MEN change their skies, but not their stomachs, when they cross the seas. No pen can do natice to the agonies which must be endured by Bosonians when they find themselves condemned to pass whole weeks in Paris without the slightest hope of getwhole weeks in Farls without the signless hope of get-ting at a mess of pork and beans, or a glass of molas-ses and water, or a handful of popped corn, or a dish of pickled cucumbers, or a white pie, or so much as a bit of 'chewing gum," or a "cardamom seed." So says a New York paper. We may add that the most severe deprivation to a Philadelphian abroad would be the want of Alter's coal sold at 357 North Ninth street, and Sixth and Spring Gardan Streets.
