THE PRESIDENT'S BALTIMORE TRIP The New York Naval Office. A Prize Fight Near Washington. Morrissey Denies Himself

From Washington.

[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The President, accompanied by two members of his Cabinet, left this morning, for Baltimore, to participate in the Masonic ceremonies. He will return this evening. The President is only a Master Mason.

Gen. Slocum will probably be appointed to the Naval office, in New York, in place of Gen. Dix, whose resignation takes effect on Wednesday.

John Morrissey did not accompany the prize fighters who left here at twelve o'clock last night. A large amount of money is depending on the result of this fight. No tidings of it are yet received. The Baltimore man will probably be the winner.

CURIOUS ORIMINAL CASE.

A Broker Charged with Burglary.

Testimony of an Alleged Accomplice.

QUARTER SESSIONS-Judge Allison.-Another crowded Court room was the feature of to-day's proceedings. The time occupied by the homicidal cases delayed the business to such an extent that now within eight days of the alegant that now within eight days of the close of the term there are three hundred and fifty cases to be tried, This brings a large crowd to the Court room every day.

The case of George Roberts and John Mason, charged with larceny, and James Bois, as accessory before the fact, was called for trial. Roberts and Mason have already for trial. been convicted on two bills, of larceny, and it will be remembered that at the time of it will be remembered that at the time of their arrest they were in possession of the most perfect burglars' implements ever seen in this country. These two defendants were not represented by counsel. This morning Messrs, Cassidy and Parsons, for Mr. Pole asked for a severance in the trial Mr. Bois, asked for a severance in the trial, in order that the evidence might be confined to this particular defendant. The Court deto this particular defendant. The Court declined to grant this application.

Wm. O'Byrne, who represented the Commonwealth, opened the case to the jury, explaining the nature of the transactions in which the defendants were engaged. On the seventh of March last, the store of Hess, Rogers & Chambers, Market street, between Fourth and Fifth, was entered apparently by boring through the shutter of a back window. The explanation for the robbery was this—Mr. Mitchell, a clerk in the store of Hess, Rogers & Chambers, who had been of Hess, Rogers & Chambers, who had been robbing his employers, gave an impression of the keys to Bois, who in turn gave it to Haslam, who communicated with Roberts and Mason, who committed the robbery, and after taking the goods, destroyed the books of the firm in order to the robbery, and after taking the goods, destroyed the books of the firm, in order to cover up Mitchell's peculations.

Jacob S. Hess testified that their store, 411 Market street, was entered on the night of 7th of March: the proof was opened by means of false keys, and $104 in gold, $1,400 in greenbacks, deeds, bills receivable, and valuable goods taken. The books had been set on the floor of the proof and valuable goods taken. The books had been set on the floor of the proof and everything pertaining to the cash transactions for eighteen months was torn from the books and burned in the store. Nothing was recovered except a gold watch; know Mr. Bois; was introduced to him by W. R. Mitchell, our defaulting clerk, who is now a fugitive from justice: saw Mit-W. R. Mitchell, our defaulting clerk, who is now a fugitive from justice; saw Mitchell last on the second Friday subsequent to the robbery; have seen Bois frequently at my place, visiting Mr. Mitchell, who was confidential book-keeper; all the books pertaining to cash were destroyed; Mr. Bois told me he boarded with Mitchell in Coates street near Twelfth: Mr. Rois was a broker street, near Twelfth; Mr. Bois was a broker in Third street, near Market,

No Cross-examination. Detective Taggart sworn-I went to this store after the robbery; the store had been entered from the rear by boring through the shutter and moving the bolt back; the fire-proof had been opened but could not tell whether with the original key or not; it was opened without violence; noticed the condition of the books and then arrested condition of the books and then arrested Mitchell the book-keeper; we had him bound over but he has gone, got this watch from John Haslam; did not recover any of the stolen goods except the watch; found Haslam in New York, and he brought the watch home; found Roberts and Mason in New York; found Haslam in New York, by appointment: arrested Mason and York, by appointment; arrested Mason and Roberts and searched them; found a bag of burglars' tools in Mason's house; found the frame work and instruments for drilling safe; Roberts had a portion of this; found a safe; Roberts nad a portion of this; found a lot of skeleton keys. [Tools and keys exhibited to jury.] Bois was arrested at his place of business on Third street.

