UITY BULLETIN.

LECTURE BY JOHN B. GOUGH.—A lecture is advertised to be delivered by this gentleman on Wednesday evening next at Horticultural Hall. The subject of the lecture, "Eloquence and Orators," is one which will at once attract the attention of our lecture going community, as it is one tors," is one which will at once attract the atten-tion of our lecture going community, as it is one of his very best platform efforts. Another lecture, will be given by the same gentleman on Thursday evening, when he will deliver his world-renowned "Fact and Fietlon." Tickets at Ashmead's, Monday morning.

Monday morning. CRICKET.—The return match between the Germantown and Lillywhite Ulub, of Germantown, will be played to-morrow, Saturday, on the new grounds of the Germantown, at Wayne station. grounds of the Germantown, at wayne station.
This is the first match of the season played on these grounds, as the heavy rains in the early part of the season so damaged them as to render part of the season so damaged them as to render the season seaso them unfit for use. Play will commence at ten

IMPORTANT TO TRAVELERS.—Travelers between this city and New York will be interested in a change of the hours of starting the trains for New York, from the West Philadelphia depot. The new arrangement goes into effect on Monday next. The hours for the starting of the trains will be found advertised in another column.

HANDSOME IMPROVEMENT .- By reference to an HANDSOME IMPROVEMENT.—By reference to an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that six magnificent brown stone houses are just being finished on Spruce street, above Twentieth, which in finish and size are equal to any houses built for sale in the city. They are in the market for purchasers.

CITY NOTICES.

Messes. Wood & Cary's Opening. - The October Opening of fashionable Bonnets and Millinery goods at the establishment of Messrs, Wood & Cary; 226 Chestnut street, yesterday, was an overwhelming success in every respect. We had hoped to have presented to our readers a verbal description of the prominent styles of Bonnets and Hats in the "Opening," but soon discovered that the columns of a day newspaper were utterly insufficient for such a project. To afford some idea of the difficulty here encountered, we may mention that in passing through a single room we saw over one hundred beautiful new bonnets, all challenging our admiration, and all of them different, while in elegantly-trimmed Hats for ladies and misses the assortment ,was certainly no less varied and extensive. Under these circumstances, mere general observation is all that we can promise, and under this head we are glad to notice, first, that all the bonnet indications that we have seen favor the conviction that ladies have returned to their good taste and sense of former times, when things were called by their proper names and a diamond-shaped or oblong patch of trimmed pasteboard was not recognized as a bonnet. Although still small, the prevailing sizes this season are more bonnet-shaped, and sufficiently extensive to admit of an inside face trimming, which for several past seasons has been impossible. We therefore say to the execrable little fanction, which is passing away, farewell, with an unaffected desire that it may never be revived. The return of face trimmings we regard not only as a gratifying improvement in the Bonnet, but as a moral, not to say sanitary reform. Instead of recorting to the complexion-ruining devices for beautifying effects, ladies of good taste and judgment will again avail themselves of the contrast afforded by becoming shades in inside trimmings for such artistic

With this change in shape comes another blissfu necessity. The ladies will have to bring down their Olympus of hair on the crown. What an improvement that will be! In times gone by a lady of taste could so arrange her side-face ornaments as to hide a multitude of facial shortcomings, and the new idea again opens to her the same field with advantages in the crest-like, or diadem-formed front at the top which no former style of bonnet has afforded. In colors the prevailing shade will be Bismarckbeautiful golden brown, which we trust may wear its laurels long, as it is very beautiful. Although many other hues will be in popular favor, as scarlet, orange purple, blue, in various shades, and grays and drabs in endless variety.

We observe that in Trimmings there is a great latttade. The new lace strings, in various colors, are a pretty feature. Some of these are delicately sprinkled with white beads, giving a dew-drop effect, though jets and pearls are also used for this purpose. Feathers are used in great profusion-ostrich, maribeau. willow, pheasant, the scarlet ibis, the delicate white heron, and other varieties. In some cases the feathers are tipped with beads, jet, gilt, etc., which certainly adds to their luxuriance as a trimming. For the face, beautiful shades of orange and canary are much in vogue, and for general trimming satins, satin ribbons, and satin ribbons theured with velvet will have great prominence. The ornamentation of some few of the bonnets in the "Opening," struck its as rather over-done for Philadelphia taste, being better adupted, in our judgment, for a Sandwich Island or Abyssintan Queen, than for the more caltivated and refined queens of America. Still it requires all kinds of people to make a world and when the same fulle to make a world and when the same fulle applies to the diversity of bounds raquired to make a first-class millinery "Opening."

The display in Hats was no less attractive or extensive than in Bonnets, the trimming of the former being also exhibited in great variety. A large line of imported Fe t Hats, in various shades of brown and drab, richty trimmed, was universally admired.

In fact, in every department, the effects of persona selection from the great centres of fashion in Europe. by Mr. Wood Limsel', were plainly visible, and found a degree of appreciation by the throng of visitors yesterday that amounted as nearly to a sensation as anything that we have witnessed in Philadelphia.

A large number of frames were exhibited, entirely new, and that will be found nowhere else, while the French Bonnets shown were incomparably more stylish than any that have been in vogue for many years. The happy facility which this house possesses. we may note in passing, for i arisianising the produc-tions of their own admirably organized manufacturing depairment has probably contributed more than any other feature to render the house of Wood & Cary the leading millinery firm in the United States.

The stock of materials for cutting purposes displayed in the Opening will command the largest ittention of the trade, as it is complete in every particular, and from comments freely made in our hearing yesterday by purchasers, we can scarcely err in stating that the prices of this house are unusually moderate.

Soldiers and Patriotic Citizens-native born and na turalized—in THIS CRISIS be true to yourselves, be true to the BRAVE HEROES whose bones lie mingled with the soil of the South, from the Rio Grande to the Susquehanna. Be true to your glorious leaders, to your country —our priceless heritage, bequeathed by Revolutionary sires—defended through four years of terrible civil war. This glorious birthright, "the government of the people, by the people, and for the people," which the great and good Abraham Lincoln sublimely said "should not perish from the earth," is IMPERILLED! The usurpations of

His iniquitous schemes must be crushed; they are the more dangerous because but half revealed, and for the reason that there are credulous men in our midst (who can only be aroused, when too late, by signal overt acts of crime)—men who, personally pure, able and influential, are active among his apologists and supporters. Citizens, be not deluded by this. Be vigilant! TRUST NO MAN, however eminent, however pure, how over able, with power or office who approves of the acts of Andrew Johnson. of Andrew Johnson

IN THIS CRISIS,

Citizens! our duty is plain. It is to stand by our party, by our Congress, by our Generals, by our leaders, and by our candidates. ### CELEBRATED OINTMENT

A Cortain Cure for

Scalds, Burns, Cuts, Wounds, &c.

FRIEND Brown: It gives me great pleasure to say to you, that your Ointment is such an article that there can be but praises bestowed upon it when used and it becomes known. For you well recollect how dreadfully I was scalded in both legs by steam and hot water, so much so that the flesh came off at least one-half inch in thickness; and by the use of your Ointment, and that alone, in a few weeks I was entirely restored, and am now as well as ever; not a muscle or leader contracted, and hardly a sear is left. There is no tolling the amount of suffering it would relieve, if it was freely used in scalds or burns of any kind. By referring persons to me, I can give them ample satisfaction of the truthfulness of its qualities.

Respectfully, your friend.
