POLISH.

Large refuse heaps of "slag" are found
Where iron furnaces abound,
Till recently as useless spurned,
But lately to good purpose turned,
For, now this slag is all the go,
To give to steel a brilliant glow;
Its quality to shine now known
Far to exceed all other stone,
Powder to polish, never can
Give brightness to the mind of man;
But polite intercourse we find,
Imparts true lustre to the mind.
Minds once perfected, then display,
By all means, polish in ARRAY;
And those who give this polish are
The famous ARTISTS at the "STAR."

WE ADVERTISE BEST ON THE BACKS OF OUR CUSTOMERS. EVERY GARMENT WE SELL IS A FIRST-CLASS RECOMMENDATION. Therein lies the secret of the long continued and still increasing rush to the "STAR." OUR stock of READY MADE CLOTHING IS IMMENSE, and from it all can be accurately fitted. Piece goods of every variety; Cutters of well-known ability, and all who leave their measure are sure to be pleased. PRICES THE LOWEST IN PHILADELPHIA. Call and be satisfied.

EXTRACT FROM A PATRIOTIC ADDRESS.

"Perish the monster—whom history shudders at, earth abhors, and fiends are ashamed to own as a relative—the wretch who would ruin a country like this, the grand central sun of Liberty, around which all other nations are glad to revolve, and by whose reflected rays they are permitted to shine. But, above the bowling waves of anarchy, and the thunder-blasted rocks of despotism, may the beacon-tower of Freedom perpetually rise, majestic, yet delightful, to each pilgrim's gaze, as are the lofty pinnacles of Tower Hall!"

EVENING BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1866.

☞ Persons leaving the city for the summer, and wishing to have the EVENING BULLETIN sent to them, will please send their address to the office. Price, by mail, seventy-five cents per month.

THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL.

There is some prospect of a thorough reform in the management of the Central High School, and the institution may once more be made a useful one, worth the money it costs to maintain it, and worthy of the pride of the people of Philadelphia. The investigating committee made a report to the Board of Control yesterday, at which, after full debate, a resolution was adopted, by 17 yeas to 9 nays, that the Secretary notify the faculty of the Boys' High School that their term of service will expire on the first day of September next, with the proviso that the resolution does not render any of the present faculty ineligible in the reorganization. This is a perfectly fair and just arrangement. Without taking a partisan view of the difficulty, or assuming that the charges against the principal are all well-founded, it is plain that the High School has not lately fulfilled its mission, and that its usefulness can only be re-established by a thorough change in the management. In this connection we renew our suggestion that endeavors be made to procure for the office of Principal, some one of the many good officers of the army who have been disabled, or who are unable to live on their present pay. There are scores of such gentlemen admirably qualified, and whichever one might be selected would come here free from the jealousies that have heretofore existed.

SKIRTS VERSUS PANTALOONS.

Gotham is greatly exercised over the pantaloons question. A female physician, who appeared on Broadway in a semi-Bloomer costume the other day, was arrested because a crowd gathered to gaze at her, and the officer who made the arrest subsequently got a snubbing for his pains. There are many who are no particular admirers of male apparel upon ladies, any more than they are of millinery fixings upon men; but this is a free country, and everybody enjoys the inalienable right to dress as he or she pleases, provided he or she dresses decently. But there is where the trouble comes in. For a considerable period there has been a growing female fondness for appropriating male attire. First our coats were boldly seized upon, and the ladies' sacques were made to resemble the masculine article so nearly that either the boys or the girls of the family could readily wear the same article upon a pinch. Shirt collars and neck-ties naturally followed coats, and fair throats were speedily embellished with linen and silken decorations that would do credit to the taste of the daintiest wearer of pantaloons upon Chestnut street. Shirt sleeves and cuffs, with sleeve-buttons complete, rendered the metamorphosis entire, and we had a sort of a gentle and fascinating centaur, with a male body resting upon a feminine skirt. The next articles that went by the board were boots, the ladies boldly donning calf-skin continuations from the knee down, and showing their good sense by so doing in bad weather.

Now this figure, with the feet of a man, the skirt of a woman, and the body of a man, so far as external appearances went, was rather incongruous, and the fair dames did themselves much credit by reconciling inconsistencies. The boy's hat, without any compromise nonsense whatever about it, was appropriated, and to make all square and ship-shape, the water-fall was razeed, and the locks thus set free were clipped, brushed and frizetted in a style worthy of a tasteful masculine possessor of a head of first-class Hyperion locks. Skirts still hold their own, and so far as the extremest fashion of the article goes, they might about as well follow suit with the other articles of feminine gear, particularly when the prime object of clothing, to-wit: the concealment of the person, is taken into consideration. Mrs. Dr. Walker is probably only a little in advance of the age, and still keeping the tilting crinoline in view, we incline to the opinion that the latest of all the reforms in female dress will be the greatest.

