THE CATHOLIC COUNCIL:

Instructions from the Papal See to the American Bishops.

The following is a translation of two Latin letters of Cardinal Barnabo, Prefect of the Propaganda, to Archbishop Spalding, of Baltimore, in reference to the Council now in session :

Most Illustrious and Most Reverend Sir-The bishops of the United States, having The bisnops of the United States, naving been prevented by public disturbances from holding a council in 1862, and having ob-tained permission from our Holy Father to hold it now, inasmuch, especially, as the tempest of civil war being assuaged, it seemed proper that such matters should be brought forward and discussed as might lead to uniformity of discipline, so far as that could be obtained, and to the greater advancement of the Catholic cause; and, above all else, that remedies might be ap-plied to the evils which almost of necessity arise from such serious disturbances, and that proper means might be devised for atthat proper means might be devised for at-tending to the welfare of the emancipated blacks; his Holiness was pleased that since the duty of calling together and presiding over this Synod was committed to your Grace, certain particulars should be pointed out to you by this source compression which out to you by this saved congregation which either the institutes of this holy Council or the decrees of former Synods commend among others to the careful consideration of the bishops, of the bishops. I. In the first place, therefore, the fathers will bear in mind the Encyclical Letter ad-dressed to all the bishops of North America on the 21st of January, 1861, in which, be-sides the old rules laid down by former councils, some new and excellent regula-tions were adopted, in order that the nomi-nations of priests to vacant bishoprios might prove in most cases wholly unexcep-tionable. Indeed the fathers of this Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda have ob-served during the last few years that the second during the last few years that in the propagand notices of the most deserving priests, the holding of meetings for discussing the merits of candidates; and the propagation do finguiry for ascerfor allocusing the merits of candulates, and the proposed method of inquiry for ascer-infility their qualifications, have not always begin, observed on Nevertheless, considering the innumber of the times, they ascribed this period the value of the times, they ascribed this period the value of the times, they ascribed this period the value of the times, they ascribed this period the value of the times, they ascribed this them hes, to settle these various questions concerning the number of festivals and fasts. If they determine to establish a greater uniformity in this matter between the dif-ferent churches, let them bear in mind what was prescribed by the Propaganda in its in-structions to the Plenary Council of Balti-more held in 1852. For when the father he more held in 1852. For when the fathers by their 25th decree resolved to request of his Holiness that the festivals might be reduced in number of four at most, namely, the Nati-vity, the Ascension, the Assumption and All Saints; and the days of fasting and abstinence should be the same as those ob-served in the Southern dioceses, the fasts on the six Fridays of Advent being abolished; the six Fridays of Advent being aboutshed; the Sacred Congregation resolved that to the festivals should be added the days of the Circumcision and the Immaculate Concep-tion, and admonished the bishops that in establishing uniformity of discipline as to the feasts and fasts of the Church they should not conform all to those who observe should not conform all to those who observe but few; nor ought the efforts of the fathers to tend toward making discipline uniform in such things as differ widely from the universal observance of the Church, by which versal observance of the Unurca, by which means the appearance of a sort of national church would be created; but they should be directed toward bringing back by de-grees to the strictness of the universal discipline the rules which had been indulgently

VI. Insamuch as it is of the utmost im-portance to secure the property of the Church, the fathers of preceding American synods, considering the condition of the United States, enjoined earnestly upon the bishops to take diligent care of the safety of bishops to take diligent care of the salety of such property, and whenever possible to place it under the protection of the civil authority. In the fourth canon of the seventh synod of Baltimore, especially, it was decreed that "all churches and other ecclesiastical property which, whether acwas decreed that "all churches and other ecclesiastical property which, whether ac-quired by gift or by the offerings of the faithful, are devoted to charitable or reli-gious uses belong to the bishop, unless it appear, by documents, that they may have been left to some regular order or congre-gation of priests for their own nse." Not-withstanding these rules, often as they have been called to mind by the Sacred Congre-gation; many-disputes have arisen, espe-cially between the bishops and regulars, respecting the tile to church property. The fathers will; therefore, take measures to put an end to such disputes, and will suffer an end to such disputes, and will suffer neither the rights of the Church nor of the regular orders to be infringed upon. VII. It will also be very pleasing to the Sacred Congregation if in the approaching Council careful attention be given to regu-lating the state of certain dioceses. Al-though in accordance with the request of the Plenary Council of Baltimore in 1853 several new Episcopal sees were erected, ye the number of the faithful in those widel the number of the faithful in those widely separated regions has increased so rapidly that it seems proper, again to consult as to this matter. The Sacred Congregation has been informed that the extent of territory embraced in the Diocese of Dubuque is so great that it is extremely difficult for the embraced in the Diocese of Dubuque is so great that it is extremely difficult for the Bishop to watch over his flock, and espe-cially to give due watchfulness to his clergy, and that it is therefore expe-dient to think of dividing it. Some have also besought for the erection of a new vicariate in the vast tarifore have also besought for the erection of a new vicariate in the vast territory called Montans, in the Rocky Mountain region, the greater partof which is now sub-ject to the vicariate of Nebraska. It is said indeed that there are innumerable Catholics in that part of the country who never see a priest and have ho churches, and for whose necessities neither the vicar apostolic nor the nearest bishops are able, owing to the great distance, to provide. Moreover the Sacred Congregation is informed that a con-troversy exists respecting the vicariate of British Columbia, and that it seems donbt-ful to which Metropolitan that territory is to acquire a fortune. After his death, Lockwood of Philadelphia bought the paper-collar patent from the widow. The original patent granted to Mr. Hunt was for a collar manufactured from a combination of paper and muslin, and that gentleman, in his application, distinctly says that paper collars were previously in use, and that all he claims is the introduction of the muslin. As early as 1832, and from that time to the present, paper collars and cuffs have been worn, but no patent was issued previous to the one granted to Mr. Hunt. Mr. Lockwood has had the patent re-newed several times, and each time has claimed more than Mr. Hunt ever contemplated, until now it is asserted that the old original patent covers not only paper and muslin collars but collars made of paper alone. Mr. Lockwood, and several other gentlemen engaged in the business, merged their interests and formed the "Union Paper Collar Company," and under this name have notified other dealers that they claimed a monopoly of the business Suits have been commenced against several manufacturers, and retail dealers have been warned against selling collars of any other make than theirs. The Union Company is understood to have licensed twelve persons to manufacture their collars, promising to suppress all infringements of their rights within three months. The three months have nearly elapsed, and although legal steps have been taken looking to that end, no other manufacturers have yet been suppressed. Yesterday a number of the paper collar manufacturers met at the store of Mr. S. W. H. Ward, No. 389 Broadway for the purpose of completing an Asso for the purpose of completing an Asso-ciation and raising funds to defend all suits brought against themselves or cus-tomers by the Union Company. These gentleman deny the validity of any paper collar patent which does not recognize muslin as one of the component parts of the collar, and are resolved to ight the Union Company on that line. Mr. Ward presided, and Mr. Blossom asted as Secretary. The Committee of five, upon which was devolved the task of drafting articles of association, reported a constitution which was adopted. Thia document provides for an Association to be governed by seven directors, who are to choose a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. The Associa-tion is pledged not only to defend all suits brought by the Union Company against other manufacturers and dealers, against other manufacturers and dealers, but to "carry the war into Africa" by prosecuting that Company for Injuring the business of the others. An initiation fee of $300 is charged,
