

POLITICAL.

JUDICIAL. JUDGE KELLEY IN LINDENWOOD.—Hon. Wm. D. Kelley recently made a speech at Bloomington, Illinois. The Parkersburg says: It may be well to state that his central idea, the thought he strove most to fix in mind, was the unparalleled deceit and great wickedness of Andrew Johnson. This once understood, the rest follows. The people will quietly allow the President to destroy the liberties of the nation. He declared that Andrew Johnson means to be something more than a President. This startling fact has been before commented upon, but the public are not wide enough awake to it, and a man of Judge Kelley's knowledge of political affairs, as a necessity to arouse the people to a full sense of the danger of our position. The Judge advanced, in proof, several points which ran nearly all through his speech, and by their making such a chain of evidence, these formed, perhaps, the chief fascination of his effort. Before his inauguration, but after his election, Johnson declared, in the presence of Mr. Mercer, editor of the Nashville Times, and several other gentlemen, that if he should be President he would perpetrate himself in the office. His talk on his late tour indicated that such an idea is still in his mind. His threats against Congress are aimed not at the men composing it, but against the representatives of the people, and, as such, are ominous. Mr. Kelley stated his belief that the late questions in the Senate, that the President started the world, were the actual productions of Johnson's pen, though perhaps not sent in any official of the Government. He addressed a great speech, which he said would soon appear in the papers, showing that Johnson must have been the author. All these points were made in a manner that convinced the audience that the President was not unfairly arraigned by Mr. Kelley. Along with them, or rather partially after them, he made able arguments for the Congressional plan of Reconstruction, showing most plainly that Johnson had no more right to appoint Provisional Governors and dictate terms of recognition to the rebel States, as States, than he has to the States of Dakota, which has as yet no State Government. We have no time to even allude to his masterly arguments for the Constitutional Amendments, but they were given exactly according to the issues now before the people, he carefully stating what were his own opinions when he gave such, and he gave his own opinions on the three Amendments. He declared himself to be in favor of equal rights to all, doing it in a style of thrilling eloquence that pleased the most radical of his hearers.

ELIZABETH RETURNS.—WEST VIRGINIA.—Wheeling, October 26th.—The vote polled in West Virginia yesterday for Congressmen and State officers was larger than any election since the Presidential campaign of 1864. The returns thus far received, as compared with the vote on the Constitutional Amendment, which was carried by seven thousand majority, show Republican gains. Gov. Boreman is undoubtedly elected by an equal majority. Hubbard (Rep.), for Congress, from the 11th dist., will be returned by about 1,500 majority. Returns from the 11th District indicate the certain election of Kitchen (Rep.). Wheeling County and Ohio County were warmly contested. The Democrats carry the county by about 200 majority. A Republican gain of 144. The character of the Legislature is evidently largely Conservative or ex-rebel. Col. C. L. Harris is elected to the Senate, and Gen. G. W. Logan and U. S. Sargent to the House. Guthrie, D. A. Jenkins, Union, is elected from Gaston to the Commons by 138 majority. Appended is the official vote for Governor as far as received.

FINANCIAL MATTERS. The following abstract of the condition of the National Bank on the first Monday of October has just been promulgated by the Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

Table showing financial data: Loans and discounts, Real estate, Furniture and fixtures, Expense account, etc.

RECEIPTS FROM OUTSTANDING BONDS. The receipts from outstanding bonds named ports from the 13th to the 20th inst. were as follows: New York, $2,630,051; Boston, $88,021; Philadelphia, $14,500; Baltimore, $102,630; Total, $2,835,102.

WE HAVE among a great many other testimonials recently received by the agents of 'Emmal de Paris' a very complimentary letter from Signora Ristori, concerning the merits of this renowned beautifier and preserver of the skin. The distinctive character of this French toilet article, totally unlike a pasteur paint, is securing its endorsement by the most refined and high-toned ladies, and its use by the more scrupulous who have hitherto abstained from the use of any skin-preparations.—N. Y. Sunday Dispatch, Oct. 7.

Indian Trouble in the West.

A despatch from Chicago dated yesterday says: Evidence of widespread troubles on the Indian frontier have accumulated more rapidly than usual within the past few days. A general war is really imminent. General Sherman has ceased to disavow alarming reports, and is taking every energy to throw troops into the imperiled districts. 15,000 Indian warriors are declared by the latest advices to be actually on the war-path.
