playing the same character at his theatre in Chambers street; but we think he should not attempt to write another book until he is more proficient in Lindley Murray, including especially the proper use of moods and tenses, and the value of periods, colons, semi-colons and commas. The best thing in the book is probably his account of an attempt to give a "Dickens' Reading", in Glasgow, Scotland, and we quote it to show that, amid all his bad taste, nonsense and bombast, there is here and there a gleam of pleasantry worthy of the reputation of so well-known a come dian. Hesays: It was a fine starlight evening in the month of April, when, after due process of advertising, posting, and all the accessories of diurnal attention, I presented myself white-gloved and chokered, at the Music Hall, to perpetrate my "Evening with Charles Dickens." The door keepers duly arrived with checks and a heavy amount of specie for change, posted themselves in orderly array, waiting the rush of the expectant multitude. The hall, a most beautiful one, was brilliantly illuminated, and two rows of extra chairs placed in conand two rows of extra chairs placed in convenient proximity to the rostrum. At the specified time the doors were thrown open specified time the doors were thrown open with the customary bang, and from the partially opened door of the retiring room, I listened impatiently for the approach of my patrons. A painful propriety pervaded the passage way, relieved at brief intervals by one of the attendants, who, with his finger nails, extemporised a medley composed of the popular airs of his native land, muon the capacious tip box provided by the upon the capacious tin box provided by the establishment for the receipt of tickets. At length the delicate step of one of the fair sex, accompanied by the more amply provided tread of one of the opposite gender, assailed my ears. The audiences are very fashionable, mused I, and come late here; the rustling of silk approached nearer, and stopped in its progress towards the manager. stopped in its progress towards the money-taker. I listened, then peeped out. A lady and gentleman were surveying a formidaafter tortuous offences against the rules of the language, and having got to the end of it—turned round—and—walked out!

This reckless act of deceit inflicted on the doorkeeper opened the flood-gates of his commiseration for the degeneracy of his race, and induced him to request his brother in solitude to join issue with him in a copieus pinch of snuff, when the following col-ble bill of fare hanging in the hall. They perused it with evident care and circumspection. I felt flattered, for it was replete with what I considered good jokes, concocted

loony began:
"What's o'clock?" said one,
"Ten minutes to eight!" was the reply, consulting his time-keeper for the authority.

"When does he begin?" said the first.

"Why, at eight precisely, he says," said the second, "and he was very particular this morning in requesting me to be here at seven, that he might have his audience well and comfortably seated before he began, because he didn't like to be disturbed."
"Well, Sandy," quaintly replied the first, "it strikes me that he won't have much reason to complain of interruption to-night.' "Perhaps it might be as well to defer it for a week,"

"Aye," said his companion, "or till Christ-

"Aye," said his companion, "or till Christ-mas or New Year's next; as the public seem to have a previous engagement which they are not disposed to break."

My mind began to drift into that pleasing condition I should imagine a gentleman suf-fers, who is within the meshes of legal constraint, and anxiously waiting the return of the messenger who has been dispatched for his intimate personal acquintance to become security for his next appearance, when reonired. Three minutes to eight, and the idea began to suggest itself that it was more than probable the projected entertainment might turn out a failure.

The money takers returned to the charge with that delightful badinage which so pleasantly diversify the monotony of facetious leisure, when it can can be indulged in at the expense of another party than those who comprise the company. The style of these mirthful sallies may be judged by the following:

"Well, look here," said one, "what was all this to be about, Sandy, if it ever does "I expect it's a kind of definition of the unknown tongue, which language, it is evident, nobody has any curiosity to learn; because if they had, they would certainly have "Wonder where he banks his money?"

etc., etc.
These, and similar complimentary remarks in relation to the different aspect of the hall a few nights previous, when the city turned out in great numbers to listen to a professor with a high sounding title, who let them into all the secrets of the heavenly bodies, including the condition of the moon's health at certain seasons in its existence, to which they listened with a reverence and stolid assurance, that justified the convic-tion that they perfectly comprehended everything he had been so lucidly describing.

