Thanksgiving at Baltimore. BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving day passed off pleasantly. Services were held in the several churches. The base ball season closed by a match game between the "Pastime" and "Eaterprise" Clubs, resulting in favor of the latter. A large crowd was in attendance. A slight accident occurred during the play to two members of the Enterprise Club, William Gorman and John Shannon, the former being struck in the abdomen by one of the members throwing a bat away, and the latter hurting his hand badly in catching a

John C. Chew, colored, who was badly cut on Monday night by Thos. The Coroner's jury decided that Sorrel acted in self-defence, and he was discharged from custody.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, Nov. 28 .- Hop. Clement C. Clay, accompanied by Mrs. Clay, arrived here at an early hour this morning, from Baltimore. Immediately upon landing they engaged apartments at the Hygels Hotel, and shortly after were waited uoon by Dr. George E. Cooper, physician to Jeff. Davis, and taken into the Fortress. where they were received in Carroll Hall by Mr. and Mrs. Davis. This visit of Clay, made so unexpectedly and without any previous intimation, has caused considerable speculation, and many surmises are rife as to its probable object. It is presumedly, however. mere social visit, and devoid of any significance pertaining to a release or the future prespects of Mr. Davis. The extent of their sojourn, or the destination of Mr. and Mis. Clay, after leaving here, are both unk own.

The steamship Santiago de Cuba, Captain J. W. Smith, arrived here this morning from New York to take the freight and passengers of the steamship San Francisco to Greytown, Nicaragua. The work of transferring the passengers and freight commenced immediately, and was completed at 5 o'clock this afternoon, at which time she got under way, and proceeded to her destigot under way, and proceeded to her desti-nation. The San Francisco, which put in here last Saturday night with one of her boilers disabled, having been relieved of her cargo, sailed for New York te-night A passenger on the San Francisco, named Taibot, belonging to New York, was knocked overbeard in a melee which occurred here last night, and remained in the water three hours before he was discovered. and released from his dangerous situation The disturbance originated on the Balti more wharf, from some trivial personal dispute, during which violence followed harsh words, and the unfortunate passenger was precipitated off the wharf. In falling he clung to some of the piles, and managed to secure a foothold, and remained there several hours before his cries brought assistance. When taken out of the water his atrength was almost gone, and in disrobing him and applying the proper restoratives, it was ascertained that he had been robbed of all his valuables and money. The affair was not investigated, as he went on board the San tiago de Cuba, and took passage for Grey-Another passenger of the San Francisco became to-day the unfortunate victim of an aven still more sad predicament.

Detective B. K. Taylor, of Norfolk, reached here last eyening from that city, with the necessary papers to procure the arrest of a young man named Nevens, who had absconded from New York, embarked on the San Francisco under an assumed name, and taken with him between five and six thousand dollars, the funds of his employer. The detective experienced no difficulty in recognizing the young man, from the minute description contained in the telegram. He went on board the steamer and brought him ashore this morning Lately the confidential clerk in the firm of Abrahrm Hooley & Co, of New York, his descent from the confidence of his employers has been as sudden as it was rapid. On board the San Francisco there was a large number of gambiers; and had it not been for the accident which occurred and compelled her to return to port, it is very probally they would have fleeced him to the very last dollar of the amount he became so oriminally passessed of.

The steamer Cambreso, from New York, bound to St. Jago de Cuba, sailed to-day. The Methodist Episcopal Conference, which continued its session in Norfolk to day, adjourns to-morrow. The following statistical report was to-day submitted by that body: Number of members (white), - - 34 843 a decrease of 6,355 members. The question of the change of the name of the Church, as recommended by the last General Conference, from the Mathadist Episcopal Church Sauth—by which it has been known since 1844, when the Bouthern Church separated from their Northern brethren—to the Methodist Episcopal The discussion upon the proposed change duced prices.

was made several days ago, and strong trguments by many of the most able men of the Conference, pro and con, were delivered in the presence of a large audience throng ing the church. Several addresses were made to day, but not of an important nature.

The question was then put to the Conference, and adopted by a vote of 64 to 47.

