She will require new breast hooks and other forward timbers. It will only be necessary to discharge part of her cargo.

The Admission of Colorado.

The friends of Colorado are confident of her early admission into the Union as a State. They say the opposition at home comes almost entirely from the Territorial Governor and the gentlemen whom he com-missioned as Delegates to Congress in the face of the report of the board of canvassers against him, and a few of their personal and potitical friends.

It is understood that Senator Wade will present to the Senate documents, which will fully counteract the false impression that Colorado has been declining. They that Colorado has been declining. They show a great increase in population, wealth and prosperity; that the tax valuation for the year 1866 is $10.610,800, an increase over last year of $2,000,000; that the mines are not valued or taxed, and would probably double the total valuation; that the filings and entries in the Land Office for actual settlement under the Homestead and Pre-emption laws for the ten months, ending November 1st, were 251,000 acres, an increase over the same period last year of 111,000 acres; that the First National Bank alone, in Denyer city, from May 10th, 1865, to November 1st, 1866,drew exchange to the amount of nearly $12,000,000, and the other banks do nearly as much business; that the assessment for internal revenue for 1866 is $141,368; that during the past year 250 new buildings were erected in Denver City alone, at a cost of $47,600, and many other towns are proportionately prosperous; that eight new smelting furnaces, at a cost of $180,000, have been completed; that 58 miles of mountain roads, completed; that 58 miles of mountain roads, at a cost of $60,000, have been constructed; that 136 miles of large irrigating ditches, at a cost of $136,000, have been made, and that the production of gold has more than doubled within the past year; that the post-office receipts for the year ending June 30 1866, were $33,206—more than in several of the States—and an increase over the preceding year of $15,000 that the creater. ing year of $15.990; that the crops have been abundant, and it is thought enough to supply the home demand; that the pretended census is partial, one-third of the important counties not being returned, and the count in others was made by the assessors, being confined to the taxpayers; that the indications, by the census, of only about 36,000 is contradicted by the property valuation, as it would show a per capita of wealth larger than that of any State in the Union; that the votes also indicate a larger population in 1866—on the first Constitution it was 9,225; in 1865, for Governor, it was 7,457; in 1866, for Delegates, a light vote was cast in harvest time, for an office expected to be abolished by admisonce expected to be abolished by admission, yet it was within four votes of 7,000. From all these facts it is inferred that the present population cannot be less than fifty or sixty thousand, and it is rapidly increasing by emigration.

It is claimed that the rapid approach of two branches of the Pacific railroad twards. Colorado, and the vast extent of her natura resources in agriculture, grazing, gold, silver, lead, coal and iron mines, and in salt and petroleum, insure a rapid development and increase in population in the immediate future; and that she is bound to be one of the greatest, richest and most populous States of the Union.

The Senate will pass over the President's veto the acts admitting Colorado and Nebraska.