Time crept on, till at thirty minutes past the hour I should have commenced, being somewhat disgusted with the proceeding, considered it prudent to capitulate, and beat a retreat. The owner of the building sympathised with my forlorn condition; and, proposing an invitation to his domicile to rtake of the hospitality of a family supper, I saw the lights extinguished, took leave of my facetious, but useless, door-keepers, soon forgot my disappointment over the conviv ial hilarity of the well-appointed table, and the following morning left Glasgow with no

The following is a correct copy of an important act passed by the Legislature at the AN ACT TO PREVENT FRAUDS AT ELECTIONS

IN THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whenever thirty citizens of any Ward in the city of Philadelphia, shall present a petition to the Court of Common Pleas of the said city, setting forth that in any election division of said Ward the inspectors of elections, or the return inspectors, are of the same political party, and have been chosen or elected in violation of the spirit and intention of the several acts of Assembly regulating elections, verified by the oaths or affirmations of any two of them, it shall be the duty of the said court to grant a rule on the officers returned, chosen or elected for such division, to show cause, if any they have, why the of such election officers would not be set aside; and if, upon the investigation of the matters set forth in the said petition, they shall be found to be true, it shall be the duty of said court to set aside the selection of such officers, and to appoint a judge, two inspectors, and two appoint a judge, two inspectors, and two return inspectors, to serve in such election divisions for the next election, and until others are duly elected or chosen. Said appointments may be made from any part of the ward in which such election division is located, and the officers so appointed shall have and exercise the same powers and duties, and be liable to the same penalties, as officers elected by the quatified voters now are. SEC. 2. That from and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful for any alderman of said city to receive the payment of personal taxes unless specially deputed by the Receiver of Taxes of said city, and no receipt for the payment of taxes heretofore given by any alderman shall be taken as evidence of the payment of any such tax by the election officers of any election divi-sion of said city. The said Receiver of Taxes shall have power, and he is hereby required to appoint at least one person in each of the wards of said city to receive poll taxes from citizens assessed therefor. Said appointment shall be made at least three weeks before any election, and the person so appointed shall have some public place wherein he shall be found for at least three hours between ten and one o'clock in each secular day prior to the day of election and on the day of the election during the whole time the polls are open, of which time and place notice shall be given upon the street lists now required to be published and posted: Provided, That in the rural wards there shall be not less than three persons appointed, to each of whom shall be assigned the district for which he is to collect and receive such personal taxes; but no election division shall be divided in forming such district. Said deputies shall be required to collect both city and State taxes from the citizens assessed, either on the regular or extra assessment, unless he shall make oath or affirmation that he is unable to pay both, and not then unless he shall have paid at least one of said taxes within fourteen months next previously; Provided, That if any person so appointed shall issue or give a receipt to or for any person whose name is not upon the assessment list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars and imprisonment for a period not exceed ing three months, both or either, in the discretion of the court. SEC. 8. That whenever, in the investigation of any contested election, whether before any committee of Councils, any court of the city and county of Philadelphia, or committee of the Senate or House of Representatives, or a joint committee thereof, it shall appear that in any election division of said city, the officers of elec-tions shall have wilfully received the votes of ten persons or upwards whose names are not contained in the list of taxable in-habitants furnished to the election officers of such division by the city commissioners without requiring proof of the payment of taxes, citizenship and residence, which now are or hereafter may be required by law, such dereliction of duty shall be deemed a misdemeanor, upon conviction whereof the said officers of election shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and be imprisoned for a period not exceeding two years, both or either at the discretion of the court.

Homicide in Worcester, Mass. Worcester, Mass., June 10.—While a drunken man was being conveyed to the police office to-night, from a melee in East Worcester, a stone was thrown at one of the officers, hitting him upon the head, where-upon he fired at the crowd, the ball striking a man named H. T. Weikel in the skull. He can survive but a short time. He was a mere spectator. A large crowd has congregated at the police office and great excitement prevails. Great Fire in Charlestown, Mass. Boston, June 10.—A very destructive fire broke out about 12 o'clock last night in the building on Main street, in Charlestown, used as a furniture manufactory, and as there was a lack of water from repairs being made in the pipes, all the buildings in the square, on what is called the "Old Millpond's property, were burned, rendering houselss sixty-one families, embracing about five hundred persons, mostly Irish. Several firemen were injured. The loss is estimated $30,000.

