General Butler in New York—A Stormy Time.

The New York Herald of yesterday says: The announcement in the morning papers that Gen. Butler would address a meeting of the citizens favorable to the election of Horace Greeley to Congress, drew a large crowd in front of the City Hall yesterday afternoon. Democrats as well as Radicals assembled in goodly numbers, and long before the hour announced for the speaking to commence there was an attendance of fully five thousand persons.

Mr. Hiram Walbridge presided as chairman on the occasion, and, after a brief address, presented the following set of resolutions, which were declared to be unanilutions, which were declared to be unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we commend Horace Greeley to the electors of this district as a candidate for Congress; because, when formerly in Congress, he devoted his time and efforts mainly to the promotion of measures of economy, retrenchment, and reform, rather than to partisan politics; because he has always been a practical working man and has earned all he possessed by honest, useful industry; because he would in Congress be no mere dunimy or tool, but would exert a powerful indusence for the besent of the district and the country; because he is known throughout the civilized world as a champion of universal liberty and justice, and a dreaded foe of despotism; slavery and oppression. For these and kindred reasons we solicit for him the vokes of honest, true men, trespective of General Butler was then introduced to the meeting, when he was received with a per-fect storm of hisses and groaus from the "unterrified" Democracy, who had taken possession of the City Hall steps with the evident intention of preventing him from being heard. The scene of confusion that ensued the moment the speaker showed himself on the stand was indescribable. Cries of "Spoons," "Put him out," "How are you, cockeye?" "We don't want to hear you," mingled with groans and hisses which completely drowned the cheers of the friends of the meeting, came from all sides, but more especially from the steps of the City Hall. The police, under Captain Brackett, Hall. The police, under Captain Brackett, used almost superhuman efforts to restore order, but notwithstanding some dozen or twenty arrests were made the uproar still continued. Finally, after waiting quietly for the noise to subside, the General attempted to make himself heard by those wars in class proving to the policy.

who were in close proximity to the plat-form. He began by saying:

Fellow Citizens:—The issue is now before us, whether the men—[Cries of "Spoons," "spoons"]—who by force and fraud sought to overthrow the country, shall rule it. Hisses and groans and so much confusion that Butler stopped speaking.]

Billy Wilson, of the First Ward. Never mind them, General, they will be taken care of; there will be some broken heads here in a few moments.

Voice on the platform, encouraging the speaker. Go on, General: they are only Copperheads. [Groans and cries of "Put im out."] General Butler. I said the issue before us was whether the men who by force and fraud sought to overthrow the country shall consought to overthrow the country shall control its glorious destiny— [Greans, and three cheers for John T. Hoffman, which were followed by three cheers for "Ben Butler" from around the platform.]

Gen. Butler (coolly, and looking quite complacently upon the crewd.)—Very well, you have taken your time, and I will take mine. [Cries of "good," "good."] and groans. Gen. Butler. When this war was closed [Cries of "Spoons!"], when the last rebel in the South had surrendered— At this juncture some one in the crowd threw an apple at the speaker with uner-ring precision, striking him fair in the ab-dominal region, and bringing the speech to rather an abrupt termination. The inci-dent created a good deal of excitement on the platform, but when Gen. Butler took the platform, but when teen, butler took the fruit in his hand and coolly commenced eating it, and bowed to his antagonist as though he had just been the recipient of a favor instead of an insult, he brought the house down, and for a moment there was idence of better feeling in the crowd. Bu it was only for a moment. Again the indignation of the crowd broke forth in cheers for Hoffman and groams for Butler. Five minutes probably elapsed, during which time Gen. Butler continued eating his apple and waiting for an opportunity to be heard.

