FROM THE SOUTH.

A Month among the Freedmen and their Schools.

[Correspondence of the Phila Evening Bulletin.] CHARLESTON, June 15, 1866 .-- It would be a curious calculation to ascertain how much of the life of a Southern man is spent in waiting. I may safely say that of every week here, three days have been sacrificed simply in waiting for means of transportation. We made an early start from St. Helena in order to reach Beaufort in time for the 4 P. M. boat from Savannah to Charleston. Four e'clock came but with it no boat; five, six, eight, ten, eleven passed, and at last the steam whistle shrieked its shrill "adsum." We made haste to go aboard, wearied out with the most unprofitable of wearinesswaiting-crept into our berths, and after a quiet night's rest, waked up, surely at Obarleston, for the vessel was in port. Imagine our disgust to find the morning sun oking brightly down on Beaufort, and we still lying in dock, waiting. Nothing of interest marked the day on board the "Lizzie Baker," (for sea sickness is not interesting.) except perhaps an account of Mrs. Jefferson Davis and her plans given me by an old family servant, who still remains faithful in adversity. He was on his way from Washington, where he had let Mrs. Davis, with a commission to make arrangements for opening a summer Sulphur ansisboarding house, which to keep at a Sulphur spring near Macon, Ga. In reply to questions he spring stated that Mr. Davis was expected home about the middle of July; that Mrs. Davis was not much afraid of any harm coming to him. He disclaimed the idea of their poverty, and described the van, a sort of ane on wheels, in which, whilst President of the Confederacy, Mr. Davis sent, from time to time, gold and silver coin to Cuba and elsewhere. He added that Mrs. Davis was obliged to conomise until she could get her hashand away out of the country, where they would not want. I give the story for what it is worth; the narrator evidently lieved it.

About 4 P. M. we reached Charleston and the capture of Jefferson Davis was told algher, and Schuylkill Navigation Freierred was them, My informant said: "Hardly had better. Coal and Oll stocks were very heavy. In the words passed my lips, when the whole Passenger Railway shares the only sale was of Her most difficult social problem now being worked out at the South." In an interesting enoversation with a the words passed my lips, when the whole school room was darkened with caps Charleston gentleman, on the future pros-perity of the country, he remarked : "The South can never be developed with free and bonnets thrown into the air, a wild hurrab succeeded and by a sudden inspiralabor. PROSPECTS FOR LEAGUE ISLAND. Opposition to the Tariff Bill,

THE EAST INDIA SQUADRON.

From Washington. ecial Despatch to the Bulletin.?

[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, June 29.—The adverse re port on the proposed site at Portland, Me., for a basin for iron-clads, will aid the loca tion of a yard at League Island, now before the Senate.

Great exertions were made last night and this morning by the free-traders to array the Western representatives against the proposed increase of the tariff on iron and steel, which will be decided in the House to-day. Gen. Geary was on the floor of the House to day. General Cameron has invited a party o

Senators to visit him at Lochiel on Sunday.

[Correspondence of the Associated Press.] WASHINGTON, June 27,-The President has approved the bills to provide for the revision and consolidation of the statutes, making further provisions for the establishmont of an armory and arsenal of construc-tion, deposit and repairs on Rock Island, and to establish a land office in the territory of Idaho. The Navy Department to-day received despatches from Acting Rear Admiral Bell, commanding the East India Squadron, dated Hong Kong, April 28th, in which he says: The Wyoming had visited Ningpo and Shanghai, and was at the latter place on the 18th of that month. On the 3d of April the Admiral proceeded with his ship and the Admiral proceeded with his anp and the Relief and the Wachnestt, up the Canton river, and having, uchored the two former vessels at Whampon, the latter was directed to anchor off the city of Santon, which has been known hitherto as the store truculent city of all China; and on the by he went up to that city and having hoisting is far on to that city, and, having hoisted is flag on board of the Wachusett, requested an in-terview with the Governor-General of the two quarantine provinces in order to satisfy his own eves that the United States have re-established their naval squadron on that coast, though in peace and good-will, as he said, towards the Chinese who had as no said, towards the childese who have honorably maintained their neutrality during the late rebellion in our country. His Excellency manifested the best dis-position toward our country and country-men, and returned the Admiral's visit on board the Wachusett, although it rained heavily, all the time, seeming much interested in her armament. He was gratified to observe that the people of Canton, and the bigh officials also have materially changed their arrogant demeanor towards foreigner since he saw them last in 1858, to a respect ful and even friendly deportment. The Admiral says he returned in the Hart-ford on the 12th of April to Hong Kong, and there received intelligence of a rupture be-tween the United States Consul at Nieuchwong, situate in the Northern part of the Gulf of Pichili, and the dubabitants thereof, He recalled the Wachusett from Canton. and despatched here on the 15th, under Commander Townsend, with instructions to proceed to that port and inquire into the facts of the case, and to give the necessary protection. On his way thither he was to chr Trade Wind, Clark, at Ponce, PR. 12th inst. for touch at Shanghai, and to confer with th United States Consul-General, Mr. Seward, and extend to him such facilities as convenient to Commander Townsend. Reurning, he will touch at all the open ports. The Relief, from Whampos, anchored at Hong Kong, on the 23th of April. The crews of the several vessels of the squadron are in good health.

