THE BLUE AND THE GRAY. The women of Columbus, Mississippi, a mated by nobler scutiments than are many o, their sisters, have shown themselves impartial incir sisters, nave snown inemseives imparti-in their offeringe made to the memory of the dead They strewed flowers alike on the graves of the Confederate and of the National soldiers.—New York Tribune.

By the flow of the inland river, Whence the fleets of iron have fled, Where the blades of the grave-grass quive Asleep are the ranks of the dead;--Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day;--Under the one the Blue. Under the one, the Blue; Under the other, the Gray.

These in the rooms - facts Those in the gloom of deleat, * All with the battle-blood gory, In the dusk of eternity meet;-Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day;-Under the laure! the Blue; Under the laurel, the Blue; Under the willow, the Gray.

From the silence of sorrowful hours The desolate mourners go, Lovingly laden with flowers Alike for the friend and the foe;-Under the sod and the dew,

Under the lilies, the Gray. So with an equal splendor The morning sun-rays fall, ith a touch, impartially tender In the blossoms blooming for all; Under the sod and the dew,

Waiting the judgment day;-Broidered with gold, the Blue; Iellowed with gold, the G So, when the Summer calleth. on forest and field of grain ith an equal murmur falleth The cooling drip of the rain;-

Inder the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day;-Wet with the rain, the Blue; Wet with the rain, the Gray Sadly, but not with upbraiding, The generous deed was done; the storm of the years that are fading, to braver battle was won;-Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day;-Under the blossoms, the Blue, Under the garlands, the Gray. No more shall the war-ery sever,

Or the winding rivers be red; They banish our anger forever When they laurel the graves of our dea Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day;-Love and tears for the Blue, Tears and love for the Gray.