General Butler (straining his voice to the ceneral Sutter (straining no voice to the utmost so as to be heard). Since I have been standing here, fellow citizens, I could not help remembering how much quieter these fellows (pointing to the crowd on the City Hall steps) were in 4864 when, instead of having a traitor at the head of the Government they had an honest and true patriot, and when this city was under the control of a magistrate who could con-

Here there was another outburst of indignation, and cries of "spoons," "spoons," were heard on all sides, winding up with three cheers for Hoffman.]
The effort to prevent General Butler from being heard was so far successful. A sallow complexioned individual, on the steps of the City Hall, then addressed the meeting in favor of Fox, the Democratic candidate for Congress against Mr. Greeley, and for about ten minutes or so General Butler was compelled to remain silent.

General Walbridge stepped forward and called upon the people to respect the right of free speech; but they were inexorable, and only became the noisier and more and only became the hotsler and inter-abusive in their language towards General Butler. The conduct of the unterrified was Butter. The conduct of the unterrined was tantalizing in the extreme. When General Butler made the slightest movement to speak they groaned him down, and when he remained stlent they insisted on his going on again, so as to have another opportunity to interrupt him. General Walbridge and Horace Greeley were in despair at the gloomy prospect and as a last resort urged General Butler to address the reporters and people on the platform, who were near enough to hear him. But the hero of New Orleans would not listen to such a proposal and said he would address the meeting. sal, and said he would address the meeting or not make any speech at all. He was not going to be intimidated, he said, and was determined they should hear what he had to say. Meanwhile a fresh speaker appared on the steps of the City Hell and peared on the steps of the City Hall, and kept the crowd in roars of laughter by his abuse of "Ben Butler" and the Radicals generally.

About this timesome enterprising Democrat circulated a large number of political placards among the crowd; which ended in a row and the arrest of several of the more noisy ones. These placards bore the inscription of Hoffman for Governor, and were help up before General Butler so as to annoy him. He paid very little attention to the conduct of the crowd when they became exasperated and, pushing forward to the platform, shook the bills in his face in token of defiance. For a time there was great confusion, but the police, by their pluck and good management, succeeded in pushing back the living mass so as to leave a clear space around the platform. Several arrests were made before the work was accom-plished, and not a few of the disturbers were roughly handled.

From the fifth edition of the New York
Post, of Saturday evening, we take the General Butler continued and said that it had been this spirit of misrule which brought on the terrible war. There were doubtless within the sound of his voice men who fled from the South for protection during the war, and are now endeavoring to bring on anarchy. The honorable men of New York would not wish to interfere of New York would not wish to interfere with the rights of the minority.

Wherever the Republican party exists, even in Georgia free speech is tolerated exsept in the city of New York. If this is the Democracy of New York, the sooner it is wiped out the better. Organized bands of thieves, with their arms deep in the public plunder, were before him.

While one may pardon the poor hirelings (he added) who do their master's bidding, we will hold the leader guilty. He charged the scene apon Mayor Hoffman, who would follow Governor Seymour out of office. The men who are now howling were in 1863. Burning and happing negroes. burning and hanging negroes. You poor fools! (he continued) I have faced your superiors in Baltimore and New Or eans. have hung your betters. If you do not behave yourselves I'll have the pleasure to see you hung.

Do you think I am going to flinch? Do you think you are the equal of the negro? You are not to overpower free speech and free thoughts. Men of the Five Points! thieves and frequenters of the Tombs!—I declare you are not worthy of the elective ranchise.

He said that the crowd was composed of he paid hirelings of the Democratic party, who are paid so much a week to suppress free speech. No higher spectacle could be presented why Governor Fenton should be free spe elected than this. If there was anything that could be argued in favor of a despotism and against the rule of the minority by the najority, it was such a scene as that before

It would take but a few demonstrations of a like character to make the great Republi-can party become disgusted with the free elective franchise.

General Butler was then asked to go on and give the ruffians what they deserved. He replied: "No, no, fellow-citizens, I will not play the blackguard, I am not a President or a Vice President and cannot go into any discussion with an angry crowd."

The scene during the General's speech beggars description. In front of him were several thousand of the most villainous faces ever seen together. It is doubtful whether any city in the world but New York, and any Wards but the Fourth and Sixth could produce such a large number of Sixth could produce such a large number of Sixth could produce such a large number of scoundrels and ruffians.

