ind no member of his Cabinet. He says frant or any member of his Cabinet. He says nothing of his participation in a plot for the ab-duction of the President, but as this is proven be-yond a doubt, whatever he may say in that re-gard cannot weigh against the positive evidence. "Samuel Arnold, one of the conspirators of the Dry Tortugas, in a confession which he made (and now on file in the War Department) states that Surratt was present at a meeting held in March, 1865, at which the abduction plot was virtually abandoned. From this time the friends of Surratt claim that he never appeared with the conspirators, but left for Richmond, where he re-ceived a special commission from the rebel Government to go to Canada, and thence to Elmira, New York. This commission related to the condition and treatment of rebel prisoners in the hands of this Government, and came from Jefferson Davis, through one of his subordinate officials-General E. C. Lee, a witness for the de-fence on the late trial here. Surratt, bearing this commission, left Richmond in the last days of ominiation of the late trial here. Surratt, bearing this fence on the late trial here. Surratt, bearing this commission, left Richmond in the last days of March, and arrived at Washington on the mor-ning of the 3d of April, the day on which the news of the fall of Richmond was received. He left the same afternoon for Montreal, Canada, and after conferring with the rebel officials in that eity, started on the 12th of April for Elmira, N. Y., where he arrived on the afternoon of the 12th. He intended to make a drawing of the prisoners' depot at this place, ob-tain the number of prisoners there and the way in drawing of the prisoners depot at this blace, ob-tain the number of prisoners there and the way in which they were treated, but abandoned the exe-cution of his commission in this regard on hear-ing of the surrender of Lee. The defence attempted to prove on the recent trial all of the details con-templated in Surrat's visit to Elmira, N. Y., by this General E. C. Lee, but the Court refused to receive the evidence. The prisoner further claims that the confessions of Payne and Atzeclaims that the confessions of Fayne and Atze-rodt, on file in the War Department, show that he was not here on the day of the assassination, for neither of them mentioned his presence at the conference held during the day or at the meeting at the Herndon House, which took place about two hours before the assas-sination, and at which time and place Atracadi sination, and at which time and place Atzerodt pretends that he first heard of the plot to murder, Conritandt street, over the remains of George W. Godfrey, who was employed as a clerk in the Herald office, and who committed suicide on Sunday night. It appears that deceased had been away from the office for several days, and all search made for him was unavailing. On Sunday evening he called at the Tontine Hotel, registered his name as Geo. Anderson, and engaged a room. He had with him a small travelling-reticule. He retired to his room at an early hour; reticule. He retired to his room at an early hour; and, as he did not make his appearance at break-fast yesterday morning, his room was entered, and he was found dead in bed. The police were at once notified, and the room was placed in their charge. On opening the reticule, it was found to contain two bottles, both of which were label-led "landanum." One of the bottles was empty, but the other was traitaily filled. The sum of but the other was partially filled. The sum of nine dollars was found in the reticule. Coroner Gover was notified and held the inquest. A Gover was notified and need the indust. An post mortem examination of the remains revealed the fact that death resulted from polson, and a verdict of "suicide" was rendered by the jury. It is stated that when deceased left the Herald office he had in his possession bank checks and money to a large amount which have not been accounted for. No further facts in regard to this money could be obtained, owing to the unusual reticence of those interested. A meteor of unusual beauty, formation and A meteor of infusion beauty, formation among the magnitude, was observed in the heavens at about five minutes past ten o'clock has night. The phenomenon appeared at an altitude of about twenty-five degrees above the horizon, one degree west of north, and was visible probably two seconds. The atmosphere was unusually clear in that quarter, and favorable for observation. The meteor appeared as a sphere of semi-transparent yellowish fire, and after ac-complishing about one-third of its flight a loud detonation was distinctly audible. The loud detonation was distinctly audible. The sphere instantly burst on its northerly verge, and assumed the shape of a fleecy crescent, the body still retaining its original color, and the edges displaying a bluish green or phosphorescent tinge. A star of great magnitude and dazzling tinge. A star of great magnitude and dazzing brilliancy then shot northward from between the horns of the crescent with great velocity and suddenly disappeared, while the crescent faded with a vapor-like rapidity. The phenomenon was witnessed by numbers of persons on the streets, many of whom expressed admiration at see novel a spectacle. pushed ahead with that vigor which otherwise it, would have received. Nearly all the bases upon which are to rest the upright columns or supports have been laid as far up as Liberty street. The next thing will be the adjust-ment of the supports and the laying of the rails.
