Miscellaneous News Items. -- Saturday last, while the steamer Sea Bird was at her dock in Manitowoc, passenger came on Board, giving his name as M. L. Fairbanks. The passenger took dinner, and afterwards could not be found, dinner, and afterwards could not be found, although a thorough search of the boat was made for him. Captain McHenry fears that he fell overboard. His description answers to that of Mr. M. L. Fairbanks, a young man who formerly lived in this city, and was a clerk in the bookstore of Ford & Fairbanks. He has lately been traveling for a cloth house in New York, and has been doing well.—Milipaukee Wisconsin.

doing well.—Milwaukee Wisconsin. IMPORTANT LITIGATION.-A Mr. Isaac Crombie, of Louisville, Ky., died about a year ago and left by will $80,000 in behalf of the Louisville Presbyterian Orphan Asylum; but as the proper name of the institution was not specified in the will, the word "Asylum" having been used instead of "Home," the heirs at law have taken steps to prevent the payment of the legacy. The intent of the devisor being obvious, it is hoped by those interested, that equity will assign the institution the amount.

POSTMASTERS APPOINTED.—The President yesterday appointed the following Postyesteray appointed the long reserving Tost-masters: Nehemiah Dunn, Salem, New York. Joseph Davis, Albany, New York. C. Hyde Beckwith, Cazenova, New York.

C. Hyde Beckwith, Cazenova, New York. William S. Cook, Paris, Illinois. James G. Hatchett, Frankford, Kentucky. J. J. Thomas, Newport, Kentucky. William A. Trower, Shelbyville, Illinois. Fred. S. McNeely, Newtown, New Jersey. Joseph B. Oliver, Rahway, New Jersey.

Singular.—The schooner-smack Alert Haley, of New London, Conn., arrived in the latter part of September, at Pensacola, Fla., where she was quarantined for fitteen days. At the expiration of that time she was boarded, and all hands were found dead. Nothing is said with regard to the cause of death, but the probability is that it was cholers.

We have it on the authority of the Edinburgh Review that the novels of this gifted authores were "published at the expense of the Queen." The same authority remarks. "Hence it reignt have been foretold, that of the various kinds of novels, the romantic and descriptive was the least repugnant to the old Spanish spirit, and that in order for a writer suicessfully to undertake such a novel, it would be necessary for him to have a passionate attachment to the national manners and characteristics, and a corresponding dislike to the foreign and new, such are the qualities we find united in the anthor of this work. "The Low Resuly is perhaps the finest stery of the cuthor. Its advent is a real literary event. The most severe critics have dissected this new work, and have unheedstatingly proclaimed the authores to be the Spanish writers. We are certain to find there truth, joined to a richness and piquancy of det ills and, above all, a spirited tone, which singularly neighteus and sate off their rectain." THE STORY OF RAILZABETH.
