The Society of Operatives, whose branches extend over all Italy, have invited Garibaldi to Siens. A Florence correspondent writes: "All Siena, except the aristocracy and civil authoritics, turned out to receive the hero of Italy on his arrival on Sunday last. He has not visited the city since the memorable year 1848. He is on his way to the sulphur baths of Rapolano, in the neighborhood of Siena, which are considered very efficacious in those rheumatic affections to which he is at times a martyr. On his arrival at the hotel he was called for, as usual, by the multitude. He said, in answer to impatient remarks concerning Rome, that the time was perhaps, at hand for Garibaldi. hotel he was called for, as itsual, by the mutatude. He said, in answer to impatient remarks concerning Rome, that the time was perhaps, at hand for going there; but that when the moment arrived in which treaties might be torn up and cast aside, then the object would be attained, 'without shedding a single drop of blood.' While he was speaking his quick ear caught the cry of 'Death,' to some one, uttered by/voices in the crowd, at which he at once exclaimed, with his radiant and gentle smile, 'No! / Death to no one. Long life to the good cause! The deep silence which prevailed while he was speaking was broken at intervals by rapturous applause, as he made some of his unfalling appeals to the patriotic feeling and affection of his hearers. A splendid banquet was given to the General on the 12th. He had a guard of honor, a picket of the National Guard, to attend him at the hotel." to attend him at the hotel."

The Cholera in Sicily.

The most distressing news continues to be received in Malta of the spread of the cholera in Sicily. The week ending August 1 shows a total of 6,612 cases, and 3,521 deaths, /against 5,556 cases, and 3,313 deaths of the week before. In Pelegrap and its suburbs the return of last week Palermo and its suburbs the return of last week was 30 cases and 15 deaths per diem. The re-turn for twenty-four hours in that district from turn for twenty-four hours in that district from the 1st to the 2d of Augustis 463 cases and 320 deaths. Messina is still free, and only a few cases are reported at Syracuse. The disease appears to be on the decline at Catania. In the latter town the dead were left to rutrefy in the houses, which had to be broken into by the troops and gendarmes, for the removal of the festering cornses. A letter from Messina received at troops and gendames, for the form dessina received at tering corpses. A letter from Messina received at Malta on Tuesday week says: "The clericals do their best to induce the lower classes to believe, and with some degree of success, that cholera is manufactured by the Government, and is spread manufactured by the Government, and is spread by the carbineers and other agents with the view of diminishing the population, who were to have revolted against the present rule. In Catania, where the pestilence is committing the greatest ravages, of the persons attacked very few recover, as the belief is general that the disease is propagated by the doctors, and the dying even refuse the sacrament, sus-pecting that even the sacred water may be imand the dying even retuse the sacrament, suspecting that even the sacred water may be impregnated with cholera. Here at Messina the public health is excellent in spite of the excessive heat which has prevailed for the past week.

Imperial Russian Honors to the Admiral and His Officers—Attentions of the Swedish Navy in the Waters of Russia—Reception by the Archduke Constanting. Constantine.

St. Petersburg, August 15.—The attentions shown by the Russian authorities to Admiral Farragut since his arrival, last Saturday, have been enthusiastic and marked.

The Russians have invariably taken the initiative in salutes and visits of ceremony. All the Russian officers have, by order of government, paid their respects to the Admiral.

The Swedish seet in the Russian waters has been exceedingly friendly.

Admiral Farragut and staff, with the Captains Admiral Farragut and staut, with the Captains of the Franklin, Canandalgua and the Frolic, were presented to the Grand Duke Constanting to-day. The Grand Duke had come expressly from abroad to meet the United States steet. The reception was cordial. To-morrow the Grand Duke visits the squadron. All well on board. NAPOLEON IN CAMP.

His Majesty in the Kitchen Making Soup.

(Paris (Angust 15) correst The Emperor, since his arrival at Châlons, has enjoyed capital health, and it has been noticed that he is more interested and amused by the theatrical performances of the soldiers than by theatrical performances of the Soldier's than by those of our best "troupe" in this capital. His Majesty leads a regular soldier's life, and seems to enjoy the meals he shares with the officers. He has even become a formidable rival of Baron Brisse, inasmuch as he has invented a Baron Brissé, inasmuch as he has invented a new and rapid manner of making soup. The general officers in command dined with him actour de rôle the other day. As soon as dinner was announced the Emperor said, "Messleurs, we are now going to make the soup." A servant handed his Majesty a bottle, with which he proceeded to the kitchen. The contents of the bottle, which I coulclude to have been a preparation of most escape was poursed by the Emperor. tion of meat essence, was poured by the Emperor into a huge saucepan of boiling water, and instantly made soup for sixty persons.
Whether good or bad I cannot take upon myself to assert, not having been one of the "august assembly," as the newspapers express it.

THE RUSSIAN NAVAL DINNER. The American Officers Entertained by the Grand Duke-Imperial Inspec-tion of the Franklin-The Frotic in Gala Trim at Stettin.

Chonstadt, August 16th, 1867 .- Admiral Farragut and the commanding officers of the United States equadron dined last night with the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, at his palace, Liv-lovski, with the officers of the Swedish fleet. To-day the Grand Duke Constantine paid an official visit to the American flagship Franklin, accompanied by the Minister of Marine of Russia and a large staff of officers. He was saluted on boarding and leaving the ship, the yards being manned and the ships dressed in colors.

The Archduke made a long and thorough examination of the Franklin, and expressed himself greatly pleased with the visit. Subsequently he visited the Ticonderoga, and was received with all the honors. The day was pleasant. The Frolic had a magnificent reception at Stettin. The troops were out under arms, the general was saluted and nopular demonstrations were made. saluted, and popular demonstrations were made on all sides. Mrs. Farragut was honored in the most kindly manner.

