OBANGE AND LEMON PEEL. MITCHELL & FLETCHER, 1204 Chestnut street.

MRS. HANNAH M. P. ALLEN, of 728 Chestnut street. Philadelphia, in her examination before the Commissioner of Patents, testifies as follows:

Q. Please state what, in your opinion, is the comparative merit of the Grover & Baker Machine, as compared with other machines?

A. I think it farexels any other machine for dress-making and general family use. It is especially valuable in drees making, on account of the elastic stitch, and the ease and rapidity with which I can pass from one thickness of material to another, with out changing the tension; the stitch is also more beautiful and durable than any other stitch that I know of, The machine is so simple in its combination of parts and its practical operation, that it is very difficult to get it out of order, and any operative can manage it. It is the only machine which has yet succeeded in embroidery. I also like the machine above all others for hemming, tucking, cording, and I would not part with my machine to any consideration if I could not replace it.
