BOSTON BILLIARD MATCH.

From Fortress Monroe. FORTRESS MONROE, June 19.—The miscellaneous statements connected with the release or parole of Jefferson Davis, and even the much agitated question of his failing or improving health, are fast ceasing to be a matter of discussion in this section of the country. With the freedom of the fort granted him, and the consequent relaxation of vigilance over his movements, ceases all the anxiety of an anticipated release or escape, and visitors sojourning temporarily on the point would scarcely be aware of his imprisonment here. In the recently fitted up casemates in the Fortress, designated by General Miles for their accommodation. Davis and his family live far more comfortably than any of the officers of the garrison and their residence by the sea-side is by no means as unpleasant as many persons might imagine.

CITY BULLETIN.

THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE held its regular monthly meeting last evening, in the Lecture Room of their building, as usual.
After the ordinary business, of minutes, reports of committees, &c., had been transacted, the Resident Secretary, Prof. Morton, read his report on Novelties in Science and Art. This opened with an interesting description of the new works for the water supply of Paris, including the aqueduct of the Dhuis and of the Marne, with the re-markable reservoirs at Menilmoutant, which are constructed one over the other, and are both crypts, covered by arches and masonry of the most massive character. These cyclopean vaults were lately illuminated with the electric light during the visit of the municiauthorities before the water was admitted. The upper reservoir is covered with sod, and the water flows into it over ornamental rackwork and among beautiful shrubbery. The upper crypt was built first, and has its arches supported by 590 piers. The lower crypt was excavated under it, and contains 240 piers of the most massive character. Together these reservoirs contain about thirty millions of gallons.

A new sort of graving dock, operated by hydraulic lifts, lately constructed at Liver-pool, was then described, as also some extensive marine structures in progress at Hayre, Bordeaux, and at Marseilles, where the port now contains 225 acres of inclosed water and 5 miles of quay. Account was then given of a new iron bridge over the Moldau, at Sprague, suspended on Mr. Ordish's rigid principle, 820 feet long, with a centre span of 476 feet. A notice followed of the iron bridge over the Connecticut River on the Hartford and New Haven Railroad, which was built into the old wooden bridge while the latter was in use and trains were passing every thirty minutes. The following machines and inventions were then exhibited: An improvement in traction engines, by Theo. Krausch a fruit drying house, by Jasper Billings; a water door for furnaces, by Mr. Burgess a gas purchase tongues, of very solid, con venient and easily adjustable arrangement by Richard Cox, and two calculators by C V. Peale, the one for computing wages other for interest and discount, by which the results of elaborate calculations are ob tainable by mere adjustment and inspection A full description, illustrated by diagrams thrown upon the screen, of great size and with admirable distinctness, was then given of the new photographic lens invented and constructed by J. Tentmeyer, of this city. This lens involves many new principles and applications, and on account of its combined economy and perfection, may well rank as one of the most important scientific inventions of the age. Many interesting facts connect with the history of this invention by Mr. Coleman Sellers, and we feel proud to think that its able and scientific developer is a citizen of our good town. For full details of this important matter we must refer our readers to the next number of the Franklin Institute Journal, in which a complete account wil

Tolton, relative to the establishment of a Government Bureau of Mechanical Examinations and Experi ments was read and referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Fairman Rogers, Henry Morris, Wm. Horsteman, James Whitney, J. V. Murder and Attempted Suicide in New

[From the Worle of this morning.]
The denizens of the Eighth Ward were greatly excited last evening over the news that a murder had been committed in Prince street. Hearing of the affair through the police telegraph, our reporter proceeded to the scene about ten o'clock. On his ar-rival at No. 139 Prince street, he learned that one of the inmates, Miss Kate Smith only twenty-one years of age, had been living a life of ill-fame for some time, and had resided with Mrs. Amanda Cutler, the proprietress, for some months past. Kate had a lover, whom she supported, named Jerry O Brien. When Gen. Sweeny and his gallant host departed for the frontier to in-by the Fenian leaders, Jerry came back to this city, with scarcely any clothes to his back and no money in his pockets. Kate was disgusted at this and summarily dismissed her lover, and sought the affec-tions of a more prudent cavalier. Jerry became greatly enraged at this sudden dismissal, and endeavored to avenge himself by lying in wait for Kate on Saturday night, and struck her in the face, bruising her terribly. Jerry was arrested subsequently on a bench warrant issued by Justice Ledwith, and held to bail to answer the complaint at

