Banks---The Vessel Supposed

Collision, &c.

The ship American Congress, which ar-ived at this port yesterday from London, reports having seen a yacht some four hun-dred and fifty miles from Sandy Hook, one hundred miles east of George's Bank, off Nantucket, Maine, on the morning of Tues-Nantucket, Maine, on the morning of Tues-day the 15th. She was lying to under a balance reef mainsail and jib, with her head to the eastward. She was not able to dis-tinguish her name or see her signals, if any. The Henrietts would appear to un-doubtedly be the yacht seenthus. On leav-ing Sandy Hook on the 11th she took an E. S. E., the others taking a S. S. E. course. This will readily account for the other yachts This will readily account for the other yachts not being seen, as one day's sailing on such courses would place a long distance between her and either the Fleetwing or the Vesta. For the first day or so that the yachts were seen out the weather was favorable, the wind being with the Henrietta. Captain Richard, of the brig Arabian, reported a few days since it will be remembered that on the 13th he sighted a yacht displaying a blue 13th he sighted a yacht displaying a blue flag, in latitude 40.30, longitude 60.56. It was argued from this that the yacht was the Henrietta, and that she was making for the gulf stream, and a very wise thing to do. This news "two days later" would seem to in the gundation of the most core to for the further denote the yacht seen by Captain Richard to be the same as that seen by the American Congress, and she the Henrietta to a dead certainty. Supposing her to have, on the evening of the 13th, encountared the rough weather met by Captain Page, of the American Congress, she could not have made much better way, and her position as described would appear not only a possible but a very probable one. As any matter relating to the absent vachts must be of interest, we publish Captain Page's statement.

At 64 o'clock on the morning of the 15th, while about one hundred and twenty miles east of George's Bank, we observed a yacht which we supposed to have come from New York. She appeared in sight suddenly, not having been previously discernible in the heavy snow storm, which prevailed. A heavy show storm, which prevailed. A heavy gale was blowing at the time, but the yacht appeared to be ably managed. She was lying-to under a reef mainsail and jib. with her head to the eastward. Under the circomstances, the seamanship displayed by her commander was excellent. Those on board who had seen the Henririetta supposed the yacht before us was that vessel, as she answered to her description. She had a short topmast, and was otherwise like the Henrietta.

When we first noticed the yacht she was about three ship's lengths from us, while we were running at about eleven knots an hour. A collision at the moment seemed almost inevitable, but we succeeded in passing her some distance. The chance at the moment of her escaping been run down by usseemed very small indeed. There was no time to exchange signals or inquire the name of the vessel, as we were engaged in the effort to clear the yacht and avoid a collision. Besides, the snow was blinding, and fell in flakes so large and so thickly as to obstruct our vision. A terrific gale was blowing from the northeast at the time. Had the American Congress been as badly managed as the steamer Scotland, the loss of the yacht, whichever she was, would have been a foregone conclusion. The steward of the ship

It is not uncommon at weddings among our wealthy fami-lies, for the bride to receive presents of silver plate the value of fitchen or twenty thousand dollars. At silver weddings there are gifts sometimes of equal amount. It is sa'd that the use of silver ware, of greater has value, is more general among families of mode-rate means in America, than in any other country. And this state of attairs, no doubt is owing to the fact that our people have discovered that silver ware is cheapest in the long run, and at the same time more has gained such an envisible reputation for the mann-facture of Silver Plated Ware as that at the N E or rare of Ninth and Checturt stretts. gress, who paid particular attention to the yacht, states that she was either the Henrietta or the Fleetwing. Those on board, he said, were engaged in the attempt to prevent a collision with the American Con-gress. His belief that the vessel was one of yress. This benefit that the vessel was one of the yachts competing in the race from New York to the Isle of Wight, was confirmed by the fact that no pilot boats, one of which she must otherwise have been, proceed out so far on the ocean. Up to the time the American Congress saw the yacht she had had some very rough weather. The cold was so intense that several of her crew were badly frost bitten. The gale in which she was in on sighting her was most terrific and rough weather marked her passage from that time till she arrived at this port.

From this it will be seen that no good From this it will be seen that no good, easy time has been spent by the adven-turous yachtmen since leaving here, now tendays since. At the rate the yacht had gone, and meeting with similar weather, the passage, if made it all, and of that there are doubts could scarcely he effected in less than thirty days from the date of sailing, or, in other words, they would not reach the Needles much before the 10th of January. It is not, however, to be expected that the weather would continue for so long a time without some change. There is no question but that some change. There is no question but that the other two yachts must have suffered more from the effects of the gale than the one seen by the American Congress, as from the course they took they would have to stand its full fury. Let us hope that despite the antagonism of the elements they may have a very merry Christmas and a truly happy New Year, and the latter not fer happy New Year, and the latter not far way from their destination.

When a small quantity of this dark powder is poured out on the end of the cigar and breathed on gently, it becomes incande scent, and lights the pipe or cigar.

At the NEW ENGLAND and VERMONT STATE FAIR, held at Bratileboro, Vt., Sept., 1863, the Com-mittee on Sewing Machines submitted the following report:

THE FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE

"We consider the perfect finish and successful worke ing of the Florence Sewing Machine deserves mor-than a passing notice. This machine combines all the excellencies, but none of the defects of other Sewing Machines with which we are acquainted. The great variety of work that can be accomplished by its four different stitches, the reversible feed motion, the self-adjusting tension, the rapidity and quality of the work done by it, clearly demands of us the award of the Society's highest premium-its sliver medal,"

At the NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE FAIR, held as Nashua, Fept, 1866, the "FLORENCK" was awarded the highest premium given to Sewing Machines.

At the MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION FAIR, heid in Boaton, September, 1885, the "Florence" received a Silver Medal and Diploma, together with all other bewing Machines on exhibition.

At the late STATE FAIRS of Pennaytvania, Ohio and California the Florence was awarded the highest premium over all competitors. The verdict of the people is unanimously in favor of the Florence on secont of its many advantages over all others. Must be seen to be appreciated. Call at the office;
