FALL OF A BREWERY-A MAN KILLED AND FOUR INJURED .- The walls of Austia's Belmont Brewery, on the river Schuylkill, near the Columbia Bridge, fell with a tre-mendous crash, yesterday afternoon. The brewery was a large stone edifice, and was being built, as was supposed, in a most substantial manner. Yesterday afternoon the western end, which was being built for a distillery, fell in, and five workmen, who were employed on the masonry, were buried in the rains. After some difficulty they were extricated, when it was discovered that three of them were very seriously hurt, baving their legs broken and severe bruises about the bead. The other two were only slightly injured. The wounded men were at once conveyed to the residence of Mr. Austin, proprietor of the brewery, who resides within a stone's throw of the scene of the accident, and their injuries were properly at-tended to. One portion of the brewery was three stories in height, and the other two stories, and a part of it was roofed in. The old brewery, on the same spot, was burned on the 12th of October last, and was being rebuilt. It is thought that the accident was caused by a crack in the foundation. The portion that fell consisted of the entire western end and sides, while the remainder of the structure remains intact. George Morris, one of the men, died shortly after the occurrence, from wounds received. He the occurrence, from wounds received. He was 67 years of age. The names of the others are George Yerker, aged 20, injured shout the head and in the right leg; James Hookaway, aged 45, injured in the spine: Ralph McCollom, aged 33, injured in the head and breast; John Monaghan, aged 27, united in the head. pjured in the head.

A NOBLE INSTITUTION.—A number of benevolent ladies of this city, impressed with the importance of furnishing a place of residence to respectable young girls, who, while engaged in stores in this city, were unable to pay the exorbitant rates charged at hose ding houses determined to orthigh at boarding-houses, determined to establish a Home, where board could be obtained at a home, where board could be obtained at a small cost, and where also young women arriving in the city could stay until they succeeded in obtaining employment. It was designed as a "Boarding Home," where those who could not pay ordinary boarding-house rates could be accommo-dated at a price which suited their purses. The ladies who started the enterprise pur-chased two handsome three-story biak chased two handsome three-story brick dwellings, Nos. 1433 and 1435 Lombard street, which they furnished plainly, but tastefully, with everything that could contribute to the comfort of the inmates. Choice books were placed in the library, and a melodeon was furnished for the parlor. Here quite a large number of the most re-spectable young women have formed a pleasant and comfortable home, and the institu-tion has thus far proved of great benefit.

Later from Mexico. GALVESTON, Dec. 4, by way of New Or-leans, Dec. 5.—By the arrival of the steamer Back Bird, Captain Cole, and the steamer Black Bird, Captain Cole, and the steamer Elizabeth Read, Captain St. Clair, we have Mexican dates to Saturday evening. The steamer Elizabeth Read left Brezos at 5 P. M., and the Black Bird at 6 P. M., on Sat-

At 11 o'clock, on the 26th ult., a pontoon bridge was thrown from Brownsville to Matamoras, on which a detachment of United States forces, under Colonel J. G. Perkins, crossed, and took command of Matamoras. It was alleged that Canales's forces were to sack the city, and Gen. Sedg-wick sent his troops to protect the lives and property of American citizens.

General Sedgwick then escorted Canales out for an interview with Escobedo, but no out for an interview with Escobedo, but no lerms were agreed on. General Sedgwick then took Canales back to the city. At half-past five o'clock the next morning, Esco-bedo opened on the city. His forces then charged Fort Monterey and were repulsed and pursued by Canales. Escobedo lost four hundred and fifty in killed and wounded, and three hundred prisoners. Canales lost twenty-five men killed. In the afternoon the American troops were with-drawn ontside of the city. M. Canales, a brother of the General, was killed.

We are without information of the opera-tions on Thursday, but we have private in-formation that a telegram was sent to Brazos that on Saturday, at three o'clock P. M., Escobedo and Canales met as friends, and that Escobedo was not in command of the city. A special bearer of despatches was on the Read, who arrived at Plazos on the 30th alt. It was rumored there that the American troops were subsequently withdrawn to the American side of the river.

On the morning after the battle, General Albina Espersea, who was fighting with Escobedo, died of his wounds. A Washington letter to the American, o

Matamoras, says—I have seen the instruc-tions of Minister Campbell. They contain the following points—1. That the United States does not recognize, neither will it recognize, any other government in Mexico, other than that of the Constitutional President. Juarez.