Cross-examined—Mr. Bois was found at his usual place of business, that of a stock and bill broker. Cross-examined by Mason—I found you at your business place. Cross-examined by Roberts-I found nothing on you in reference to the robbery; found this frame-work for drilling safes; I

John, Haslam, sworn—Last January I came to Philadelphia, and met Mr. Bois on Market street; he said, "How are you. John;" I said, "Pretty well;" he asked me why I did not call at his place, and see him; he said it was on Third street; went therethe next day; he asked me what I was doing; I told him, nothing; he said I heard you got into a little trouble at Scranton; I told him I had nothing to do with that; he then said he knew a good job. where $31,000 could be got, at 411 Market street; told him I thought I knew parties who could do it; I sent for the parties, and after I saw them I told Bois that they were afraid of him—afraid to trust him for fear he might arrest them on account of the parties. afraid of him-afraid to trust him for fear he might arrest them on account of the bank he might arrest them on account of the bank affair in Scranton; Bois said I need not fear that for he would tell something that would hold him as fast as they were held; he said he sent a telegraph despatch to Scranton to Mr. Reese to buy certain oil stock and that he had signed his consints name to the despatch. I told Mason cortain oil stock and that he had signed his cousin's name to the despatch; I told Mason and Roberts and they said they would do it; Bois told me to get him some wax; I did so and he got an impression of the keys and gave it to me; and I gave it to Mason and Roberts who got a key made; after this, one Sunday night, Bois came to Ninth and Filbert, in a great hurry and said he wanted that store robbed that night, as Mr. Mitchell was found out in cheating his employer, and it must be done that night; these parties said they could not do it because they did not have the keys made I went to New York on Monday: I next saw the men in New York, where they told me they went to the store on Monday night but found some one there and had to postpone the robbery until Wedesday to postpone the robbery until Wedesday they brought a bag with them; there was some jewelry, lockets, rings, sewing silk; $50 bond, $104 in gold, some small pieces of $50 bond, $104 in gold, some small pieces of silver; money in North and South Carolina; some counterfeit money; one deed for $29,000 and a great many notes; all the money they brought was $700; Bois said he wanted the store burned up, but Mason said he had not burned the store, but had torn the books so as to throw the blame on the clerk; I got the watch from Roberts and paid $60 for it; after this I met Bois, and he asked me for his share; I told him I had none, as they had laid out counterfeit money and North and South Carolina money as his share, and I had refused to take it; I gave him $75 and the $50 bond; Mr. Boisaid before the robbery that the firm kept a good deal of money on hand; he thought we could get $30,000.

Haslam underwent along examination by Haslam underwent along examination by Mason, who among other questions asked him why, after he had been such a good friend to him, he had gone to the police and given information. Haslam replied that he was ashamed of the way business was being done and he therefore concluded to leave this mode of life.

Mason-And you were ashamed! You lock like a man who is ashamed, you do!
Judge Allison interrupted the prisoner and informed him that he must confine himself to cross-examination and not indulge in comments.

At another stage of the cross; examination, when Mason was directing the attention of the witness to the division of the spoils, he asked him specially in regard to the different shares. After answering a number of questions on this point, Haslam at last exclaimed: "Well, you know all about it, you were Captain and made the division." Cross-examined by Judge Parsons.—Bois gave me the impression of the keys on wax, the Sunday night before the robbery; he gave it to me on Sansom street, not far from the Bazaar; I first saw Bois the latter part of January or the early part of February; I was then living in New York; had lived there four, five or six months; first knew Mason and Robert in New York, before January; I had not seen Bois for six or seven months; saw him in Strondsburg, where I was then living; I knew J. E. W. Miller; have known him two or three years; met him near the Junction railroad; did not show him wax for making impression of keys, though he wanted for et some. I didn't At another stage of the cross; examination, show him wax for making impression of keys, though he wanted to get some. I didn't sek him to get a pass to go through the Stroudsburg Bank; he told me he wanted me to get a pass, as he knew all about the bank, and where the cashier slept, and he hand, and where the cashier slept, and he would furnish a horse and wagon; I told him I had lived in Stroudsburg, and would have nothing to do with it; know Al Shuek; never wanted him to get a drunken man out of tayon to that I could go through out of tavers, so that I could go through him; didn't tell him that if he was caught in it I would swear him out of it; never said I would swear to anything for $10.