Fatal Accident. ALBANY, June 10.—About nine o'clock last night a yacht, containing three young men, while going from Cozzens to Peekskill, collided with the steamer Dean Richmond and was capsized. The steamer was stopped and the pilot, John Bert, went to their assistance and succeeded in rescuing two of them, one of whom was a son of John C. Fremont, The third, named Marvin, from Pennsylva-nia, was drowned.

Baltimore-Enforcement of the Sunday Law. BALTIMORE, June 10 .- The steamer Worcester sailed yesterday for Liverpool, with

The new Sunday law was, if possible, more rigidly enforced to-day than last Sunday. The driking saloons, confectionery stores, etc., were all obliged to close.

WIDTH OF THE STREETS IN LONDON. There are in the city of London four hundred and forty streets, and in only seventy of them is there room for more than two lines of vehicles to pass at a time for the entire length. In one hundred and eleven streets one line of vehicles only can pass; one hundred and energy one hundred and seven pass; one hundred and one have no exit, and are not thoroughfares at all.

THE BRITISH POOR.—The amount ex-pended for the relief of the poor in 665 unions and parishes of England and Wales for the half year ending Michaelmas, 1865, was £2,116,216, being an increase of £12,261 as compared with 1864. The population of those unions and parishes was 12,886,104 acCITY BULLETIN.

Another Shocking Murder. Upon the farm of Dr. Tiedeman, of this city, situate near Gwynedd, along the line of the North Pennsylvania Railroad, some time ago was found the dead body of a German named Julius Worhele, evidently mur-dered. It now looks as though justice had at last claimed its victim, and that the murderer is discovered.

Worhele came from Wurtemburg to Philadelphia in the year 1865. He was young, and of good character and presence—by trade a bookbinder. Shortly after his ar-rival here he made the acquaintance of an unknown man, and during last winter left his last place of employment in Philadel-phia, in company with him. A short time afterwards Worhele's dead body was found as above described. An inquest held at the time by William Forman, Esq., justice of the peace at Montgomery Square, clearly established the fact that the deceased had been murdered. His head was smashed in. It was also proved that he was enticed to said place, which was then unoccupied, and left in the care of a man, who at that time gave his name as Jacob or Joseph Haddon, and who shortly afterwards disappeared

During April last, W. L. Kiderlen, Esq., consul of Wurtemburg in this city, received information from his government that a letter had found its way directed to the relatives and guardian of the said Worhele, at Rosenfeld, the native place of the same, and apparently written by Worhele, in which letter the guardian was informed that Worhele was in distress and asked to be furnished money, the pretended Worhele in-forming the family that he at that time resided in Reading, Pennsylvania, and requesting that the money might be sent, payable to a letter of exchange, the answer o be directed, "Julius Worhele, care of Reading P. O." This letter was at once declared by the relatives of Worhele to be a

Upon this information the Consul, Mr.
Kiderlen, sent a decoy letter directed "Julius Worhele, care of Reading Post Office," enclosing a draft of one hundred florins, payable at the Consulate of Wurtemburg at Philadelphia, and requested the recipient of the letter to have the signature acknowledged before a notary public.

On the 1st of this month a German notary public of Philadelphia, Julius Wolff, Esq., acting representative of the consulate of Wurtemburg at Philadelphia, received a letter from the President of the First National Bank at Allentown, enclosing the aforesaid decoy letter of Exchange, and requesting the consulate to pay said draft, which had been signed and acknowledged which had been signed and acknowledged by the alleged Julius Worhele before a notery public at Allentown, to the order of said bank. The president and the notary at Allentown were of course unaware of the circumstances of this case, and strictly acted in good faith.

