The Masonic Procession.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 .- Contrary to expectation, the weather this morning is clear and favorable for the great Masonic procession, which is now forming. President Johnson arrived at nine o'clock, and was received at the depot by Gov. Swann, and taken to his

2,000 cans and jars Fresh Peaches. 12 M.-The streets are thronged with people, and the procession is a very brilliant affair. The brotherhood were all clad in full suits of black cloth, imparting a fine uniform appearance to the line. Numerous bands of music gave the display additional interest. The various Commanderies and Grand Commanderies of the Knight Temp Grand Commanderies of the Knight Temp-lars, in their rich and elegant uniforms, impart a degree of gorgeousness which pro-bably has rarely if ever been equaled by any similar display in this country. There are many magnificent banners and flags in the procession, richly embla-zoned with the symbols of the order, conspicuous among which were the Red Cross banners and flags of the Templars. It is estimated that from 4,000 to 6,000 persons are in the procession. The Columbia Commandery of Knights Templars, from Washington are accompanied by the Washington, are accompanied by the celebrated Marine Band. The procession is now marching to the site selected for the erection of the new Temple, on Charles street, adjoining St. Panl'a Church, where there is an immense gathering of people. The stands erected for the spectators are crowded with ladies. President Johnson and Governor Swann occupy seats on the main stand.

QUARTER SESSIONS-Judge Allison,-Another crowded Court room was the feature of to-day's proceedings. The time occupied by the homicidal cases delayed the business to such an extent that now within eight days of the close of the term there are three hundred and fifty cases to be tried. This brings a large crowd to the Court room every day. The case of George Roberts and John Mason, charged with larceny, and James Bois, as accessory before the fact, was called for trial. Roberts and Mason have already and bills of larceny and been convicted on two bills, of larceny, and it will be remembered that at the time of It will be rememored that at the time of their arrest they were in possession of the most perfect burglars' implements ever seen in this country. These two defendants were not represented by counsel. This morning Mesars, Cassidy and Parsons, for Mr. Bois, asked for a severance in the trial, in order that the evidence might be confined to this particular defendant. The Court de-clined to grant this application. Wm. O'Byrne, who represented the Com-monwealth, opened the case to the jury, ex-plaining the nature of the transactions in which the defendants were engaged. On the seventh of March last, the store of Hess, Rogers & Chambers, Market street, between Fourth and Fifth, was entered apparently by boring through the shutter of a back by boring through the shutter of a back window. The explanation for the robbery was this—Mr. Mitchell, a clerk in the store of Hess, Rogers & Chambers, who had been robbing his employers, gave an impression of the keys to Bois, who in turn gave it to Haslam, who communicated with Roberts and Mason, who committed the robbery, and after taking the goods, de-stroyed the books of the firm, in order to cover up Mitchell's peculations.

Jacob S. Hess testified that their store. Jacob S. Hess testified that their store, 411 Market street, was entered on the night of 7th of March: the proof was opened by means of false keys, and $104 in gold, $1,400 in greenbacks, deeds, bills receivable, and valuable goods taken. The books had been set on the floor of the proof and everything pertaining to the cash transactions for eighteen months was torn from the books and burned in the store. Nothing was recovered except a gold watch; know Mr. Bois; was introduced to him by W. R. Mitchell, our defaulting clerk, who is now a fugitive from justice; saw Mit-chell last on the second Friday subsequent to the robbery; have seen Bols frequently at my place, visiting Mr. Mitchell, who was confidential book-keeper; all the books per-taining to cash were destroyed; Mr. Bois told me he boarded with Mitchell in Coates street, near Twelfth: Mr. Bois was a broker street, near Twelfth; Mr. Bois was a broker in Third street, near Market.

