MEXICO.

The Troubles of the Holders of Mexican Bonds.

[Paris (Oct. 27) Correspondence of the London Times.] The financial affairs of Mexico promise to give more trouble to the French Government. The holders of Mexican debentures are now signing a memorial to the Deputies of their departments, calling upon them to obtain a settlement of their claims. It is to

"In presence of the note which informs the public that the payment of the interest on the Mexican debt is suspended, and for on indefinite period, the undersigned, and for ers of Mexican obligations, make this ap-peal to the Deputy of this arrondissement to defend their interests, which are se-riously endangered. Considering that the ostensible patronage accorded to the issuing of the Mexican loan has constituted, on the part of the French Government, a real moral guarantee, without which the said loan would have had no chance of success, they think that this guarantee involves, in the present circumstances, serious obliga-tions, and they trust that these obligations will not be lost sight of. In proof of the responsibility announced by the Government, they deem it sufficient to mention: 1. The reassuring accounts of the financial situation and of the great resources of the Mexican Empire, presented officially by M. Corta, on his return from his mission to the newEmpire. 2. The declarations made by M. Rouher, in the name of the Government, that France would not withdraw her troops from Mexico until the work she undertook from Mexico until the work she undertook was finished in a durable manner, and until the country was completely pacified. 3. The choice of M. de Germiny, Senator, as President of the Finance Commission of Mexico in Paris. 4. The authorization granted by the Minister. of Finance to the Compton d'Escompte to open the subscription to the loan. 5. The realization of that subscription by the Receiver General in the Department. 6. The sending to Mexico of a member of the Council of State, M. Langlais, for the purpose of organizing the finances of the country. It is in the coffers of the public Treasury that the greater portion of the proceeds of the loan was deposited, in order proceeds of the loan was deposited, in order to reimburse France for the sums due to her by Mexico. Now, it cannot be admitted that the Government, by thus favoring the Mexican loan, had no object in view but to make the French lenders pay the expenses of the Mexican expedition, and the indemnities stipulated in favor of our countrymen. Indeed, it may be existively affirmed that it deed, it may be positively affirmed that it never was the object of the Government, and yet such would seem to be the meaning of the operation if the Government now disclaimed all responsibility toward the subscribers to the loan. Confident in their right as well as in the talent of him to whom they now address themselves the confident. they now address themselves, the subscri-bers deem it unnecessary to enter into more details; their object being merely to affirm how deeply they are convinced of the justice of their cause. They trust for its triumph to the honorable deputy of whom they declare themselves the devoted and grateful servents."

ACCIDENT ON THE NORTH RIVER. One Steam-Tug Blown into Fragments and Another Seriously Damaged-Nar-row Escape of the Crews-Only Iwo Men Injured.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning an explosion took place at Pier No. 52 North River, near the foot of West Tenth street, resulting in the utter destruction of one steam tug, and causing also considerable damage to another. It appears that the tug Knickerbocker, owned by Donner, Ingersoll & Co., was lying abreast of the pier, in about six fathoms of water, preparing for work. The captain and crew, with the solitary exception of one dark with the solitary exception of one deck-hand, named Charles Drake, were on board the steam-tug Wilson D. Reed, lying along-side the Knickerbocker, when suddenly the boiler of the latter vessel exploded, and tore out the entire upper works of the tug, causing also such serious damage to her hall that sha sank to the bettem of the sizes hull that she sank to the bottom of the river in less than two minutes. Drake, the deck hand, was struck by a fragment of the wreck on the forehead and hurled into the river. He was soon after rescued and conveyed to the nearest drug store, where his wound was dressed, and he returned home. His injuries are not of a dangerous

The force of the explosion was very great, for, besides causing the complete destruction of the Knickerbocker, the concussion made by the expansion of the steam contained in the expansion of the steam contained in the exploded boiler, caused the demolition of the upper works of the adjoining tug, creating a scene of great confu-sion. John Sporrel, steward of the Wilson D. Reed, was slightly injured by a piece of the falling wreck. The engineer of the Knickerbocker stated to our reporter that he had twenty-five pounds of steam on at the time, and he could not give any reason for the accident. The exerce of these for the accident. The escape of those employed on board the two tugs was a most remarkable one, and it is fortunate that the disaster did not prove a fatal one. A piece of the boiler came down with great force on the deak of the board Vivingrat force on the deck of the barge Union, lying some distance from the scene, and broke through into the cabin of the barge, narrowly missing the occupants, who were seated around

An investigation will be held by the proper authorities. The scene of the disaster attracted a large crowd of spectators during the day, the dock being surewed wherek.—lection of articles and pieces of the wreck.—

AMUSEMENTS. DRAMATIC.—The novelty last evening was the production at the Arch of "Shamus" O'Brien" by Mr. Dan Bryant. It was placed on the stage in a manner to do credit even to Mrs. John Drew and Mr. Hawthorne. Every scene was superb and excited the warmest admiration of a house packed to suffocation. Of the play, as a work of art, we may say it is fair, with the exception of the last scene, which, as given last night, was a dead failure. More life and spirit must be put into it to make it worthy of the rest of the drama. Mr. Bryant acted. Shamus with delicacy and grace. worthy of the rest of the drama.
