

CONGRESS—First Session.

[CLOSED OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.]

SENATE.—Mr. Sausbury (Del.) rose to a personal explanation. His attention had been called by a friend to a statement of the New York Tribune, of the 17th inst., in relation to the Rousseau and Grinnell difficulty to this effect: "His (Grinnell's) own backer was Senator Sausbury, who had been waiting for some time anticipating the assault." The statement in the Tribune was false, and its author was a willful liar.

Mr. Wade (Ohio) offered a joint resolution for the relief of the late Senator Sherman, Thomas, Pope, Pleasanton and Foster, made since the close of the report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War. Passed.

Mr. Howard (Mich.) called up the bill in relation to the Pacific Railroad, which was under discussion on Friday last.

Mr. Sherman offered an amendment authorizing the Union Pacific Railroad Company, with the consent and approval of the Secretary of the Interior, to locate and construct a line of road through Nebraska, westward, according to the most practical route.

Pending discussion on the above, the morning hour expired, and the special order which was on the table for the occupation of mineral lands, was taken up.

Various amendments were offered and agreed to.

Mr. Chandler, from the Committee of Conference on the bill making appropriations for the repairs and preservation of certain public works, made a report, which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Howard, the House joint resolution requesting the President to transmit to the several States for ratification the proposed amendments to the Constitution, was taken up and passed.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, pending the consideration of the bill in relation to mineral lands, the House adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Baldwin offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Committee on Naval Affairs to consider the expediency of abolishing the marine corps, or transferring it to the army, and of making provision for supplying such military force as may at any time be needed in the navy by detail from the army.

Mr. Morrill introduced a joint resolution to pay the State of Vermont the sum expended for the protection of the frontier against the invasion from Canada in 1814, not to exceed $16,463 81. Read three times and passed.

Mr. Stevens introduced a joint resolution, proposing the following as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States: "Congress shall have power to lay an export duty or tax on cotton exported from the United States." Read three times and passed.

Mr. Stevens said that six months ago he had offered a somewhat similar resolution, and five months ago he had offered a similar one, both of which had gone to the "omb of oblivion." He now wanted to give the sense of the House on the question. He moved the previous question.

The previous question was seconded and the concurrent resolution was read the third time.

Mr. Garfield suggested that the proposed article should be amended by striking out the words "to lay an export duty or tax on cotton exported from the United States," so as to let it apply to all exports.

Mr. Stevens expressed his willingness to assist him.

The Speaker stated that the previous question having been seconded, and the main question ordered, no amendment could be offered except by the vote of amendment.

Mr. Leo Home (Ohio) objected because the matter was being forced through under the flag law.

Mr. Garfield (Ohio) moved a reconsideration of the vote ordering the main question. The motion was negatived, and so the amendment could not be offered.

The question being on agreeing to the resolution, it was taken up and passed, yeas 59; nays 61. So two-thirds not voting in favor thereof, as required by the Constitution.

On the concurrent resolution was read the third time.

Mr. Cobb, Chairman of the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported to the House that the Committee had, on the 16th of June, 1866, presented to the House the following bill: "An act to amend the Constitution of the State of the United States the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

The Speaker added to the constitutional amendment published officially, by the Secretary of State, in this morning's Washington Republican.

Mr. Bingham asked leave to offer a concurrent resolution, which was granted.

That the President of the United States be requested to transmit forthwith, to the Executive of the several States of the United States, copies of the article of amendment proposed by Congress, to the State Legislatures, to amend the Constitution of the United States, passed June 30th, 1866.

Mr. Bingham moved to suspend the rules. Agreed to. Yeas, 52; nays, 25.

The resolution was then introduced and agreed to.

His opposition to the bill grew out of the fact that it prescribed conditions precedent to the admission of representatives, which conditions Congress had no right to prescribe under the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Raymond was allowed to speak for two hours, and he closed his remarks by expressing the hope and belief that when Congress adjourned, the Union party would be a unit, and would have the co-operation of the President whom it placed in power.

The Speaker presented messages from the President, as follows: In reply to House resolution of the 11th of June, requesting information in reference to the dispatch of a military force from Austria for service in Mexico, with a report from the Secretary of State. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

In reply to a resolution of the same date concerning the laws and ordinances of the late insurgent States, on the subject of the rebel debt, with a report from the Secretary of State. Referred to the Committee on Reconstruction. In reply to a resolution of May 23rd, as to the progress made in completing the maps connected with the boundary survey under the Treaty of Washington, with a report from the Secretary of State. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Kelly introduced a joint resolution for the protection of citizens of the United States in the matter of public loans of the Republic of Mexico. Read twice and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The House, at 4 P. M., adjourned.

On motion of Mr. Howard, the House joint resolution requesting the President to transmit to the several States for ratification the proposed amendments to the Constitution, was taken up and passed.