No Cross-examination. Detective Taggart sworn—I went to this store after the robbery; the store had been entered from the rear by boring through the shutter and moving the bolt back; the the shutter and moving the bolt back; the fire-proof had been opened but could not tell whether with the original key or not; it was opened without violence; noticed the condition of the books and then arrested Mitchell the book-keeper; we had him bound over but he has gone, got-this watch from John Haslam; did not recover any of the stolen goods except the watch; found Haslam in New York, and he brought the watch home; found Roberts and Mason in New York; found Haslamin New York, by appointment: arrested Mason and York, by appointment; arrested Mason and Roberts and searched them; found a bag of Roberts and searched them; found a bag of burglars' tools in Mason's house; found the frame work and instruments for drilling safe; Roberts had a portion of this; found a lot of skeleton keys. [Tools and keys ex-hibited to jury.] Bols was arrested at his place of business on Third street. Cross examined—Mr. Bols was found at his usual place of business; that of a stock and bill broker.

Miller; have known him two or three years; met him near the Junction railroad; did not show him wax for making impression of W J.E.W. keys, though he wanted to get some. I didn't ask him to get a pass to go through the Stroudsburg Bank; he told me he wanted Stroudsburg Bank; he told me he wanted me to get a pass, as he knew all about the bank, and where the cashier slept, and he would furnish a horse and wagon; I told him I had lived in Stroudsburg, and would have nothing to do with it; know Al Shuek; rever wanted him to get a drunken man out of tavern, so that I could go through him; didn't tell him that if he was caught in it I would swear him out of it; never said I would swear to anything for $10. This line of cross-examination was ob-

This line of cross-examination was ob-jected to and ruled out. Never said to Richard S. Staple that I was in the Stroudsburg Bank with the robbers and made an examination of the premises. Judge Allison again directed the atten-tion of counsel to the fact that that robbery was not the subject of inquiry. Never said I would be revenged on Mr Bois after he left Stroudsburg; I had nothing to be revenged for as we were intimate and to be revenged for as we were intimate and he was my best friend; Bois gave me an impression of the keys of the vault; he gave me two impressions of one key; I don't know whether I gave them to Mason or Roberts, or both together; the first one was not a good one and they could not make the keys for it; the last one was given to me the Sunday night before the robbery; forget where he gave this one to me; we had so many meetings, I could not tell where; I was to get the same as the rest of them as my share; the property was divided into six shares; the party consisted of Mason, Ro-berts, Bois, Basconville, "Bill" and myself were in the robbery and shared; Basconville is in prison, don't know where "Bill" is; I saw Roberts and Bascoville in New Yok, the morning don't know where "Bill" is; I saw Roberts and Bascoville in New York, the morning after the robbery; they said they came on the "Owl Line," and they said Mason would be on soon; they brought a carpet bag with these goods; I have paid part of my ex-penses here myself and I received $10; was not told that I would not be prosecuted; believe Mr. Hess told me that he wanted the truth and that I would not be procecuted.

believe Mr. Hess told me that ne wanted the truth and that I would not be prosecuted; the police officers said they would stand alongside of me, but they did not say they would not prosecute me; I understood it to mean that they would not prosecute me. Re-examined by Mr. Mann: I saw Mitch-ell; saw bim in New York and saw him in Mr. Bois's office; Bois, Mitchell and myself met several times on this huginess; it was met several times on this business: it wa5 arranged that Mitchell was to go to a billiard saloon and take his coat off and lay it aside where Mason could feel in the pocket for the keys; he did feel for the key but it was not there; afterwards Mitchell came to Bois's office and left a note there saying that he could not get the key that night. Mason-I should like to ask Mr. Hess who kept the key of that vault?

Mr. Hess - Our book-keeper, W. R. Mitchell. Mason-Always?

Mr. Hess—Yes. Mason to Haslam—What then did Mitchell mean by writing that note that he could not get the key that night? Haslam-I'll tell you; he wanted to get Haslam—I'll tell you; ne wanted to get the front door key so that you could go in that way, and when he could not get it you were told that you must go in the back way. Mason—Oh then it was another key !