The question of layerepresentation being admitted into the councils of the General and Annual Conferences, which was also recommended by the General Conference its last session, occupied the attention of the Conference during the morning hours of the session. Many very able and eloquent addresses were made, and a discussion ensued which led to lengthy and pointed debates. Considerable opposition was manifested, but the question was finally carried by a vote of 74 to 26.

A special session of the Conference was agreed upon, to meet at 4 o'clock this after-noon, when the Committee on Memoirs will present their address upon the lives and characters of the deceased members of the Conference, who departed this life during the past year. To-morrow the labors of the Conference will be concluded, and the members separate for their homes, after an unusually active though protractive session.

An elegant set of furniture, supposed to be a present to the Davis family, was sent here from Norfolk, last evening, and taken to Carroll Hall. It is said C. C. Clay and his wife will remain here, and spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Davis. and then

Mr. Vincent's Lecture on Cromwell. The lecture of Mr. Henry Vincent, on Crom. well, at the Academy of Music, on Wednesday evening, was a great success. Mr. Vincent graphically sketched the early life of the Protector, and pictured him first as a sturdy boy, living on his father's estate in Huntingdon; then as a student at Cambridge then as a lover; then as a married man holding strong Puritan principles, and taking sides with the great party then first making head against Charles I.; then as a member of Parliament, where he was at first mos noted for slovenliness; then as the leader of the popular party in the House; then as a military leader, and finally as Lord Protec tor. Mr. Vincent's descriptions of the grea fights at Marston Moor, Naseby and Dun bar were most eloquent, and it were rendered with thrilling dramatic effect. The lecturer, while not willing to entirely justify the expulsion of the members of the Long Parliament, explained the circumstances connected with it in such a way as to materially lighten the burden of Cromwell's apparent usurpation, tyranny and inconsistency. The Parliament had been in session for thirteen years; it had dwindled away to a few men, who refused to call a new Parliament except upon conditions that would make the old Parliament the virtual masters of the new body. As Cromwell had no authority to prorogue the House, he scattered it with the aid of his "Ironsides." Mr. Vincent, while giving a humorous description of this scene, ridiculed the absurdity of comparing the American Congress with the "Rump Parliament" in the contests of both with their respective Executives. The Long Parliament continued in session during a period unparalleled in former history, and without sanction of law, there being the extraordinary condition of the absence of any lawful authority to prorogue, and no law fixing a period for the close of its sessions. In our own country the time of service of every member of Congress is accurately fixed, and and during the last few months the people bave decided at the ballot-box the questions in issue between themselves and a faithless Executive, by re-electing the old members to a new Congress. Mr. Vincent closed with an eloquenteulogy of Cromwell, declaring him to be the ablest man that ever occupied the British throne. and asserting that in his greatest mistakes and worst offences he was eclipsed by many of the crowned heads of the kingdom. He did not consider the Commonwealth of England a failure with such a magnificent Republic as the United States as its offshoot.

NARROW ESCAPE OF THE CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE FROM DESTRUCTION BY FIRE.-The New Chestnut Street Theatre made a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday afternoon. A few minutes past twelve o'clock the gas man James Price, living at No. 315 North Eighteenth street, went into the meter room, a small apartment in the basement on Clovers reet, for the purpose of turning on the gas for the afternoon matinee. He had in his hand a lighted torch. The instant he turned on the gas an explosion took place. Mr. Price was momentarily stunned and on recovering found himself surrounded on all sides with fire. He nevertheless with a coolness and a remarkable presence of mind sprang to the meter shut off the gas and thence escaped through the burned about the head face and hands, but notwithstanding his sufferings he rushed upon the stage and notified Mr. R. S.Smith; the scenic artist of the theatre, who was in the paint room immediately over the burning room. He in turn gave notice to two or three ladies, who were in the wardrobe on the floor above; they managed to get out of the building in an almost suffocated condi-tion. Mr. Price had in the meantime reached the front part of the building where he notified Mr. Sinn, one of the proprietors, and with his assistance he succeeded in turning off the gas from the street manthis remarkable forethought he no doubt succeeded in saving the theatre from de-

