Hon. Schuyler Colfax on the Political Situation.

Speaker Colfax and Senator Sherman addressed speaker condy and senator sterman addressed a large Republican meeting in Lebanon, Ohio, on Tucsday, 17th inst. Mr. Colfax said he might condense his remarks into one impressive sentence—those who love the flag should rule the land. The issue which now towers above all other issues, is the question whether this Government is to be administered in the interest of loyalty or in the interest of disloyalty—whether the men whe for four years had their armies in the field against us, and sought to whelm us and them in a common ruin shall reconstruct the country they vainly sought to destroy. In the olden time—in the talmy days of the Democratic party, the watchword of that party inscribed on all its banners, and proclaimed by all its leaders, was indemnit for the past and security for the future. We cannot have indemnity for the past, but we can have security for the future. We can have guarintees—irreversible guarantees—inserted in the Constitution to prevent future rebellions. can prevent another bloody scene like that which has just transpired, to chill the blood and drain the treasures of the country again. We can have, and, God helping us, we will have security for the future. We stake our political existence as a party upon this proposition—that loyalty shall rule in the States which lifted their unboly hands against the Constitution of the country. Let those who tire of the struggle leave us and go to the Democratic party if they will, but as for us and our associates in your National Congress in which you have placed such confidence with the traction of the confidence with the con dence, until the last day of our existence as a Congress, on the 4th of March/ 1869, defying a recreant President on the one hand, and his traitorous allies on the other, we have sworn that treason shall not rule in those States of the South.

South.

Mr. Colfax then said there were three charges upon which the Republican party is arraigned by Democratic speakers, viz.: Debt, usurpation and negro equality. These charges were considered in order. The debt had sprung from a Democratic rebellion, and the nation had it to pay. He, himself, would rather retire into private life forever than to repudiate one dollar of that debt. The great party with which he had The great party with which he had that debt. The great party with which he had acted in Congress was determined to pay every dollar of it. He contended that the President, and not Congress, had been guilty of usurpation, and he dwelt at considerable length upon the policy of Congress, contrasting it with that of the President, and claiming that it alone could give peace and security to the country. The rebels had shown no signs of repentance. They had not even voluntarily surrendered a single rebeis had shown no signs of rependance. They had not even voluntarily surrendered a single gun, and now they were in hot haste to get back to the seats which they surrendered a few years ago. They haven't got these seats yet. He should be willing, when the work of reconstruc tion was completed, to grant a general annesty to all except a few who concocted the re-bellion while holding high places of trust and profit under the Federal Government. These he should never consent to restore to place and power in this land. They should never, by his consent, hold office under the Government. The Southern States must be reconstructed under the leadership of men in the South who were faithful among the faithless, loyal among the disloyal. Mr. Colfax spoke for two hours. He was in favor of impeachment, and he was quite positive that the ides of November would see the President arraigned before the Senate of the Linted States charged with not faithfully area. United States, charged with not faithfully executing the laws of the United States, nd no power in issuing his last proclamation of amnesty.

Intelligence from Bogota-Horrible Murder at Carthagena. Intelligence received on the Isthmus announces that Gen. Peter J. Sullivan, United States

Minister to Bogota, arrived at that Capital on July 22d, and was received in public audience by President Santos Acosta on the 25th. The usual congratulatory speeches were made on the occasion on both sides.

A horrible affair occurred at Carthagena on the night of the 1st Inst. Four Americans, ex-offi-cers of the steamer Rayo (R. R. Cuyler), about cers of the steamer Rayo (R. R. Cuyler), about which there has been so much trouble, came from Santa Martha to Carthagena, in the English steamer Tyne, as bearers of despatches from President Gutierrez to the authorities of the latter place, when, on going ashore; they were attacked by an armed mob and two of the number brutally murdered. One other was seriously wounded while the fourth second only tacked by an armed mod and two of the number brutally murdered. One other was seriously wounded, while the fourth escaped only by remaining very quietly in his room through the door of which the mob thrust their bayonets. The names of the murdered men are George A. Borchart, of Savannah, Ga., and Jno. W. Murdough, of Portsmouth, Va. Wounded, Thomas L. Dornin, Norfolk, Va. The one who escaped was Philip Smith, of Fairfax county, Va. Dornin and Smith were rescued by A. S. Hanabergh, Esq. United States Consul, at midnight, and placed on board the Tyne, in which steamer they came on to Aspinwall. Up to the 5th instant nothing has been done; no arrests made, and no one dared to speak of the affair. After the murder, the Consul proceeded to bury the dead bodies, which he found stripped of everything valuable. The despatches and letters of protection they bore were delivered next day to the President of the State, all bespattered with their blood. It is much to be regretted that these gentlemen, in accepting be regretted that these gentlemen, in accepting service as officers of the Colombian navy (?) had deprived themselves of the protection of the United States flag; still, as they were Americans, all will sympathize with them and their friends. American residents at Carthagena, Santa Martha and Barranguilla call loudly for an American man-of-war to remain near them, as a pro-tection against existing lawlessness in that region, consequent on the late unsettled/and revolutionary state of the country, and it is greatly to be hoped our Government will see the necessity of sending one.

