MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE; Herman Otto Hille, aged fifteen years, who has been employed at No. 119 Maiden lane for some years past, has been missing since last Sa turday. under the following circumstances: About two o'clock on that day, Hille, who has always possessed the confidence of his employers, was sent to collect and deposit and thirty dollars, one hundred and eighty dollars of which sum was in gold, and the Dalance in currency. He called at the Bank of New York, and, having transacted his business according to his instructions, left for the Metropolitan Bank, at which place he did not, however, make his appearance, nor has he since been heard from. No suspicions of dishonesty on his part are entertained by his employer. In the morning he had deposited $27,000, and was to have been intrusted with $10,000 for a further deposit upon his return from the bank that afternoon. He resided with his mother in Bergen street, Brooklyn. It is not thought probable that he has been foully dealt with, yet the circumstances attending the case are very strange. The police are now actively engaged in endeavoring to dis-pel the darkness which involves the affair. Five hundred dollars reward is offered for any information that may lead to his re covery. He is five feet four inches in height prown curly hair, heavy black eye lashes sallow complexion, and had on when last seen a black and white mixed suit and brown felt hat.-N.Y. Herald.

Army will make its next movement.

Gen. Porto Alegre's division, the second of the Allied Army, was, by the last tidings from that region, close to the river bank, having its headquarters at the village of St as. It would cross into Paraguay in Thom a few days. The flotilla to help in its passage was about to start from Pasoda Pairia A passenger lately arrived at Buenos Avre from that quarter reports that a portion of Porto Alegre's forces had attacked the Island of Itapira, where the Paraguayans had a force of 2,400 men; that the latter, after a few shots had been exchanged, had ooisted a parliamentary flag, and that Baron Porto Alegre had despatched some officer across the river to treat with the Paraguava commanding officer for a surrender garrison. This, of course, is very doubtful, and as the steamer in which the said passen-ger came left while the firing was going on, no more information could be obtained.

President Lopez has ordered a division of 5,000 men to Itapira to re-inforce the garri son at that ford, which is said to be already composed of 2,600 infantry, six pieces of artillery, one steamer and fourteen flat boats.

It appears that the Dictator of Paraguay has divined that the Brazilian division wil try to cross at Itapira, or Traquera do Soreto just below. These two fords have been examined, and the latter chosen as the safest.

By all the information to be obtained here from military and naval officers engaged i this war, the Allied Army and Navy ar desperately enthusiastic at the prospect neeting the enemy very soon, not so much I fear, for the fighting that will ensue as for the hope they all entertain of soon leaving the abominable country they are in.

A systematic opposition has been waged against the present Cabinet for the last two months, by the two Houses of Parliament with, as many suppose, very little reason and the Ministry having been defeated, th day before yesterday, by a small majority in a vote taken, they have demanded a fusion of both Houses, and it is expected that this will occur about the 5th or 6th inst I trust it will be for the better, but really there is very little prospect of any improve ment resulting from it. Notwithstanding this slight Ministerial crisis, there is no pro this slight Ministerial Grange taking place among the chief officers of State. On the 31st ult. a grand display of the different religious Orders (Catholic) of this city took place in honor of St. George. It was attended by the Emperor and his son-in-law, Count d'Eau, holding the two first rods of pallium which covered the Host carried by the Archbishop. The appearance of the windows in the streets through which the procession had to be the streets through which the procession had to pass was very bril-llant, they being filled with thousands of ladies, and decorated with the richest damask and silk curtains, Prof. Agassiz, the naturalist, continued his course of lectures on the River Amazon to the entire satisfaction of crowded house Last week the German and Swiss resident of this city had a torchlight procession in conor of the Professor: it was the first thin of the kind seen here, and considered by a a fine turnout. Having stopped under M Agassiz's window, the German gles old (Liedertafel) sang four beautiful choruses after which the Professor, in a very pretty little speech, thanked them heartily for their unexpected demonstration. I was shown last night the contract entered into between the Brazilian Minister of Agriculture and the American line of packets, for the purpose of granting a free pas-sage to all Americans desiring to settle in Brazil. All those desirous of emigrating should avail themselves of the golden oppor tunity. The International Emigration So ciety of this city will afford them free or some time, when the opposition, o Colorado, attempted to overthrow the former by force of arms. Inis, by usen, a could not successfully do, so, in an under-hand-way, Brazil helped it into power. For what reason this was distasteful to Lopez, the President of Paraguay, is not former by force of arms. This, by itself, it shown, but the fact is, he declared his intention to help Uruguay to recover its loat government, and immediately declared war against the party in power, and Brazil its backer. At this juncture it was found necessary to pass troops across one of the States of the River Plate. Proper application was made to the Buenos Avre overnment, which saw fit to deny the privilege. Later on it allowed Brazil to pass on the river with its iron clads. Lopez at once passed his army across Argentine territory, which brought about the triple alliance, so-called.

