The Minerity Reconstruction Report. WASHINGTON, June 19.—The minority of the Joint Committee on Reconstruction, nator Johnson and Representatives Gri der and Rogers, have presented their views.

In order to obtain a correct apprehension of the subject, and as having a direct bearing upon it, they think it all important already to ascertain what was the effect of the late insurrection upon the relations of the States where it prevailed to the General Government, and of the people collectively and individually of such States. To this inquiry they therefore first address them-selves. Did the insurrection, at its commencement, or at any subsequent time, legally dissolve the connection between those States and the General Government? In their judgment, so far from this being a "profitless abstraction," it is a vital inquiry; for if that connection was not disturbed, such States, during the entire war, were as completely component States of the United States as they were before the rebellion, and were bound by all the obligations which the Constitution imposes, and entitled to all its privileges. Was not this their condition? The opposite view alone can justify the denial of such rights and privileges. That a State of the Union can exist without possessing them is inconsistent with the very nature of the Government and terms of the Constitution. In its nature the Government is formed of, and by States possessing equal rights and powers. States unequal are unknown to the Constitution. In its original formation perfect equality was secured. They were granted the representation in the Senate and the same right to be represented in the House of Representation that the same right to be represented in the House of Representations.

tatives, the difference in the latter being regulated only by a difference in population The equality of rights was the condition of the original thirteen States before the Government was formed, and such equality was only not interfered with, but guaranteed to them as well in regard to the pow-ers conferred upon the General Government as to those reserved to the States or to the

It is made permanent and perpetual, and for that very reason it, is equally the paramount duty of the General Government to allow to the citizens of each State and to the States the rights secured to both and the protection necessary to their full enjoyment. To concede that by the illegal conduct of her own citizens a State can be withdrawn from the Union, is virtually to concede the right of secession. For what difference does it make, as regards the result, whether a State can rightfully secede—a doctrine, by the by, heretofore; maintained by the States, North as well as South—or whether, by the alleged conduct of her citizens sha by the alleged conduct of her citizens, she ceases to to be a State of the Union. either case the end is the same. The only difference is that by the one theory sl ceases by law to be such a State, and by the other by crime, without or against law. But the doctrine is wholly erroneous. A State once in the Union must still abide in it for-ever; they can never withdraw from or be expelled from it. A different principle would subject the Union to dissolution at any moment. It is, therefore, alike perilous and unsound. Nor do the minority see that it has any support in the measures re-commended by the majority of the Committee. The insurrectionary States are, by these measures, considered to be States of the Union. The proposed Constitutional amendment is to be submitted to them as well as to the other States. In this respect, each is placed on the same ground.

To consult a State not in the Union on the propriety of adopting a constitutional amendment to the government of the Union, and which is necessarily to affect those States only comprising the Union, would be an absurdity, and to allow an amendment, which States in the Union might desire, to be defeated by the votes of the States not in the Union, would be alike nonsensical and unjust. The insurrection, now happily and utterly suppressed, has in no respect changed the relations of the States where it prevailed to the General Government.

and purposes as completely States of the Union as they ever were. A different doc-trine necessarily leads to a dissolution of the Union. The Constitution supposes that insurrections may exist in a State, and provides for their suppression by giving Congress the power to "call forth the militia" for the purpose. The power is not to subjugate the State within whose limits the insurrection may prevail, and extinguish it as a State, but to preserve it as such by subduing the rebellion, by acting on the individual persons engaged in it, and not on the State at all. The power is altogether conservative, to protect a State and not to destroy it; to prevent her being taken out of the Union by individual crimes; not in any contingency to put her out or keep her out. A different principle leads to a disintegration that must sooner or later result in the separation of all, and the consequent destruction of the Government.

The minority then proceed to consider what there is in the present political condi-tion of the Southern States that justifies their exclusion from representation in Conganized governments, or without governments republican in point of form? In fact it is known that they have governments completely organized, with legislative, executive, and judicial functions. It is known that they are now in successful operation. No one within their limits questions their loyalty, or is denied their protection. How they were formed, under what auspices they were formed, are inquiries with which Congress has no concern. The right of the people of a State to form a government for themselves has never been questioned, and in the absence of any restriction, that right would be absolute.

Any form could be adopted that they might determine upon. The Constitution imposes but a single restriction, that the government adopted shall be "or a republican form," and that is done in the obliga-tion to guarantee any State such a form. It gives no power to frame a constitution for a State. It operates alone upon one alalready formed by the State. In the words of the Federalist, No. 44, it supposes a preexisting government of the form which is

These and other points are argued at length, and the minority say, in conclusion:
The undersigned have not thought it necessary to examine into the legality of the measures adopted either by the late or the present President for the restoration of the Southern States; it is sufficient for their purpose to say that if those of President John-son were not justified by the Constitution, the same may at least be said of those of his predecessor. We deem such an examination to be unnecessary, because, however it might result, the people of the several States who possessed, as we have before said, the exclusive right to decide for themselves what institutions they should adopt have adopted those under which they respectively live. The motives of neither President, however, whether the measures were legal or not, are liable to censure. The sole object of each was to effect a complete and early union of all the States; to make the general government, as it did at first, embrace all, and to extend its authority and secure its blessings to all alike.