DICK TURNER.

Dick Turner, the cruel turnkey of Libby Prison, has been set at liberty within a day or two. His offence has been deemed so rank heretofore that he was kept in close confinement within the very walls where he caused so much suffering to the unfortunate Union soldiers under his charge. Indeed, so strict was the Government in the care that was taken of him that a strong cell was constructed especially for his reception, and to obviate the possibility of escape, a sentry was kept constantly on duty outside the cell-door, and the apartment itself was visited by an officer once in every hour of the day and night. But these arrangements were made at a time when treason was considered a crime that should be made odious. Jefferson Davis seems to be almost the only unpardoned prominent rebel now, and unless all signs fail, his liberation is not far distant. About the only people for whom there seems to be no hope of pardon are the consistent Union men of the country, who, having stood by the Government through the great struggle, are not willing to see all the fruits of the great victory of Right over Wrong turned to ashes in the moment of their fruition. Their's is the unpardonable sin.

DAN. RICE.

The local Copperhead organ, in speaking of the fact that Dan. Rice, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Nineteenth district of Pennsylvania, inquires, with fine sarcasm:

"The question is, will not Dan. seriously injure his character by accepting a seat in the House of Representatives?"

To which we most emphatically answer, Yes. Dan Rice was a prominent member of a company of rebel volunteers raised at New Orleans in the early days of the war, and he has never denied the notorious fact. We have ourselves heard him publicly declare that he was at Nashville at the time the secession of the State of Tennessee was determined on, and that "he threw up his hat and hurrahed with the rest of them." This statement he made upon the stage of the Walnut Street Theatre in the presence of hundreds of persons. Dan certainly will injure his character among the Southern traitors and Northern Copperheads by accepting a seat in a House of Representatives composed principally of loyal men.

THE ACADEMY OF THE FINE ARTS.

A recent communication in the BULLETIN, from "An Artist," on the subject of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, has called forth a reply from "Another Artist," which we print in to-day's paper, and ask attention to it. It gives some facts not generally known as to the organization and management of the Academy, and while written in the most loyal and friendly spirit, it admits many deficiencies and imperfections in the institution. All that has appeared in these columns on the subject of the Academy has been designed to benefit it, and to bring about reforms and improvements that shall make it worthy of the city and the State. The communication printed to-day gives some hints as to what may be done in this direction, and it is to the interest of the artists and the public that it should be done as quickly as possible.

A CARD.
Special notice to our old friends and the public generally:
The JONES' One-Price Clothing House, established sixteen years ago, is still in successful operation at the old location, 604 MARKET Street, one door above Sixth, and has not changed its place or manner of doing business, which is exactly the same good old plan in operation for many years, namely—"One Price and no deviation." The Clothing we make is of the most substantial character, both as to materials and workmanship, so that our customers never can complain of either.
Our stock is large or plain or fashionable people can be well suited. Our customers should be careful to get to the right place, as there is no other establishment in the city in our line of business strictly "one-price."

THE
ATLANTIC MONTHLY,
AND
OUR YOUNG FOLKS,
FOR
JULY, 1866.

The Atlantic Monthly
Contains a large variety of interesting articles. "The Case of George Dedlow" presents a most remarkable instance of spiritual manifestation. A paper on "Indian Medicine" has peculiar interest, coming from one whose life among the Indians has fitted him to describe intelligently their superstitions and psychological powers.
Prof. Goldwin Smith contributes a valuable article on Normandy and French politics. Bayard Taylor furnishes a timely and attractive sketch of Rückert, the German poet. Alice Cary commences a charming story of Western life, and Prof. Agassiz gives a most valuable and interesting sketch of the geology of the Amazon valley.
These articles, and others by W. C. Bryant, Mrs. Whitney, James Russell Lowell, C. J. Syrague, H. W. Longfellow, Dr. J. W. Palmer, Charles Reade, Major H. S. Burrage, and Mrs. Stowe, make a very attractive number.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS
Tells of "The Children of the Flood," by Elsie Teller. "Carrie's Shipwreck," by T. W. Higginson: "Among the Studios," by T. B. Aldrich; "Dandelion Down," by Lucy Larcom; "Midsummer," by J. Warren Newcomb, Jr.; "A Summer in Leslie Goldthwaite's Life," by Mrs. Whitney; "Wandering About," by "Carleton;" "The Summer Yellow-Bird and the Cow Blackbird," by T. M. B.; "The Squirrels that Live in a House," by Mrs. H. B. Stowe; "Afloat in the Forest," by Mayne Reid; and some excellent Puzzles, Rebuses, and Enigmas.