BELGIUM.

The Widow of Maximilian. According to the Memorial Diplomatique, the celebrated Belgian physician, Dr. Bulkens, was called to Miramar to pronounce an opinion upon the state of the Empress Charlotte. After a careful study of the case, Dr. Bulkens expressed his hope of a slow but certain cure if he were allowed to subject the illustrious patient to a very lowed to subject the illustrious patient to a system of treatment different from that hitherto adopted, and especially to discontinue the state of complete isolation in which the German physicians have kept her. "We are glad to learn," adds the Memorial, "from a letter addressed by Dr. Bulkins to the Journal de Hruxelles, that since Her Majesty's return to Belgium there has been a progressive improvement in her health.

The Situation at Washington. Special Correspondence of the Boston Advertiser.)

WA-HINGTON, Aug. 27, 1867.—Although the President issued orders removing Gen. Sickles and directing General Hancock to proceed to Louisiana, they have not been promulgated from the army headquarters. It can be stated positively that on this point very grave differences have arisen between Mr. Johnson and General Graut. The letter sent from the latter on the subject of this difference did not reach the President until after the cabinet meeting to-day. It contains matter and suggestions for the President's consideration of a different character from the protest in General Sheridan's case, relating the contribute to the subject of this difference of the protest of the protest of the protest of the subject of the protest of the p the protest in General Sheridan's case, relating almost entirely to the powers which the reconstruction law gives to the President and to the General-in-Chief. The order of the President in regard to General Hancock will probably be promulgated by General Grant to morrow, and as it now stands, but, unless modified by the President, with a clause similar to that contained in now stands, but; unites mounted by the President, with a clause similar to that contained in the order to General Thomas. General Grant considers the order to General Hancock as a direct insult to himself, and further, as intended to be a complete suspension of Order No. 77, made president and the addition a usurantion on the president. viously, and in addition, a usurpation on the part viously, and in addition, a usurpation on the part of the President of the powers conferred on the General-in-Chief by Congress. These latter powers General Grant will not yield. It is generally expected at headquarters that Mr. Johnson will at once relieve General Grant as Secretary of War, and appoint in his stead some willing tool; but it is understood that Gen. Grant claims, under the amendment to the army appropriation bill, passed March, 1867, that all orders must pass through the army headquarters. Section 2d of this bill provides that the headquarters of the army shall be at Washington; that all orders and instructions relating to military operations issued by the President or Secretary of War shall be issued through the General of the army; that he shall not be removed, suspended or relieved from command, or suspended or relieved from command, or assigned to duty elsewhere except at his own request, and with the approval of the Senate, and that all orders or instructions issued contrary and that an orders of instructions issued contrary to the provisions of this section shall be null and yold, and any officer issuing such orders shall be guilty of mis-demeaner; and any officer who shall knowingly transmit, convey or obey such order, shall be liable to imprisonment for not less than two nor more than twenty years. It is possible that the President may yield to General Grant, but this is not expected in official circles, while a clear and positive rupture upon questions of authority under the reconstruction law is con-sidered certain. The President appears desperate, while his advisers are known to be urging him to extremes.

The President to-night was made aware of the fact that Gen. Grant considered all obligations of secrecy regarding the Stanton letter removed by secrecy regarding the Stanton letter removed by the publications already made by the President; but nevertheless, the latter flatly refused to let it go out, although several correspondents, in view of Gen. Grant's permission to have it published, visited the President to obtain it. He seems determined to suppress it. He has also stated that he will give no executive news to radical papers.

At the request of the President, John M. Langston a colored orntor from Ohio, has had an inston, a colored orator from Ohio, has had an in-terview with Mr. Johnson regarding the changes in the Freedmen's Burcau. Mr. Langston urged Mr. Johnson to retain General Howard, giving as his opinion that the real interest of the colored people required it. Mr. Johnson replied that he considered General Howard ambitious and corrupt, and that besides he was a hypocrite and did not have the interests of the colored people at heart, and said that he must ap-point aman who was a true friend to them, and he intended to do so. He further stated that if the colored people here would agree upon some one of their number, he would appoint him, and clearly intimated his readiness to tender the place clearly intimated his readiness to tender the place to Mr. Langston. The latter has no idea of taking the place. His friends here advised him not to do so, and while many of them would like to take the President at his word and commit him to the policy of giving black men office, still they appear to agree that the real design of the President is to involve the bureau in irretrievable difficulties by putting a civilian at its head, and difficulties, by putting a civilian at its head, and making necessary the removal or resignation of many military officers who could not do duty under a civilian, and also complicating its relations with the other bureaus of the War Depart ment. The President further hoped thus to secure the resignations of many officers through their refusal to serve with and under colored men, and in this way to bring odium upon the radicals. There seems no probability of Mr. Langston's being caught in Mr. Johnson's trap.

CITY NOTICES. The Union Pacific Railroad Company announcehrough their agents that they will convert the various lasses of government securities into their first mortage six per cent.gold-interest thirty year bonds at the following rates, subject to slight daily variations acording to the fluctuations of the market:

annual return of over time per cent. We learn that more than one-third of the road is finished, and that the net carnings are much more than sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds. If so much is received from the way business, through a new and unsettled country, the revenue from the vast through traffic over a through line of 1,845 miles of road will be greater than that of any other public corporation in the world. Fifteen thousand men are stoadily at work upon this Pacific Railroad line, and the money already expended has reached the round sum of thirty-five million dollars. Of this amount about ten millions have been paid in by private stockholders, about twelve millions have been furnished by the United States Government, in its own bonds, and the Company's own First Mortgage Bonds to the same amount have been issued, and a part of them are now effered for sale.
