Tyour honorable court. Government and the existence of two distinct and the existence of two distinct and the court on the 24th of September, 1867, that a rule be entered upon Commodore Selfcidge to show cause why an attachment should not be issued against him for contempt of Court in refusing to obey the writ of habeas corpus commanding him to produce before the Court the body of the said Gormley. This rule was made returnable September 28, but has since been extended to Saturday, the old of October.

The question submitted to the Attorney-Geneday, the othi of October.

The question submitted to the Attorney-General is stated to be, whether the Commodore should be instructed to produce the body of Gormley be instructed to produce the body of Gormley be fore the court, or to resist by force, if necessary, any further writ or process from the Court of any further writ or process from the Court of the domnion and under jurisdiction of another jurisdicti fore the court, of the resist by force, in necessary, any further writ or process from the Court of Quarter Sessions to enforce obedience to the command of the writ of habeas corpus, or any process of attachment against himself under the rule.

The Attorney-General first considers the laws of Pennsylvania upon the subject of habeas corpus, from which it appears that from the year 1785 to the present time, the laws of Pennsylvania have authorized the writ in all cases of imprisonment or restraint of personal liberty, except in cases of commitment for treason or felony. The refusal of a judge or court on proper application, to grant the writ involves liability to suit in favor of the party aggrieved, and a recovery of a pennlty of three bundered pounds. The refusal of the oilicer or other person to whom the writ is directed to make the return required by law, or rected to make the retu cer or other person to whom the writ is directed to make the return required by law, or to bring in the body of the prisoner, involves such officer or other person in a contempt of the court issuing the writ, and a liability to the party aggrieved of one hundred pounds. The Judge or court in the return to the writ and the production of the body, is authorized to examine into the facts relating to the case, and therefore either to bail, remand, or discharge the party. Power to issue the writ is vested in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county of Philadelphia, or either of the Judges thereof.

After reviewing the legislation of Ponnsylvania, the Attorney-General says: "It thus appears, so After reviewing the fegislation of Pennsylvania, the Attorney-General says: "It thus appears, so far as the laws of Pennsylvania are concerned, that this was a case within the jurisdiction of the limits of the jurisdiction of the court of quarter Sessions who issued this writ: that his duty was imperative to issue it; that the production of the body was required, and that the Judge, as to the facts stated in the state of the limits of the jurisdiction of the court or judge by whom it is issued, and an attempt to enforce it beyond these boundaries is nothing less than lawless violence.

The language used in this opinion is not quite so specific as might have been expected. But I so specific as might have been expected. Bu that this was a case within the jurisdiction of the Judge of the Court of the Court of the Court of the Court of the Winter Canada and an attempt to entore it beyond these boundaries is nothing less it; that the judge, as to the facts stated in the production of the begisted of the case."

The opinion next proceeds to a consideration of the legislation of the Linited States upon the subject of the writ of Indices corpus, and the several acts of 1789, 1833, 1842 and 1803 are all set forth. Upon review of this legislation the result is thus stated. "It will be observed that neither of these acts, now in force, nor any other acts of corpers, which have been updated to be clares that the jurisdiction of the Courts of the United States that the jurisdiction of the cases provided for by the Federal law."

Next follows an examination of the legislation of Congress with regard to the enlistment of minors in the navy of the United States, it being understood that the ground of discharge set up in the case of Gormley is minority.

The provisions of the acts of 1890, o ation is stated to be that minors, between | yet more distinctly and clearly defined. In this connection also the opinion refers to certain acts of the process of the united States, to hold the prisoner in custody under it, and to refuse obtained on the prisoner of the mandate or process of any gress on the subject of enlistments in the y. These are the acts of 1859, 1862, February It would not be safe to extend this right of re-24, 1864, and July 4, 1864. By this legislation, it is made the duty of the Secretary of War to or the discharge of all persons in the militia | enlisted person. Nor can it be argued from the service who are under the age of eighteen years language of this opinion, in which reference is at the time of the application for their discharge, made to a person other than the marshal having when it shall appear that such persons are in the custody of the prisoner, that it was intended to without the consent, either express or im- apply to such a person as an officer having the plied, of their parents or guardians, upon re-payment to the United States and to the State and local authorities of all bounties and advance United States court by a person other than the pay which the party may have received. marshal, for he had been transferred by the marshal, under a law of Congress, to a jail of the "I find no statutory provision conferring s'm'lar authority upon the Secretary of the Navy