The purity of motive of President Johnsen in this particular, as was to have been expected is admitted by the majority of the Committee to be beyond doubt, for whatever was their opinion of the unconstitutionality of his course and its tendency to enlarge the Executive power, they tell us that they "do not for a moment impute to him any such design," but cheerfully concede to him the most patriotic motives, "and we cannot forbear to say, in conclusion, upon that point, that he sins against light, who closes his eyes to the course of the President during the rebellion from its inception to the course of the President during the rebellion from its inception to the close. tion to its close." Who ventures to impeach his patriotism? Surrounded by insurrec-tionists, he stood firm. His life was almost constantly in peril, and he clung to the Union and discharged all the obligations it imposed upon him, even closer because of the peril, and now that he has escaped unharmed, and by the confidence of the peo-ple has had devolved upon him the executive function of the Government, to charge him with disloyalty is either a folly or a slander—folly in the fool who beieves it, slander in the man of sense, if any such there be, who utters it.

From Georgia. Augusta, June 19.—The Freedmen's Convention meets here in July. Delegates have been elected from all parts of the State. The object of the meeting is to memorialize Congress on the right of franchise, and of the trial by jurors of their own color.

George Pitts and Henderson Beck, of Griffin, were elected by a large majority as anti-Bureauists. At a meeting of colored people, both denounced the Bureau as mischievous and creative of disturbances batween the races. They are willing to trust the laws of the State and their old masters and friends for justice. The Bureau agent at Griffin said—"D—n if I allow the negroes at Grimi said—"D—i if randw the negaces to speak disrespectfully of my Bureau," and arrested the delegates, who were afterwards released by the civil authority.

The employes of the revenue offices in Georgia and South Carolina are resigning, being muchle to take the test outh being unable to take the test oath.

Several post offices have been closed, and great inconvenience will result unless the evil is remedied.

Stephens, Brown, Cobb, Hill and others are arguing for and against the constitu-tionality of the stay law before the Supreme Court at Milledgeville. The decision is looked for with interest.

The gold mines at Dahlonega, Ga., are about to be worked with improved machinery.

|Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] Washington, June 19, 1866.—The House Committee on Elections to-day decided, in the contested case of Fuller and Dawson, to give the seat to the sitting member, Mr. Dawson. They will take up the Coffroth and Koontz case at their next meeting, and dispose of it at once. The chances are that Koontz will get the seat.

The wool growers were again before the Ways and Means Committee to-day. They have failed to come to any satisfactory arrangements with the manufacturers. The House Committee on Foreign Affairs had under consideration again, to-day, the House resolution repealing the neutrality laws. No conclusion was arrived at.

Railroad Accident.

Boston, June, 19th.—By the singular disaster which occurred on the Norwich Railread, and which was occasioned by the high wind, blowing a car from one track to another, causing a freight train to come in collision with it, Tyler Peck a fireman was killed, and Frank Greenwood another employe was terribly scalded. The freight train was badly smashed up.

Fires in Boston. Boston, June 19th.-The building, No. 104 Washington street, occupied as a furni-ture manufactory and warehouse, by Haley, Morse & Boyden, was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at $50,000, covered by insurance.

Last night a fire broke out in the upper part of the building, Nos. 127 and 129 Tre-mont street. The building was mainly oc-cupied by Child & Jenckes, picture dealers. The loss is $10,000, covered by insurance.

Hudson, N. Y., June 19.—Yesterday afternoon a colored woman, named Hannah Smith, was suddenly seized with great pain just as she was leaving in the 2.40 train for the North, and soon afterwards died in the on Saturday Wm. Murphy, an Irish laborer, dropped dead while at work in a cornfield, in Livingston, in this county. Poor Murphy landed in New York three weeks ago, and had been in this vicinity but two days.

Marine Disaster. CLEVELAND, June 19. — The schooners Highland Chief, Alruma and Josephine, with wood, are ashore, and a large schooner. name unknown, is foundering at her anchorage at Fairport. Two large barks are also ashore just east of Fairport. The schooners Darien and Serfell, with lumber, are also ashore. The schooner Euclid and brig Williams are badly damaged by foundering at their docks here.

The storm has subsided Boston, June 19.—The bark Winslow, from Philadelphia for Portland, with coal, is ashore at Maskeget, and has bilged. Her crew have been saved. The vessel will probably be a total loss.

The Tax Bill.

Washington, June 19.— The Senate amendments to the House Tax bill fixes a tax of 2c. instead of 5c. per lb. on cotton. It was erroneously printed as having been fixed at 5c. per lb. in the Philadelphia papers of this morning.

XXXIXth CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION. WASHINGTON, June 19th, 1866.
SENATE,—Mr. Fessenden (Me.) gave notice that he would call up the tax bill tomorrow. Five hundred extra copies were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Howard (Mich.) moved to take up the Pacific railroad bill, which was under discussion yesterday. Disagreed to.

On motion of Mr. Williams (Oregon), a bill to grant lands in aid of the construction of a railroad from Salt Lake City to the Cola railroad from Salt Lake City to the Col-umbia river, in Oregon, was taken up.

Mr. Stevens, (Pa.,) asked the unanimous consent of the House for the Committee on Public Lands to report a bill granting public lands to aid in the completion of the Por-tage Lake Canal, in the State of Michigan.

Mr. Spalding, (Ohio,) objected. Mr. Price (Iowa), from the Committee on the Pacific Railroad, reported back the Senate bill granting aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Folsom to Placerville, California, with several amendments. One of the amendments reduces the right of way from 200 feet in width on each side of the road, through the public domain, to 100 feet in width. Another strikes out that part which permits the com-pany to select alternate sections at a dis-tance of not more than 20 miles.

Considerable debate arose on the bill, which was participated in by Messrs, Price, Higby, Kasson, Hale, Pike, Julian and Mr. Hale (N. Y.) moved to amend the 13th section by making it simply read, "Congress may at any time alter, amend or repeal this act."

Mr. Price (Iowa) moved the previous question, but the House refused to second it, and then, on motion of Mr. Julian, the bill and pending amendments were referred to the Committee on Public Lands.