2. That they do not propose to acquire any part of the Mexican territory, and that they do not recognize in any manner the claims of France, and that they are willing to extend to Mexico any aid, with the ob-ject to quell local disorders whenever re-quired by the constitutional Government of Mories on her extinction of Mexico or her authorities, without pro-posing to interfere in any manner whatever in the domestic differences of the country.

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 30 - Matamoras was surrendered to General Sedgwick on the evening of Nov. 24th. Colonel L. G. Peakins, of the 19th United States colored infantry, was placed in command. One bundred and eighteen men of the 4th cavalry crossed over and occupied the city on that day.

day. Colonel Canales made an official state-ment to General Sedgwick, that, owing to his inability to pay up his troops, he could no longer control them. Whereupon Gen-eral Sedgwick immediately demanded the surrender of the place, which was granted.

From Fourses Monroe. FORTRESS MONROE, Dec. 4.—A regular wintry northeast storm sprung up late yes-terday afternoon, and during the night pre-vailed with great violence. In the Chesa-peake bay vessels were hove to all night long, under double-reefed canvas, and many of them eaught in the storm pulses them. of them, caught in the storm, put into Hampton Roads for a harbor. No damage to ves-sels has so far been reported, however, During the night the rain fall in torrents. Early this morning the Baltimore steamer George Leary arrived at the usual hour, but

George Leary arrived at the usual nour, out the sea was so high she was unable to make a landing. While she lay drifting about the barbor, endeavoring to make the wharf she came in collision with the bark Elea-nore, from Rio, with a cargo of coffee, for Baltimore lying at anchor, but (as is start Baltimore, lying at anchor, but (as is stated) with no lights up. The Leary struck the bark a glancing blow on the bow, staving in the bulwarks and doing other damage to the extent of $700. The steamer suffered very slightly, but had to go into the dry dock at Norfolk for reports this morning, but will make her usual trip to Baltimore but will make her usual trip to Baltimore to night. The bark sailed for Baltimore this morning. The sloop R. R. Parker and a crew of six persons, three being negroes, were seized in Norfolk to-day by the United States Marshal, having been libeled by W. J. Poole, Esq., agent for the Board of Under writers, for stealing goods from the wrecked steamer Sheridan, on Body Island beech, North Carolina. The parties were arraigned before the United States Commissioners' Court in Norfolk for trial. The examination takes place to-morrow. One of the men has turned State's evidence. and asked if he was a member of the Union party, and had any right there. The Chairman, Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, replied, amid much laughter-While the lamp holds out to burn. The vilest sinner may return."

Mr. Raymond, on being asked whether he did not participate in the Philadelphia Con-vention, replied that he had, but not in any spirit of hostility to the Union party; that he entered the Convention to strengthen that party, thinking it should be more conserva-tive than it was, but when he found the Con-vention likely to lead to the defeat of the Union party, he abandoned it, and had ever since done his utmost to maintain and support the Union party. He also said that he approved of the measures reported here this evening. Mr. Schofield moved that=the gentleman At such prices as will effect a

Mr. Lawrence, of Obio, asked Mr. Ray-mond whether he adhered to the doctrine of the Philadelphia address, and particularly to the clause that the rebel States could not ratify the Constitutional Amendment with out dishonor?

Mr. Raymond was understood to deny that there was such a clause in it. He ad-bered to that address according to his own construction of it, but not according to the construction sometimes put upon it by others.

Mr. Stevens could not see how Mr. Ray-mond could pretend to any connection with the Union party after his membership in the Philadelphia Convention, and his au-thorship of the address put forth by that hody.

Messrs. Darling and Hale, of New York, and Mr. Garfield, of Ohis, spoke in favor of Mr. Raymond remaining in the caucus; and Mr. Morris, of the same State, and Mr. Cook, of Illinois, against his doing so.

Mr. Raymond made some further expla-nations with regard to the Philadelphia address, when the caucus adopted Mr. Schr-field's resolution by a vote of sixty-six field's resolution by a vote of SIRLY-SIR against twenty-five. Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, offered a resolution that no gentleman can honorably and con-sistently be a member of the Union party, and act with Union members of Congress, in caucus, who adheres to the address of the Philadelphia Convention, held in August last.

After considerable debate on the resolu tion between General Schenck and General Banks, Mr. Bingham and others, it was laid on the table on motion of Mr. Bingham, or the ground that it was entirely out of order. as it referred to the case of Mr. Raymond, which had been previously settled by the resolution of Mr. Schofield.

The vote was close on laying on the table, being 38 to 36.

It is proper to say that no press reporters were present, and that the whole was ob-tained from the recollection of members, The caucus passed a resolution, unani-mously, that the members of it were bound