Yesterday afternoon, O'Brien proceeded to the house kept by Mrs. Cutler, and sent to the house kept by Mrs. Cutter, and sent up a note asking to see her, but she refused to accord him an interview. He then went to a fish stand and bought a knife, and, in returning to the house, made his way up to the room occupied by Kate. The proprietress, learning this fact, ran up to prevent any violence. As she opened the door, she way that breefing here of the resulting here. any violence. As she opened the utor, sine saw Kate kneeling before O'Brien, and imploring his mercy. When the girl saw Mrs. Cutler she sprang up and after a short struggle succeeded in escaping from her lover, but was quickly pursued by him down steirs.

down stairs. On overtaking her on the first floor, Jerry plunged the knife into the unfortunate girl's back, the blade entering below the right shoulder, inflicting a wound of so severe a nature that she almost immediately expired. As soon as the infuriated man found that he had killed his paramour, he deliberately drew the knife across his own throat, but did not succeed in inflicting a mortal wound.

The Eighth Precinct Police arrested
O'Brien, and his wounds were dressed by Police Surgeon James, and Deputy Coroner Wooster Beach. He was afterwards conveyed to Bellevue Hospital. The body of deceased remains in the house where the deed was committed. Coroner Wildey will hold an inquest to-day at 10 o'clock.

The Fire at Mayaguez. WASHINGTON, June 21st. - Commander Werden, of the United States steamer Bienville, in a communication received by the Navy Department, dated Aspinwall, June 11th, gives the particulars of the fire at Mayaguez, Porto Rico, by which two hundred houses were destroyed. At the request of the Military Governor and the mayor of the town, Commander Werden despatched a force in charge of the executive officer to the assistance of the inhabitants. He encloses copies of two letters from the authorities, saying they will ever hold in most grateful remembrance the important and humane services rendered by the crew in the extinguishment of the fire.

Naval. WASHINGTON, June 21.—Commodore Rogers communicates to the Navy Department the information that the United States steamer Vanderbilt arrived at Acapulco on the 30th of May, with the Monadnock, after a passage of $\frac{1}{2}$ days from Panama. The town, he says, is occupied by the French, with a single vessel, the Lucifer, of $\frac{1}{2}$ guns, lying at anchor before it. The shores of the bay are beleagured by the liberals so that cocca nut groves within cannon shot of the town cannot be safely approached. The coal agent desired the protection of the American flag in glying coal to the Monaduock. "We shall," he says, "probably be detained here for this purpose three or four days, after which I shall proceed to San Francisco, stopping at Magdalena bay to transfer coal from the Vanderbilt to the Monadnock. The average number of knots run per hour by the latter vessel has been 6½ per hour. The greatest distance run steamer Vanderbilt arrived at Acapulco on been 62 per hour. The greatest distance run in one day being 154 and the least 147 knots.

XXXIXth Congress-First Session. [House—Continued from the Third Edition.]
The Committee on Appropriation had prepared a bill for its proper distribution and reported it several months since; and though that was within the knowledge of the Secretary, he had since gone, and without regard to it, distributed the $225,000 as he thought proper. He moved the ref-erence of the bill to the Committee on Appropriations. The motion was lost: yeas 41, nays 76, and the bill was read twice, recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Latham (Cal.), from the Committee on Printing, reported a resolution for printing 50,000 extra copies of the reports of the Committee on Reconstruction. On motion of Mr. Boutwell (Mass.) the resolution was amended so as to require the majority and minority reports to be bound together, and

On motion of Mr. Stevens (Pa.), it was amended so as to make the number one hundred thousand. As so amended the resolution was passed -yeas 91, nays 23.