Upon receipt of this letter by Mr. Wolff, the arrest of the pretended Julius Worhele was caused forthwith by Institute Former.

was caused forthwith by Justice Forman, the justice of the peace aforesaid, and it was now ascertained that the pretended Julius Worhele was nobody else but the identical Jacob or Joseph Haddon, with several other aliases, who, as above stated, had been formerly employed at Dr. Tiedeman's farm, and evidently was the murderer of the real Julius Worhele. The incentive appears to have bean the possession of Worhele's patrimony in Germany, a sum that will amount to some thousands of florins. The accused, who is twenty-five years of age, and a native of Baden. will be tried at the next term of the Montgomery county criminal court, while the charge of forgery will also hang over him in the county of

Lehigh, Pennsylvania. FIREMEN'S RECEPTION.-The Pennsylvania Hose Company, which has been on a visit to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, returned to the city on Saturday evening, and met with a fine reception from the other companies of the department. The programme as published in the BULLETIN, of Saturday, was fully carried out, and a splendid dis-play was made. The number of members of each company on parade varied from 30 to 150, and there was no scarcity of music. The various apparatus of the different companies were gayly decorated with flowers or bunting. The carriage of the Pennsylvania was literally loaded down with flowers. The house of the company, on Eighth street, near Green, where the parade dismissed, was brilliantly illuminated, and large flags, with the words "Welcome Home" appended, were displayed at inter-

TWELFTH REGIMENT PENNA, RESERVES. –A meeting of officers and soldiers of this egiment was held on Saturday evening, a Collector Taggart's office, 419 Chestrat street. It was resolved to participate in the presentation ceremonies on the Fourth of July, in a body, in citizens' dress, dark clothing, with fatigue cap, and badge, with the number of regiment.

About 150 men of this organization were enlisted in Philadelphia, in 1861, and of this number about one-half have returned. nearly all of whom will participate in the celebration. An invitation was extended to those companies raised in the interior of Pennsylvania to participate, and it is exected that detachments will be present on the occasion. CITY MORTALITY.—The number of interments in the city during the past week was 256, against 278 during the same period last 256, against 278 during the same period last year. Of the whole number, 125 were adults, and 131 children—65 being under one year of age; 130 were males, 126 females; 65 boys and 66 girls. The greatest number of deaths occurred in the Nineteenth Ward, being 26 and the smallest number in the Twelfth Ward, where only two were reported. The principal causes of death were congestion of the brain, 7; cholera infantum, 5; consumption, 36; conyulsions, 8; diphtheria, 5, disease tion, 3; consumption, 3; consumption, 3; convulsions, 8; diphtheria, 5, disease of the heart, 7; debility, 11; scarlet fever, 9; inflammation of the brain, 7; inflammation of the lungs, 11; measles, 12; old age, 7. DESPERATE ASSULT UPON A WIFE,-A colored man named Frederick Bergley, who hails from Mortonsville, in this State, arrived here on Saturday, and brought up at a house in the vicinity of Ninth and Carpenter streets. Through the use of bad li-quor, it is supposed he became incensed at this wife, Eliza, about 25 years of age, and cut her in a brutal manner. She was removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where an examination showed that her throat was so severely cut that her life is despaired of. Her hands were also cut in her endeavors to protect herself from the onslaught made by her desperate husband.

MURDEROUS AFFRAY.-Two colored men. named James Barrett and William Lare. named James Barrett and William Lare, got into an altercation, yesterday, at a tavern in Barclay street, during which Lare, it is alleged, threw a tumbler at Barrett, lacerating his cheek very badly. A pistol was also fired by Lare, but no damage resulted from it. Officer Hamilton arrested Lare and locked him up. Barrett was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital.

ACCIDENT TO A FIREMAN. - Edward Weisberger, a member of the United States Fire Company, was struck by the tongue of the Vigilant Engine, at Fourth and Chestnut atreets, on Saturday night, and was knocked down. He had three ribs fractured, and was taken to his residence, No. 308 Wood