The fire communicated to the wood work of the metre room and the engine room which adjoins it, but did not get beyond the locality mertioned. A number of fire the locality mertioned. A number of the companies were about pouring streams of water into the auditorium, of the building, but were prevented mainly through the exertions of Manager Sinn, who understood the situation of the fire, and thus prevented great damage by water. As soon as the fire occurred the pumps belonging to the theatre, with hose attached, were brought into requisition, and these indispensable adjuncts to the establishment, and which all places of amusement should possess, were mainly instrumental in saving the building. The stage, green-room, orchestra and other apartments were flooded with water, and some of the scenery which was to have been used in the play of "Henrietta" during the matinee was injured, but the scenery and appointments of "The Long Strike" remains intact. The performance went on as usual last evening, and by to-night there will be no traces of the fire. The total loss by fire and water will probably reach $2,500.

About three o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was struck. It was reported that the theatre had again taken fire, but the rumor proved to be untrue. The cause of the alarm originated from a fire which had been kindled in a new building, at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, for the purpose of drying the walls.

THE LATE WILLIAM SNYDER -Yesterday afternoon this gentleman was buried from his late residence in this city. He was widely known as a man of wonderful me chanical genius and the inventor of many valuable improvements in fine machinery. For a number of years he had charge of the splendid engine and coining apparatus be-longing to the United States Mint, and to his skill is in a great measure due the per-fection to which such machinery has been brought. While connected with the Mint he acquired a great reputation for the correctness with which the weights and balances used in adjusting the coin were regulated under his care. He was the brother of the late Jacob Snyder, recently deceased in Europe, where he was urging his claim for an improvement in fire arms adopted by the English government.

Movements of Senators and Representatives.

From Washington.

[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 .- The President and the Secretaries to-day decided to send advance copies of the message and the reports of the Departments to the different cities North and West, with instructions to be delivered to all the papers immediately on the message being read in Congress. No definite action will be taken by the Republican Caucus, relative to the course to be pursued by Congress, until next week. Several Senators to day called upon the President, and were cordially received. [By the U. S. Associated Press.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 .- No copies of any of the reports of the Head Departments have yet been printed, most of them, however, are in type and proof slips have been furnished for revision. It is understood that the President's Mssage was to-day read to the cabinet.

About fifteen Senators and thirty Repreentatives have arrived here.

The Baltimore American and the United States and European Associated Press. Baltimore, Nov. 80.—The following announcement appears in this afternoon's edition of the American:

"Our readers have doubtless observed that we have during the past few days published very voluminous telegraphic despatches from all parts of the country and Europe. foreign domestic, commercial, shipping intelligence to an extent that has never before been presented in the columns of the Baltimore papers. The greatest portion of these despatches were from the U.S. and European Telegraphic News Association which has just been established in New York' in opposition to the New York Associated Press. The General Agent of this new association is D. H. Craig, Esq., who has for fifteen years past been the General Agent of the New York Associated Press. It was our purpose to receive and publish the despatches of both of these associations, in pursuance of the usual en terprise exhibited by the American in furnishing its readers with the fullest and latest intelligence from all parts of the world. "The New York Associated Press has however, issued an order prohibiting any paper from receiving their news which shall so elect to publish that received from Mr. Craig also. Knowing from long experience in the telegraph business that Mr. Craig is possessed of the natural tact and energy to distance all competition, and that he has unriva led facilities for the transaction of the business he has taken in hand, we have refused to deprive our readers of his important services.

We do not regard ourselves as under any special obligations to the New York Associated Press, or any other self-constituted body. We have held that association up when some of those who are now combined against us in Baltimore endeavored to destroy their organization and have rendered them more unpaid services during the past five years than any other paper in the country. That we should allow anybody to dictate to us what we shall publish and what we shall not publish in the columns of the American is simply ridiculous. We have always heretofore acted independently of all combination and shall continue so to act, regardless of what the consequences may be. We have however, full confidence that the United States and European Telegraph News Association will be able to furnish fullers more varied and more satisfactory reports of news, foreign, domestic and commercial, than the Associated Press has ever attempted, that our readers will be benefitted by the change. We will also have the advantage of having exclusive special reports, and not be combelled to present our readers with the despatches that appear in the other papers of the city.