Mr. JOSEPH KNECHT, LATE OF THE CONSERVATION OF TH tence of a general court-martial. This provision is not to be understood to oust the jurisdiction of courts upon habeas corpus, in the matter of the stand upon his construction of the warrant of the warrant of the warrant of the stand upon his construction of the warrant of t is not to be understood to out the jurisdiction of courts upon habeas corpus, in the matter of the discharge of enlisted soldiers.

"I do not deem it necessary, in the present posture of this case, to enter upon the mixed question of the power of State courts, in proceeding on habeas corpus, to discharge persons held in custody under the authority of the United States. The question now to be considered is, not as to the power of the Court of Quarter Sessions, of Philadelphia, to discharge Gormley from the custody of Commodore, Selfridge, but it sions, of Philadelphia, to discharge Gormley from the custody of Commodore Selfridge, but it is upon the sufficiency of the return made by the Commodore to the writ which has been served upon him. Commodore Selfridge has very properly decided that it was his duty to make a return to the decided that it was his duty to make a return to do the decided that it was his duty to make a return to do the united States. Undoubtedly formulated states, under the laws of the United States, but as yet he has not been brought within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. For that refused, if persisted in, an attachment will, in all probability, he issued by the court, and if, under the instructions that he has yet that capacity to take jurisdiction does not, seed that he has yet that capacity to take jurisdiction does not the instructions that he has ment will, in all probability, he issued by the court, and if, under the instructions that he shall resist its execution by force, an actual collision better the entry of the United States can be eafely advised of the structed to resist by force the judicial process of a State court, the right and duty to other new the structed to resist by force the judicial process of shall resist the court, the right and duty to other new the structed to resist by force the judicial process of shall resist the court, the right and duty to other new the state court, the right and duty to other new resistance must be founded on clear law.

Description of persons enlisted in the navy, yet that capacity to take jurisdiction does not, before its actual exercise, oust the jurisdiction of a State Court. The grant of judicial power to the Federal authorities is imminent. Before an executive or uninsterial officer of the United States can be eafely advised of the United States can be eafely advised of the jurisdiction of State court, the right and duty to other such results in the same cases. There is a vast field of concurrent jurisdiction of State courts which Congress of slighting in the State courts which Congress of the jurisdiction of State courts which Congress of the jurisdic State Court in habeas corpus, upon the application of a person detained in the naval service in virtue of an enlistment under the laws of the United States the combination indicate anti-particle and the combination of the Supreme Court of the United States the combination indicate anti-particle and the combination of the United States the combination of the Suprement Court of the United States the combination of the Suprement Court of the United States the combination of the Suprement Court of the United States the combination of the Suprement Court of the United States the combination of the Suprement Court of the United States the combination of the United States the Court of the Cou United States, the weight of judicial authority is clearly in favor of such jurisdiction, not only to entertain the case, but to remand into custody or to discharge from enstably. As I have said her to discharge from custody. As I have said before, the general question as to the right of a tion of the body of a person detained by an officer to entertain full jurisdiction in cases of the navy as an enlisted person.

I am accordingly of the opinion that the court, in this case, had authority to issue the writ, and United States, cannot be considered as finally settled. There are conflicting decisions between the State Courts and the District and Circuit of authority being in savor of the preponderance. The settlement of the question must await states, or Congressional legislation upon the subject.

In unis case, had authority to issue the writ, and to compel a return and the production of the bedy, and that instructions should be sent to Commodore Selfridge to answer, the rule of an attachment, and to produce the body of Gormley before the court, and that the instructions heretofore sent him to make resistance by force should be subject.

I do not deem it proper at this time, and upon Ronds, Maps, Certificates, Bill Heads, Circulars, Show Cards, Checks, Labels, . The collision of opinion hitherto has been upon the question referred to me, to go into any further the state court Drawings of every description, and Chromo-Lithe graphy in the finest style of art. I do not deem it proper at this time, and upon the authority of the State Court to discharge.