In the beginning of June last a Mrs. Truefield, with her son, aged five years, arrived at the Hotel des Italiens. 29 Rue de Choiseul, kept by a man named Lemoine. She was provided with unexceptionable recommendations and engaged a room, for which the price agreed on was 10f. per day. Considering the prices exorbitant, the charges for the chamber especially having been doubled after the first four days, Mrs. Truefield declined to pay, and expressed her intention to seek a lodging elsewhere. ber, will meet next Wednesday morning in St. John's Chapel, Trinity Parish.

The Coroner's inquest on the bodies of the four victims of the Twenty-eighth street boiler explo-sion was concluded yesterday. The jury found a verdict declaring that the explosion was caused by a want of water in the boiler: that the construction of the boiler was defective; that the Police Department does not earry out the State laws in reference to the inspection of steam boilers; and censuring the Police Commissioners for appointing an incompetent Inspector in the district in which the explsion occurred.

The Republican Party---Its Greatest Peril, The warning of the Maine election came not

The warning of the Maine election came not a moment too soon for the welfare of the Republican party. The West furnishes abundant indications of the danger it encounters as a consequence of the determination of cliques and factions to foist upon it issues quite foreign to the recognized objects of its organization. Senthe recognized objects of its organization. Sentor Grimes' vigorous protest against the attempt to make the prohibitory tariff a test of party orthodoxy, receives the indorsement of the leading Republicans of his State. Gen. Baker, Adj't-General and one of its rest. Republicans of his state. Gen. Baker, Adj't-Gen-cral, and one of its most influential men, writes "that if the tariff lobby succeed in interpolating into the creed of the Republican party a prohi-bitory tariff plank, and making that the issue, the Republican party of the Northwest will be smashed to atoms." Strong as the statement is, we are persuaded that it does not transcend the truth. Throughout the Northwest the Republi-can press is unanimous in its depunciation of can press is unanimous in its denunciation of the combinations which try to manipulate the ac-tion of Congress on the tariff question; admitting the necessity of high duties in existing circumstances, but resisting any assertion of the prohibitory principle in the interest of classes.

The temperance question in its prohibitory aspect is another source of party weakness elsewhere than in Maine or Massachusetts. In Michigan the recent convention proposed to engraft the doctrine upon the State Constitution, wisely consenting, however, to submit it to a separate vote. In Illinois and adjacent States zealots seek to invest prohibition with legislative, and ultimately with constitutional sanction, and the intolerant spirit in which they promulgate their views threatens to alienate from the Republican party a large proportion of the German vote. The earnestness with which General vote. The earnestness with which General vote. The earnestness with which General Carl Schurz remonstrates against "attempts to use the Republican organization to inflict on the community arbitrary legislation, encroaching on individual rights in connection with temperance and Sunday questions," shows the temperance and Sunday questions," shows the depth to which popular feeling has been stirred on the subject, and the folly of those who would embarrass the party with extraneous questions. General Leib, a leader among the Germans of Illinois, in a published letter alleges "that so much harm has already been done, that nothing but an earnest protest of the whole Republican Press of the State against the course pursued, and an explicit expression of this view in the next State partform of the party, "will secure to the Republican Party the future political support of the radical German element.

These signs of the times should not be disregarded by those who would preserve the unity and power of the Republican party. The period is not one in which it can afford to assume the responsibility of every ery which individuals raise in the Republican name, or by intolerance in any form to furnish provocatives to division. The great work of restoring the Union and guaran-teeing permanence to the results achieved by the war remains to be completed, and until this be done no new issue should be entertained. The future has important questions in reserve, and the tariff is one of them. But it were criminal to anticipate causes of party difference or to divert public attention, however slightly, from the mo-mentous task with which it has been intrusted by the country. Forbearance, moderation and liberality in interpreting the motives and aims of others are qualities which the Republican Party cannot too sedulously cultivate in the present critical condition of National affairs.—N. 1. All the organs, including the brain, were in a healthy state, and would seem to have justified expectations of a long life. As far as can be now ascer-tained, death occurred as the combined result of a dysenteria, with which the patient had been afflicted for several days, together with some pro-bable sore throat and the fatigue of journeying from Narraganset Beach to Boston. These causes are indeed insufficient, unless in a patient of peculiar delicacy and susceptibility of constitu-