The Fenian Prisoners, The Fenian Prisoners, BHFFALO June 20.—A special despatch to the Courier from Canandaigna, dated lest night, says: Ti Graud Jury presented indictments against the follow line Fenian prisoners, this atternoop: John O'Neil, Owen Starr. About 4 P. M. we reached Charleston and drove to the Mills Honse, where we dined from a bill of fare of "New York beef," "New York mutton," "New York veal," "Bucks county, Pa. chickens;" the only native dish seeming to be "bacon," which here means every form of flesh of swine, Before the war I had many warm friends in Charleston. I questioned within myself whether coming as one of the conquerers of whether, coming as one of the conquerors a necessary witness to their humiliation. I would be welcomed. I ventured however to send my card to one whose good opinion I had valued much in past days. Within the hour he called and not only was his greeting hearty and withoutembarrassmen but every day of my stay in Charleston was rendered more agreeable by his kind atten-tions. By this means I conversed with some of the leading Charleston gentlemen, and listened to expressions of opinion given more frankly perhaps than before the "Com mittee of Fifteen."

I thought I had grown accustomed though not hardened, to stories of ruined families On the islands I had been among the de-serted homes; here I heard the tales from the fugitives themselves and found my hear still alive to pity. It is impossible for those living in comfortable Northern homes to conceive of what the war has been to these people-to imagine an entire community impoverished. My friend's story is one of many similar, related to me in Charleston. At the breaking out of the rebellion he was the owner of three plantations and five hundred negroes. After our possession of the Sea Islands, finding that his two sea side plantations would be exposed to pillage from both armies, he himself put the torch to bit out on the set of the set of the torch to his cotton bales and barns filled with rice and looked on whilst $200,000 worth of his worldly possessions perished.

He then sent his slaves to the interior to live upon his third plantation, where, until Sherman and the emancipation proclamation passed that way, they remained, raising berely enough eorn to keep themselves. My friend filled the post of chief engineer of the defences of Charleston, and after its evacuation, fought under General Johnston until his surrender. About the time of the surrender there was seized by the rebel army a wagon-load of Confederate silver, which was following of Confederate silver, which was following in the wake of the flying President. Gen, Johnston ordered it to be divided amongst his unpaid soldlers, officers and privates, whare and share alike. The result was one dollar and fifteen cents in every man's pocket. With his cotton destroyed, his slaves freed, and his Confederate money walneless my friend hagen the world again valueless, my friend began the world again on one dollar and fifteen cents., In order to carry his family from their place of refuge arry his hamily from their place of refuge in the high country, he was obliged to sell clothing, bed and blankets. Arrived at Charleston, he presented himself at the door of his house—a handsome house on the Buttery. A dozen black heads, great and small, thrust from every window greeted him. Fifteen negro families were in posses-

The Bureau returned the house, but imagine in what condition! With the ald of Northern capital my friend is now working one of his cotton plantations. He contracted with most of his old servants for fifteen dollars a month, rations of pork, grits and molasses, and the privilege of a school, which are the usual terms. The negroes which are the usual terms. The negroes will not sign a contract that does not insure the right of education to their children. The employer expects either our Northern orga-mizations or the negroes themselves to Baintain the school The Superintendent of Schools, under the open her public schools, and even at the last meeting of the Legislature she voted herself still too poor to teach her children, so that the Bureau feels justified in retaining possession of the public school buildings until such time as the State desires to resume the use of them, when they will be turned over to the proper authorities. In the mean time the Morris street school has under instruction one thousand colored pupils. Mr. Sumner, a nephew of Mr. Charles Sumner, of the U. S. Senate, is principal, assisted by fourteen New England women. The building is five stories high. On each floor is a large central hall, fitted out with beautiful appointments. The

Surely, the Yankee woman is a God-made teacher; there is a system, a thoroughness, a sort of steel-trap spring about their mode of instruction, which is ir-resistible. Every child here seemed strung up to its highest tension through mere force of sympathy. Tirm.

Despatches have also been received from Acting Rear Admiral Godon, commanding the squadron on the coast of Brazil. They are dated May 18. The Kansas, he says, has returned from a successful visit to the Falkland Islands, and will leave in a few lays for Buenos Ayres. The Juniata is now there, but will be shortly sent to Rio to take the place of the Shamokin, whose repairs being completed, she will be ordered there. The Nipsic has also just ar-rived after a cruise of some two months going as far as Bahia. The Shawmut wil sail in two days for St. Catharine's to attend to some small matters connected with deserters from our merchant vessels who are induced to enter the Brazillan service by offers of high bounty. The Dacotah left for the Facific early in May. The Admiral says, "We passed, going up and down the Uruguay, we passed, going up and down the Uruguay river, at anchor near the small towns and saladeros along its bank, not less than seventy or eighty vessels, English, French, Dutch and Itai-ian, but not one American. In ian, but not one American. In fact few Americans are to be met with anywhere on the river. Our four years of war will account for this. I hope the enterprising spirit of our people will soon change this state of things, as the trademust be very profitable, and no doubt a large part of the produce from the river reaches our ports in foreign bottoms." Despatches announcing the arrival at Queenstown of the Monitor Miantonomiah with the vessels accompanying, have been received at the Navy Department. The passage was made in eleven days and ten bours. The average run per day was one hundred and sixty-eight miles. The pro-

The heavy weather did not appear to af-fect the Monitor either in speed or rolling, for while the other vessels were lurching about and their progress checked by heavy seas, she went along comparatively undis-turbed or unchecked. The Monongahela arrived at St. Thomas on the 19th of June.
