COURTS.

The Maguire Murder Trial.

[CONCLUSION OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.]

Sallie Gibbs, sworn—I know the prisoner; I first became acquainted with him in the "Red Robin" Saloon; I knew him before Maggie Baer was killed; a great many girls visited the "Red Robin;" they would go there and sit awhile: Maggie Baer was there a length of time; about three weeks during that time I saw the prisoner there frequently; he seemed more attentive to Maggie than to the others; he has talked to me about her; he would go there and play cards and drink; I saw him during the day of the occurrence; he was in the saloon, drinking and playing cards; he asked me if I was going to the theatre; I told him I did not know; he said he would give me the money to go with; I then told him I would go; he then said, "I am going away to-night, to New York; I am satisfied now, Maggie has spoken to me, and I'll go away;" he did not say what had taken place between himself and Maggie; he left the saloon about six o'clock in the evening; he was then very much in liquor; he said he would see us all at the theatre; he left the saloon before I did; I went to the theatre about quarter of nine o'clock; I went to a private box; Maggie was there before I arrived; I did not see the prisoner until I had got into the box; he was then in the theatre; he waived his hat at us; next I heard some one come to the box; I turned and saw it was the prisoner; Maggie Baer was sitting; I was on her lap; she was looking in his face; I was facing her; the prisoner said, "Maggie, are you going to do what I asked you;" he was close enough to touch me with his hand; I touched her and said, "Say yes;" Sallie Price was standing back of him; she spoke to Maggie Baer in German; I don't know what she said; Maggie Baer understood her; she said, "Maybe so" to the prisoner; he then said, "I wish an answer—yes or no;" she hesitated and said "Yes;" I then heard a pistol go off close to my head; then when the second shot went off, some one pushed my head out of the box; I saw no more; I was too frightened; I saw her body on the following Tuesday, at the undertaker's.

Cross-examined—I was a companion of Maggie Baer; lived in the same house with her; all that week he had been drinking very hard; once he came to my room during that week after Maggie; he acted very strangely; he had not been in the habit of coming there; he said to the lady of the house, "I must and will see her;" she then let him in, he knocked at my door; he said, "Me, Billy, let me in;" I opened the door and he looked so wild he frightened me; I said, "Billy, what's the matter with you?" he took hold of me by the shoulder; I said, "Let me go;" he said, "Not till you tell me where Maggie is; I said, "She is not here;" he said, "Say so help you God;" I said it, and he went away. Next morning I asked him about it, and he said, "Why, I wasn't in your room;" I said, "Yes, you were," and he said, "No, I don't remember being there;" his manner was wild and excited; it was only two or three days before the murder; I saw him Thursday and Friday before the murder at the Red Robin; he was still drinking; I saw him on Saturday just before I started to the theatre; he was drinking very hard all the time; he saw Maggie that day and was with her at the Red Robin; he was very kind to her; nothing occurred to mar their pleasant intercourse; he seemed very much excited when he bade me good bye and shook hands with me; I didn't have an opportunity to notice how he looked when he came in the box; I think he exclaimed, after shooting, "I loved her, I loved her," and "I'll die for her;" I then heard the pistol snap, but I don't know whether he pointed it toward himself or not, but I think he did; she had hardly answered "Yes," before he shot her; he had been visiting the Red Robin three or four weeks, and knew Maggie all that time.

Clara Snyder, sworn—I was at the Continental Theatre on the night Maggie Baer was shot; I was standing at the box door; I first saw the prisoner coming into the box; he went in alone; he told me good bye when he was going in; I did not know where he was going; I had known him three or four weeks before this; I had seen him at the Red Robin nearly every day; I was at the Red Robin every day; the prisoner did not generally stay in the saloon long at a time; I don't recollect of seeing him there more than once or twice during the evening: Maggie Baer frequented the place; sometimes I would go there about eleven o'clock in the morning and leave about ten at night; I have seen the prisoner there playing cards with the girls; he told me on Thursday before the shooting that he loved Maggie Baer, and that no other man should have her; he would take her life.

Cross-examined—I saw the prisoner and Maggie together at the saloon on the Saturday of her death; there appeared to be no difficulty between them; I saw him about half-past eight o'clock that evening, at the Red Robin, very much in liquor; when I first saw him at the theatre he was standing at the box door; when he told me about loving and killing her, he came up to me crying; I think she had told him that she was going home; I saw them together next day; I saw them together again on Saturday; they appeared to be on good terms; I was present when the prisoner was introduced to Maggie Baer.

Here the Commonwealth closed.

The defence was opened by Mr. Brooke, who stated to the jury that the defence was, that at the time of the occurrence the defendant was of unsound mind, and was wanting in "memory and discretion."

