1867.

The following poem written during the war by our catedmed fellow-townsman, Richard Coe, Esq., has peculiar significance at the present time, when the nation en masse are honoring the noble soldier Sheridan:

The Battle of Cedar Creek.

BY RICHARD COE. Beaten, and in sad disorder. Not a soldier heeds the order, "Rally, rally for the Right!" All he cares for is for flight. Down the valley of disaster, Hurrying fast, and following faster, Plunged each horse and urged each master, Oh! but 'twas a pitcous sight! Custer. Merritt, vainly shout "Rally, boys, and face about, Stay this most disgraceful rout!"

Where, Oh, where is Sheridan?" Twenty miles away is he, Zounds! that such a thing should be! Seated on his charger black, Hast'ning to his army back, the the lightning in its course, with a mighty torrent's force,, Onward sped his noble horse, Clouds of dust were in his track! Met by men bewailing flight, "Pshaw!" he said, "I'll fix it right, Forward, forward to the fight!" All along the line there ran Words of cheer from Sheridan!

All along the line there ran

"Ill befel to them, that day, That the rebels sought the fray; Broke their shattered ranks and fled, Leaving heaps of dying, dead! Now with shouts of joy and laughter, Echoed back from Heaven's own rafter, Dashed our gallant troopers after. Till the field with blood was red! Soldiers hugged each other then, Cried and laughed by turns again, More like girls than stalwart men; While along the line there ran Cheer on cheer for Sheridan!

Who shall claim for him alone All the victory as his own? True, a man of stubborn will, Joined with great chivalric skill, After that his troops retreated, Wounded, bafiled, and defeated, Had, upon his charger seated, By his presence sent a thrill Into every soldier's heart; But the nation gave a start, Moved as by electric dart! While from lip to lip there ran "God! and Philip Sheridan!"

CITY NOTICES.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.-The undersigned, Trustece of the Riverside Institute, an institution chartered by the State of New Jersey, for the maintenance and education of the Orphans of the Soldiers and Sailors of our whole country, which is being established and endowed by the enterprise and patriotism of the Washington Library Company of Philadelphia, would announce to the public that in their opinion the efforts being made by that Company for the establish-ment and endowment of the Riverside Institute cannot ail of success. Their agencies have been established, and their advertisements published throughout the country at great expense, and the results are now being realized. If the distribution were to take place, and the labors of the Company cease on the 25th instant, as advertised, the Institution, though established, would not have provided the means for a proper and permanent continuance, nor could it be so extensively useful as the public and the Trustees desire.

After mature consideration, we have therefore recommended that the Washington Library Company postpone their distribution until the 8th of January next, and continue the sale of certificates and engra vings until that time, under the firm belief that the result will assuredly provide a permanent home for the maintenance and education of very many of the orphans of those who have died in the service of their country.
