THE ABSCONDING WITNESSES CAPTURED. -Clara Snyder and Kate Gibbs, the witnesses on the part of the Commonwealth in the case of William Maguire, charged with the murder of Maggie Baer, were arrested last evening, in Wilmington, by Officers Ashton and Porter of the Quarter Sessions, and brought to this city and were taken to Moyamensing Prison. Upon very slight information received, the officers before mentioned, went at noon vesterday to Chester, and proceeded to a small hotel in that place, and ascertained that the parties they were in search of had been there from the previous afternoon, (accompanied by two men,) but that they had all gone in a carriage to Wilmington; the officers immediately took the train for that place. The girls stopped at a hotel on the New Castle road, called the Grant House, and had been there about twenty minutes before the officers appeared. They were considerably surprised at being discovered, and stated that they had left Philadelphia on the afternoon of Tuesday, and gone directly to

Chester. SALE OF REAL ESTATE, STOOKS, &C .-James A. Freeman, Auctioneer, sold yes-terday, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the Philadelphia Exchange, the following:

English Anthors and Lake Scenery. A correspondent of the Utica Herald thus speaks of English lake scenery, and of noted writers who made their habitation among them : The scenery in the lake district is the most lovely of any I have seen in England. It is not so grand as that among the Alps, in Switzerland, but it has a charm about it that is really enchanting-I went by train from Liverpool to Win. dermere, and from there by private con-veyance to Ambleside, Rydal, Grasmar, Thirlamere and Keswick. The weather was beautiful, and we got splendid views of Helvellyn, Saddleback, Skiddaw and 722 00 the other mountains. Miss Martineau 240 00 resides at Ambleside. Rydal was the home of Wordsworth. Near Gras-mere is the cottage of Hartley Cole-ridge, and at Keswick that of Southey 57 00 and the elder Coleridge, Words-worth lies in the churchyard of Grasmere, with nothing but a plain, derk-solored slot to may the 225 00 21 00 100 00 dark-colored slab to mark the spot. Near 7 50 by is the grave of poor Hartley Coleridge, himself a poet and the son of a great poet. Southey's monument in the 31 25 churchyard at Keswick, and beneath 128 00 100 00 which he is buried, is an elaborate piece 49 00 of sculpture. The house of Wordsworth is within two miles of Ambleside; that 72 00 of Dr. Arnold, the famous teacher of

Rugby, is even at a less distance; and none had a better appreciation of the glorious scenes in which their feet were set than they. Miss Martineau still resides at her charming residence, "The Knoll," at that end of the straggling town which stretches toward Rydal. She is the only person of established literary reputation, of all the great array of splendid names that once made the district famous, who at present resides in it; although at one time or another, the place has been probably visited and sojourned in by almost every notable person in the land. At Grasmere, an humble white cottage is pointed out, where Wordsworth lived.

just after his marriage, for several years; where De Quincey resided after him, and wrote his English "Opium Eater;" where Coleridge and Southey and Lamb and Charles Lloyd, must have all been visitors at one time or another. The scenery about Grasmere is indeed charming-the wooded valley and village of Grasmere, the western hills rising range after range, the beautiful curve of Dunmail Raise, and the winding of the now and then seen Rothay, form a picture of such different elements of beauty as almost seems artificial and unnatural from the very variety of its charms.

LARCENY OF SILVEBWARE .--- Two colored women, named Anna Maria Dale and Eliza women, Bamed Anna Maria Dale and Fliza-beth Forman, had a hearing before A'der-man Beitler, charged with the larceny of silverware and wearing apparel, the pro-perty of Mrs. Rosanna Fraley, living at No. -313 Spuce street. Most of the goods stolen from the house were recovered by Detective Sommers at different pawnbrokers, where Elizabeth Forman had pawned them. The latter states that the articles were given to her to pawn by Anna Maria, who was employed at the house as a domestic. Eliza-beth, it seems, was employed for one day at the residence. Both defendants were com-mitted.

ITHE GAS WORKS INVESTIGATION .- The Special Committee of Select Council appointed to investigate into the manegement of the Philadelphia Gas Works, met last evening in Select Council Chamber, when Mr. George McIlwaine was examined in reference to furnishing stop-cock boxes to the Gas Trust. He testified that he entered into a contract with the Trust, and sold the boxes at $1 90 each. For boxes sold to other par-ties he received $2 each. He allowed the Trust five per cent. off for cash, James Doeppers, Robert Patterson and other witnesses were examined, after which the Com-mittee adjourned.

CONCERT THIS EVENING,-A grand concert will be given at the Assembly Build-ings, this evening, by Miss Anna Fithlan, a graduate of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind, assisted by the following talent: D. D. Wood, Geo. W. Reybold, John Righter, Wm. H. McCollin, B. Parvin, Miss Maria Gill; Prof. E. Mack, Conductor. The programme is a very attractive one.

BOLD THIEF.-Before Alderman Beitler, yesterday afternoon, W. H. Williams had bearing upon the charge of the larceny of a pocket book containing $95, from John Thompson. The latter testified that on last Friday evening, at Harmony court and Hudson alley, defendant snatched the pocket-book out of his hand and ran off. Williams was committed in default of $2,500 bail for

HOUSE OF CORRECTION .- The special committee on the subject will report to City Councils this afternoon, an ordinance to ap-propriate $100,000 for the erection of a House of Correction. Such an institution has long been needed in this city, and it is to be hoped that it will be passed without delay.
