of a "card tional Union, at Washington, within a indignities by Davis's subordinates, day or two. The "gentleman by birth, during his brief career of treason, and education and culture" goes on to say that he is willing to enter into a partnership with some other gentleman, provided the latter has capital, and he is even willing to accept a situation in the office of some other gentleman yet, provided the arrangement can be made satisfactorily lucrative to gentleman No. 1.

A gentleman by birth! And what is a gentleman by birth in a land like ours? It is a fair presumption that the advertiser is one of those fine Virginia gentlemen, who, like Dogberry, has had losses. He probably went to wreck with the fallen ortunes of the Confederacy, and his genility consists principally in his mainteince of slavery as a divine institution nd in his devotion to treason as a States ight. The journal in which the card ppears, the locality in which it is ublished, and the sickening twaddle bout "gentleman by birth," are all elouent of the Old Dominion.

A gentleman by birth! How can a man a gentleman by birth in a land where ere are no distinctions of rank, and now at slavery is at an end, where there e no distinctive classes in the eye of the w? We have had some pretty promi-

int specimens of American gentlemen iom not only our own people but the orld at large have deemed an honor to ankind and passable gentlemen. Benamin Franklin was the son of a tallowchandler and of course not a gentleman by birth; Roger Sherman was hardly a gentleman by birth, because in his early life he earned a living by making loes; Henry Clay could not have been gentleman by birth, for he was the son a very poor man and when a boy he cried grist to the mill; Andrew in, for his father was a poor dless Irish farmer, and his mother hat have acquired whatever of the fatleman he has about him, for he was only a fuller's apprentice in early life; Abraham Lincoln, as noble a gentleman in heart, in feeling and in instinct as ever breathed, was not born to this rank, for he was the son of a poor, toiling backwoodsman; and the present President of the United States, having first seen the light in a log-cabin, and having earned his bread by his shears and his needle in early life, was not only achieve gentleness until he had made considerable progress in the journey of were not "born gentlemen."

A man can no more be born a gentle- cowardly, mean and drivelling to make there is no necessity for any particular sympathy with the man who is morally and legally responsible for the sufferings inflicted upon our officers and soldiers. But what are the facts? The testimony of officers at Fortress Monroe, quite as deserving of credit as Dr. Craven, is in direct conflict with his statement. It is susceptible of proof, which would satisfy any one but a confirmed copperhead or rebel, that on the very day after Davis was ironed, he complained that he could not sleep, and the key of his shackles was placed in his own keeping; he took them off with his own hands, and with his own hands put them on again in the morning! Dr. Craven takes very good care not to mention this most essential fact, but he will scarcely have the temerity to deny it. The whole purpose of his book is to manufacture sympathy for Davis, and to put money in his own purse, and he appears to be not over particular about the means by which he attains these noble ends.

STILL HABPING.

The local Copperhead organ of this morning furnishes a strong case of "Nigger on the brain." There are several articles devoted exclusively to the colored individual, and there is scarcely a column outside of the advertising department, that the irrepressible darkey does not loom up in. A rough count gives the following result: The words "negro" and "negroes" occur ten times; the words "slavery" and "slaves" occur seven times, and the word "abolition" occurs four times. This is certainly a little strong for such hot weather, and particularly when coming from a party that is (ckson was not born a gentle- so fond of throwing the "nigger" in other people's teeth.

Is the Copperhead party so badly s a linen weaver; Millard Fillmore off that it has no principles left it except the dead and gone issue of the maintenance of a defunct institution? Has it no higher aim than the persecution of a humble race of men who in this land never harmed even their bitterest oppressors? Has it no loftier object than finding excuses for traitors and rebels and the uttering of wicked slanders against every loyal and true man? During the war the Northern Copperhead party did all in its power to aid the cause of treason, and now that loyalty at born a gentleman, but he did not and fidelity to the laws have gained the ascendancy, this same organization is striving to render worthless the fruits These are only a few among the that were earned at so great a cost. many notable instances of American Bold men, men of intelligence, men of men winning station and renown who brilliant parts have been traitors and sympathizers with treason; but it is