This line of cross-examination was objected to and ruled out.

Never said to Richard S. Staple that I was in the Strondsburg Bank with the rob bers and made an examination of the premises. Judge Allison again directed the attention of counsel to the fact that that robbery was not the subject of inquiry.

Never said I would be revenged on Mr Never said I would be revenged on Mr Bois after he left Strondsburg; I had nothing to be revenged for as we were intimate and he was my best friend; Bois gave me an impression of the boys of the party he impression of the keys of the vault; he gave impression of the keys of the vault; he gave me two impressions of one key; I don't know whether I gave them to Mason of Roberts, or both together; the first one was not a good one and they could not make the keys for it; the last one was given to me the Sunday night before the robbery; forget where he gave this one to me; we had so many meetings, I could not tell where; I was to get the same as the rest of them as my share; the property was divided into six so many meetings, I could not tell where; I was to get the same as the rest of them as my share; the property was divided into six shares; the party consisted of Mason, Roberts, Bois, Basconville, "Bill" and myself were in the robbery and shared; Basconville is in prison, don't know where "Bill" is; I saw Roberts and Bascoville in New York, the morning after the robbery; they said they came on the "Owl Line," and they said Mason would be on soon; they brought a carpet bag with these goods; I have paid part of my expenses here myself and I received $10; was not told that I would not be prosecuted; believe Mr. Hess told me that he wanted the truth and that I would not be prosecuted; the police officers said they would stand alongside of me, but they did not say they would not prosecute me; I understood it to my an that they would not prosecute me; I understood it to my an that they would not prosecute me; Re-examined by Mr. Mann: I saw Mitchell; saw him in New York and saw him in Mr. Bois's office; Bois, Mitchell and myself met several times on this business; it was arranged that Mitchell was to go to a billiard saloon and take his coat off and lay it aside where Mason could feel in the pocket for the keys; he did feel for the key but it was saloon and take his coat off and lay it aside where Mason could feel in the pocket for the keys; he did feel for the key but it was not there; afterwards Mitchell came to Bois's office and left a note there saying that he could not get the key that night.

Mason—Ishould like to ask Mr. Hess who kept the key of that vault?

Mr. Hess—Our book-keeper, W. R. Mitchell.

Mitcheil. Mason-Always?

Mr. Hess—Yes. Macon to Haslam—What then did Mitchell Mason to Haslam—What then did Mitchell mean by writing that note that he could not get the key that night?

Haslam—I'll tell you; he wanted to get the front door key so that you could go in that way, and when he could not get it you were told that you must go in the back way.

Mason—Oh then it was another key!

These wheels are designed for Pianos, Redsteads, &c.
We claim that they give to Pianos a greativ increased force of sound, without detracting from the harmony and melody of the instrument, rendering every note more distinct to the ear. This is so apparent that they are now being applied by many to these valuable musical instruments. Dr. Valentine for the valuable invention for last Castor Wheels an invaluable invention for bedrast invalids, who are granded against the damp floors after undergoing the process of cleaning, or where dampness is produced from any other cause. Aside from this Housekeepers are relieved from the dread of having their carpets cut of ten, as frequently happens from those now in use, often caused by a rust, which adheres with gine-like tenacity. No such annoyance can possibly proceed from the Glass Castor Wheels, as we all know that glass is non-corrosive. There are no rough or unfinished, will soon rust, from the dampness of the atmosphere, if nothing else, producing roughness on the surplication, will soon rust, from the dampness of the atmosphere, if nothing else, producing roughness on the surplication, and the laster, though smoothly finished, will soon rust, from the dampness of the atmosphere, if nothing else, producing roughness on the surplication and the surpline day on retiring, and you get tricity gained while the former will always maintain the amouthness of glass, just as they are finished.