Mrs. Maguire testified—I am the mother of the prisoner; he is about twenty-one years of age; I now reside in Wilmington, Del.; William was born in this city; I have had three children by Mr. Maguire, and four by my first husband; William is the youngest; my father's name is William Anderson; I know that my father was very weak in mind; I think he was confined five times for insanity; he was confined at the asylum in Wilmington; he was also in the Pennylvania Asylum, and also twice or three times at the Blockley Asylum; when he became so bad as to require confinement, he would go around the house breaking glasses with his hands; at such times his eyes were wild and glaring; sometimes these spells would last five or six weeks, and sometimes seven; his mind was in this condition nearly up to his death; he was seventy odd years old when he died; this became bad on him when he was about thirty-five years old; my father's niece was pronounced insane at the New Castle Court; I had a daughter by my first husband; she died insane; she was about 24 years of age when she died; at one time she looked very wild; she once slapped me in the face while I was sitting at her bedside, and instantly exclaimed, "O mother, is that you?" I have seen William laboring under these spells, and at such times his eyes had the same expression that I noticed in those of his father and sister; by his eyes I could always tell when these spells were coming on him. I noticed these spells on William when he was about four years old; sometimes when I would chastise him he would have spasms, and would remain miserable for some time; he would have these spells until he was ten or eleven years old; at about that age I sent him to Mr. Bennet's fishery in Maryland; during the lapse of time between his return from Delaware up to this occasion I noticed that his conduct was strange, very wild and excited; he entered the army at the age of eighteen; up to that time he was, when in his proper mind, an affectionate, amiable, dutiful and obedient boy; when he returned from the army I visited him in this city; he was very ill; I visited him on the evening of the Thursday preceding the killing, he was then getting better; but told me that he had been very sick; I was with him then about an hour; I thought that his manner was very strange; he was excited and restive, very much unlike himself; I started home and told him good-bye; I started to get into a car, and he came into the car; he sat with me a few moments and then left me; I went to Mrs. Elizabeth Bennet, my daughter; I mentioned William's conduct to her; I next saw him in the cell at Moyamensing; he then cried bitterly, fell upon his knees and placed his head on my lap; continued to visit him up to Christmas: before Christmas I noticed that he had become wild; he would talk very strangely to me; several days after Christmas I visited him; I found the things that I had sent him Christmas day all strewn over the floor; about a week afterward he was chained hand and foot, and remained so seven weeks: I was with him pretty much all that time; sometimes my son would know me, and sometimes he would not; sometimes he would ask me who he was; once when I visited him his clothes were all torn off him, and the furniture I had bought for him was broken; he became so violent that I was not allowed to visit him; he soon began to improve; I again saw him in one of these spells; he was about the same as he was during the first violent attacks, or perhaps worse than at first; he remained so for five weeks; I noticed different phases in his lunacy; he was chained hand and foot a second time as he was the first time; he once flooded his cell with water; his conduct under the second attack was much the same as under the first; I could always tell when these spells were coming on him from his low spiritedness, and from the coldness of his hands.

The Court here adjourned.

Russo-American Telegraph.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The bark Onward reports having left at Petropaulowski fifteen operators and constructors in service of the Russo-American Telegraph expedition.

Ice had commenced forming when the Onward left, but the men were comfortably housed for the winter.

The inhabitants of Petropaulowski treat the party with great hospitality.

Col. Buckley started for Anadyr Bay on August 2d, and was expected to arrive here during the present month.

The Russian war steamer Variag left the same day for Nicolaefski, carrying the Count Anasoff, the Russian Commissioner.

From St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—An injunction, at the instance of Morris Jessup & Co., of New York, has been served upon Gov. Fletcher and the Railroad Company to prevent them from selling the Cairo and Fulton Railroad for the benefit of the State. The petitioners for the injunction hold $394,000 in the funds of the said road, secured by two deeds of trust, and claim that the only right the State has in the road, is that of a mortgage, and subject to the ordinary qualities and limitations of such an instrument. The case will come before the United States Circuit Court, April session.

Murder by Freedmen—Lynch Law.

BRANCHVILLE, Ga., Nov. 12.—The negroes who killed Mrs. Garvin and daughter, near Orangeburg, were hung on Saturday by the citizens. The freedmen were so incensed against the perpetrators that they wanted to burn the murderers, but were prevented by the whites.

CASTOR WHEELS.

FOR HEALTH AND STRENGTH USE CAPE WELL'S & CO.'S PATENT GLASS CASTOR WHEELS.

These wheels are designed for Pianos, Bedsteads, &c. We claim that they give to Pianos a greatly increased force of sound, without detracting from the harmony and mellowness of the instrument, rendering every note more distinct to the ear. This is no experiment, as they are now being applied by many to these valuable musical instruments. Dr. Valentine Mott, previous to his death, pronounced the Glass Castor Wheels an invaluable invention for bedfast invalids, who are guarded against the damp floors after undergoing the process of cleaning, or where dampness is produced from various causes. Aside from this, Housekeepers are relieved from the dread of having their carpets cut or torn, as frequently happens from those now in use, often caused by a rust, which adheres with glue-like tenacity. Such annoyance can possibly proceed from the Glass Castor Wheels as we all know that glass is non-corrosive. There are no rough or unfinished edges to the Glass Wheels, such as we often find in those of iron, and the latter, though smoothly finished, will soon rust, from the dampness of the atmosphere, if nothing else, producing roughness on the surface, or edge, while the former will always maintain the smoothness of glass, just as they are finished.

By sleeping upon glass wheels you retain all the electricity you had in your body on retiring, and you get up in the morning feeling as fresh and active as a young man. Glass being a non-conductor, the electricity gained while in bed cannot pass off. Ask your doctor what he thinks of the Glass Castor Wheels. Ask him if all diseases, with the exception of chronic diseases, are not caused from the want of electricity. We have a man in our place whom the doctors pronounced past curing, with the inflammatory rheumatism. The wheels cured him in less than four weeks. We can say a dozen more as badly used up. These are facts which can be proven on application at our office, No. 263 Race street, Philadelphia, or at our Factory, at Westville, New Jersey where we have some sixty hands employed in the manufacture of the Glass Castor Wheels.

$100 will be paid to any one who will say they have not received any benefit or relief after using Capewell & Co.'s Patent Glass Castor. A sample set (4) of the Wheels sent to any part of the United States, on receipt of $1 50.