The General spoke boldly and fearlessly, loudly defying his enemies. His manner was impressive, and carried greater effect with it than his words.

Fire in Boston.

Late Saturday night a fire broke out in a basement in the rear of No. 41 Franklin street, which is the centre of a large five-story granite front block, stretching from Hawley to Arch street. The flames soon went through the roof and, notwithstanding the strengous exertions of the firemen and the immense quantity of water thrown on fire, it gained rapidly and spread to the the right and left to Nos. 49, 47 and 45, and 39 and 37. The upper stories of the buildings were entirely destroyed, and the lower stories thoughly drenched with water.

The part of the block in which the fire originated was occupied in the basement by F. F. Wheelock & Co., fancy goods dealers, and in the upper stories by Allen, Lane & Co., dry goods merchants. These firms had Co., dry goods merchants. These firms had a large quantity of goods on hand, which were entirely destroyed. The upper stories of Nos. 49, 47 and 45 were occupied by Denny, Price & Co., dealers in American goods, and the first floor and basement by E. O. Tafts & Co. The damage in this part of the building is very heavy. The two upper stories are burned out and the lower one flooded with water. Losses are also sustained by Baldwin & Co., Housewell, Kinsley & French, J. C. Howes & Co. No. 51 was slightly damaged. The loss is vari-51 was slightly damaged. The loss is variously estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000. It is said to be mostly insured.

From Nashville.
LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.—Meredith P. Gentry, of Nashville, died yesterday, at the house of a relative, near this city. A large and enthusiastic meeting of Fenians was held here this evening, at which resolutions were passed condemning the action of the British authorities in reference to the political prisoners.

A heavy rain storm is prevailing, accompanied by tremendous peals of thunder and Hiram Patterson, Radical, has been elected State Senator from Sumner and Smith counties, over Ballie Peyton, Conser-vative, by over 100 majority. Wright, Radical, has been elected reprewright, Radical, has been elected representative from Sumner county, over Bonham, Conservative, by 45 majority.

Clements, Radical, formerly a member of Congress, has been elected as representative from Sumner, Smith and Macon counties, over Cadwell, Conservative.

The Fenian Trials.

TORONTO, C. W., November 3.—The excitement with regard to the Fenian trials is anabated. The Episcopal Minister D. F. Lumsden. was tried to day. The court-room was densely packed.

A large number of witnesses were ex-The jury retired and soon brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The prisoner and his wife, who was present during the trial, were very much affected on the announcement of the verdict.

His Lordship, before discharging Mr.
Lumsden admonished him to abstain from the use of ardent spirits—it having been proved that the prisoner, though a clergy-man, was in a state of intoxication during the commission of the acts charged in the

NEW OBLEANS, Nov. 3.—General Kiddoo, Superintendent of the Texas Freedmen's Bureau, is about making a tour through the State to examine into the condition of the freedmen. He pronounces himself alto-gether opposed to the determination ex-pressed by many of them to decline making yearly contracts for 1867, believing that such a course will be ruinous to their moral and physical welfare.

Indians have appeared in Bardera county, Texas, and are driving the settlers.
The crops in Texas are nearly all gathered. More has been saved than was expected, but the cotton crop is still short.

The general characteristics of American life and manners at the period immediately succeeding the Revolution, have been often and well portrayed. But every section of the country then presented special local peculiarities, arising in part from the various racer of the settlers partly from the different relations in which they stood to the Aborigines, and partly from the character of the country itse?. These local pecularities afford an inexhaustible field for the historian and novellst. It has been the aim of the author of this work to present a picture of a particular time and place Alost of the incidents narrated have been handed dewn by tradition as veritable facts; and the principal yersonages introduced are drawn from actual prototypes. And even in those parts which, are more purely imaginary, it is believed that no historical probability has been violated. For all artistic purposes
