Suicide.—At Washington city yesterday, Samuel Hanson shot himself dead. He was out of employment and had other troubles. In the room was found an unfinished piece of manuscript, which was identified as being in the handwriting of the deceased, stating that circumstances over which he had no control had reduced him from comparatively easy circumstances to almost absolute want. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by shooting himself while laboring under temporary insanity, caused by family difficulties.

The challenge of the Fenian General Burns to Colonel Lowry, British Commandant at Fort Erie, to fight him with an equal number of men, was a piece of ridiculong hombast. The English officer who received it tore the challenge up, and threw the pieces on the ground, for his answer. Fenianism in this locality is played out for the present.

House.—Immediately after the reading of the journal, Mr. Spaulding (Ohio) offered the following preamble and resolution, and moved the previous question.

Whereas, It is alleged, in the public press that Hon. Lovell H. Rousseau, a member of the House from the State of Kentucky, did, on the evening of Thursday the 14th inter-commits a present through the present of inst., commit an assault upon the person of the Hon. J. B. Grinnell, a member of th House from the State of Iowa, because of words spoken in debate in this House by the latter, and whereas said assault if committed was a breach of the privileges of this House and of the member assaulted, there

Resolved. That a select committee of five be appointed by the Speaker to investigate the subject and to report the facts, with such resolutions in reference thereto as in their udgment may be proper and necessary for vindication of the privileges of House and the protection of its members. and that the said committee have power to send for persons and papers and to examine

OITY BULLETIN.

Presentation of the State Flags. Continued from Second Edition. Col. Charles Albright moved to amend that portion of the programme which de-tailed the firemen as a guard of honor for the Soldiers' orphans, by substituting offi-cers and soldiers for the firemen. As this was purely a military display, it seems more appropriate to have soldiers to take charge of the children, who had lost their relatives in the service.

Col. Peter Lyle explained the object of the Committee in introducing firemen into a military procession. The firemen, he said, had furnished many soldiers during the war, all the companies had procured amply they are and many thousand of soldiers. bulances, and many thousands of soldiers had been cared for by these firemen. They had a complete system in regard to the re-moval of these wounded soldiers. The Medical Director notified the firemen, and they left their places of business, got out of their beds to attend to this labor of love. General Tyndale and General Owen both spoke in high terms of the actions of the firemen of Philadelphia during the war, and urged that these men deserved the highest compliments which can be bestowed upon

Colonel Albright said that he would defer to the wishes of the Philadelphia delegates and withdraw his motion. He had the highest respect for the firemen of Philadel-phia, but it had seemed more appropriate to him that soldiers should guard the orphans. The motion to amend was withdrawn.

The report of the Committee of Arrange-The report of the Committee of Arrango ments was then adopted.

The following Committee was appointed to prepare a list of officers to be invited: Col. John R. Brooke, Col. Richard Coulter, Gen. J. L. Selfridge, Col. W. W. H. Davis, and Col. Chas. Albright.

Col. Ellmaker offered a resolution returning thanks to the Pennsylvania Bailroad for its prompt offer to transport, free of charge, the color-bearers and the soldiers' orphans, and to the other companies who had acqui-esced in the wishes of the committee. Chaplain Brown suggested that the names of the other companies ought to be men-tioned. The Pennsylvania Railroad Com-pany has the most transportation to do, and in this matter had acted nobly, like Pennsylvania herself. The Secretaries were then directed to insert the names of all railroad companies which have aided the committee. General C. H. T. Collis offered a resolution of thanks to the members of Select and Common Councils of Philadelphia, and to the Mayor, for their prompt and liberal action in appropriating $10,000 to assist in defraying the expenses of the celebration.

Adopted.
Colonel Elimaker submitted a resolution of thanks to the press for co-operation in this movement. Adopted. The committee was still in session when we closed our report.