After months of war the allied armies have won a few victories, and have to-day possession of part of the territory of Para-guay, attempting to take the stronghold o Humaita. Our last accounts are that a body of Paraguayans surprised Lopez, the Montevideo General, and came near bagging bim and the vanguard of the army; but the fight of a Brazilian battalion brought up the main body to prevent a complete route. Thus the question stands. Lopez is no doubt much weakened, and his losses have Lopez is no been great, yet he don't seem to be at all scared. And so the game of cross purposes goes on. Brazil fights against the Blanco Party, but does not against Uruguay—Para-guay against the Colorado Party, but not against Uruguay, either—and Brazil, River Plate and Uruguay fight against Lopez, but

The end will probably be that Lopez and his amie, Madame Lynch, will find an asylum in some foreign nan-of-war, and sail for that paradise of American politicians, Europe; and Brazil and the River Plate States will establish a semi-protectorate over Paraguay.

The money and banking question con-tinues to create excitement. Many failures have taken place lately in the commercial world.

vorld, Besides the war with Paraguay, much excitement exists in Montevideo with regard to the Spanish war on the Pacific, and public opinion, as well as that of the Government, leans every day more and more to-ward the side of the Pacific Republics.

A newspaper was started a few days ago in Montevideo named the Republican, but which held very peculiar Republican notions. The people didn't like it, and they rose en masse and destroyed it. The Peruvian iron-clads have been raising quite a dust here, too. They arrived at Ric in the early part of April, and after repairs to one of them, they sailed southward, with private orders. They next were heard of in the neighborhood of Maldonado, a small village on the River Plate, about seventy miles from Montevideo. After having caught three vessels (Spanish), one of which they burned and two carried away with them, they entered the port and shipped some men. The authorities placed no diffi-culties in their way.

There are many Spanish vessels in Monevideo, ready to sail, but which do not dare leave the port; also three or four men-of-war (Spanish) in the same fix. I have it from good authority that the ron-clads, led by an English coal vessel for their use, have gone direct to the Straits. It is not improbable that the Spanish fleet may meet them there. In Montevideo we have the United States vessels Juniata and Brooklyn.

A PAUPER, named Nick, 67 years of age, committed suicide by hanging himself from the fourth story balusters in the almshouse at Salem, Mass., last week,

The city of Mexico is to be surrounded by a dyke, which will guard it from inunda authorized to establish a line of steamers between Vera Cruz and New Orleans, There will be two trips per month, and $2,000 per round voyage is the Government compensation. Next month will see the line in operation. The Capital has been rejoicing at the inau guration of the railroad of San Angel, which took place with much pomp. The latest papers from Venezuela boast greatly of the gold mines, which they insist are richer than those of California, and although worked in - a rude manner, the yield is highly lucrative, and so abundant hat $14 in silver will purchase an ounce of gold. Negotiations as to the entry of foreign capital and labor are now in progress. A letter from Laguayra says that the question of war,with Spain had ceased to settled the matter by declaring that Venezuela had no motive for hostilities, as the war in the Pacific was concerning a question of dignity, and not of independence. The Government of St. Domingo is now in the hands of a triumvirate composed of Pimental, Luperon and Garcia. It is need-less to say that such repeated convulsions cause all lovers of order to despair of better davs.

In Havana we have no news of import ance. The death of Sama, the rich merchant, who of late years was honored with the title of Marquis of Marianao, one or two affairs of honor, and the removal of the "Intendente" of the Treasury are topics of the day. The new Chief of the Treasury is already known here, having for some years been the Chief Judge of the Island.

SUSPICIOUS,-This morhing, about halfpast three o'clock, a young colored man named Nathaniel Hopkins, formerly a member of the 127th Regiment U. S. C. T. was found in an alley in the neighborhood of Ninth and Lombard streets. He had in his possession an old cleaver, a razor blade and a shirt and coat. A spoon he broke in half, and threw away a portion which had the letters "I. P. W." on it. Ten pawn tickets cilling for spoons and clothing were also a find on him. New Jersey Matters. THE FIRE DEPARTMENT. The provi ions of the new ordinance recently passe by the City Council, reorganizing the Fire Department of Camden, appear to be working in a satisfactory manner. The companies designated in the ordinance as com posing the new organization are wel pleased with the arrangements, and are making all necessary preparations to work harmoniously. They are determined that harmoniously. They are determined that so far as each company is concerned, and as individual members of each company, the provisions of the ordinance shall be car-ried out to the very letter. The different companies had a good supply of equipments, and by the assistance of the council, they are adding new ones, in order that by the time the organization is completed, the new Fire Department may be in a better and more efficient condition than it has ever before been. This is what has long been needed, and the citizens hall is with gratification. One of the requirements of the ordinance is, that the companies shall purge their houses from all loafers and lodgers and hangers on about their apparatus, in order to acquire a membership that has an interest in the safety of property from fires. The Camden firemen cannot fail to feel a pride in this and thus be stimulated to ackieve the proud and support of the citizens. And this they cannot fail to do, if they faithfully abide by the provisions of the ordinance.

QUIETNESS.-The quietness of the public oe in Camden is now remarkatly obervable. The many burglaries and attempted housebreaking appears to have given place to a lull, and the eitizens are enjoying an immunity from such anno ances of the most gratifying character. I efficient organization of the police force no doubt, greatly contributed towa effecting this condition of things.

RAILBOAD MATTERS .- To- morrow turday) the Camden and Atlantic Rail a Company place their express on the or between Camden and Atlantic City. between cameen and Atantus only, runs through in two hours.
