New YORK, Oct. 11.—Gen. Prim, of Spanish New York, Oct. 11.—Gen. Prim, of Spanish revolutionary fame, whose presence at various points on the European confluent has made him seem almost ubiquitous, is now announced, on pretty good authority, to have arrived in this city last Monday by the French is teamer Pereire from Havre. He is reported to steamer Pereire from Havre. He is reported to be incognitor to have arrived under an assumed mane, and various rumors are affoat as to his intentions. A gentleman was yesterday pointed out on Broad street as the veritable Prim, but turns out to be no such personage. Parties in this city who are intimately acquainted with him state that if he is here, it is with the intention of using his efforts to protect the interests of his wife's property in Mexico. It will be recollected that this Madame Prim is a Mexican lady of one of the wealthiest families in the neighboring republic, and as General Prim has wasted no small fortune in his Spanish escapades, it is but natural that he should try to has wasted no small fortune in its Spanish escapades, it is but natural that he should try to save what remains. As to his having any political designs in Mexico, it is simply preposterous, and as regards Cuba or the Spanish West Indian possessions, his friends say that reports of this kind can be circulated only by cortics who are desirous of injuring his reputaparties who are desirous of injuring his reputation at home.

The trial of Vincent Cody, who is charged with having murdered Prof. John R. Livingston, in an ale house in Jefferson street, at about midnight of the 17th of April last, was commenced yesterday morning before Judge Ingraham at the court of Oyer and Terminer. Five witnesses were examined for the prosecution. Marcus M. Tallman, proprietor of the saloon in which the tragedy occurred, swore that after a quarrel and a struggle between tion at home. were that after a quarrel and a struggle between the deceased on the one hand, and the prisoner and a man named Allen on the other, Cody and a man named Allen on the other, Cody raised the pistol deliberately and discharged one of the bullets into Livingston's head, causing almost instantaneous death. Charles S. Denike and James C. Hanson teatified as to the quarrel between the parties, at the commencement of which they left the house, and returning shortly afterward, found Livingston dead upon the floor of the bar-room. Sorgt. Babcock and Roundsman E. P. Whitsomb, of the Saventh Prepinct, testified to the fluding of an Seventh Precinct, testified to the finding of au empty pistol-case in the outside pocket of Liv-ingston's overcost, which he wore; the pistol found upon Cody fitted the case, and the pris-oner explained that the shooting was accidental. A strange case is now pending in the Essex Market Police Court, in which a woman named Catharine Petersen, claims the defendant, Christopher Petersen, as her husband. Her two children look very much like him; her sister positively identifies him; his name is confessed to be the same as hers, and the woman herself swears.

fidly protests that he does not know the woman or the children; that he never was in Montreal. and brings witnesses to prove that he was in Norway, at the time the marriage is alleged to have taken place in Montreal. The Alleged to have taken place in Montreal. The dudge having heard all the evidence reserved his decision until next Saturday.

At the monthly meeting of the Union League Club, last evening, resolutions were offered by Dr. Francis Lieber in honor of the late Dr. Chas. King, and a bronze group by M. Falconnier, a Fruch artist, in memory of President Lincoln, was exhibited. Resolutions of respect for the late Charles G. Loring, of Boston, were also edupted.

positively that he was married to her eleven coars ago in Montreal, and is the father of her children. On the other hand, the defendant sto-chopted.

Crispino Cardena, the alleged wire murderer, and Philip Monahan, indicted for manslaughter, were vesterday arraigned at Oyer and Terminer, when each pleaded not guilty, and was remanded for trial at the November term of the Court of Special Sessions. The examination of James Arnold, formerly second teller of the Tradesmen's Bank, charged with emoezzling funds of that institution, was commenced before Commissioner Osborne yesterday. The chief witness examined was Mr. Richard Berry, President of the bank.

THE COURTS.

DISTRICT COURT—Judge Stroud.—Geo. Schumber and Herman Frank, trading &c., vs. Major Whiteside and Stephen Whiteside. An action to recover damages for the loss of two cattle placed at pasture with defendants. The cattle placed at pasture with defendants. The cattle were stolen from the inclosure, where they had been placed. The defence set up that there was no guarantee for the safe-keeping of the cattle; that on the contrary, there was a private notice at defendant's place that no responsibility was assumed for the safe-keeping of cattle. On trial.

District Cours—Judge Sharswood.—Conner to The American Life Insurance and Trust Comvs. The American Life Insurance and Trust Company. Before reported. Counsel are engaged in the argument of the ease. the argument of the case.

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Ludlow.—Prison cases are before the Court.

The "Grand Duchess" in Paris. The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes that there are now no crowned heads in that city except the Grand Duchess of Gerolstein, who is now, also, holding crowded levees in the city. The Times correspondent writes:

Of course you are acquainted with her Serene Highness, if not personally, at least by fame. She is the most popular of sovereigns, enjoying the love of all her subjects and of many, it is said, who are not her subjects except in the figurative sense. She takes her afternoon drive in the Bois de Boulogne in perfect safety; nobody would think of firing at her, except with bouquets and bonbons, and an attempt to depose her would rouse the whole boulevard in revolt. She is affable and accessible, and certainly cannot be complained of, as some sovereigns have been, for not holding drawingrooms. Six nights a week she receives all comers, and she is proportionately popular with her lieges. If you have not seen her, you will not fail to do so. There is still time, for no probability as yet appears of her leaving Paris, where, the spring and summer through, she has held her state. As to the crowned heads who have swarmed here this year, they could not do less than wait upon their sister potentate, and not one of them, it is believed, failed in that pleasant duty. From our old friend Prince Schwarzwurst Schinkenhausen, whose standing army numbers one hundred and fifty men, up to the emperor of all the Russias, not one was wanting. Nay, the Czar was in such haste that, after greeting his brother Emparor, he did not even wait to change his boots be-fore hurrying to the Theatré des Variétés. In short, so great has been the run, so numerous have been royal visits to the pleasant little theatre on the Boulevard Montmartre, and so many the kings and princes who have attended the court and the Grand Duchess, that the piece has received the by-name of Le Passage des Princes.

AMUSEMENTS.

Call. Senty's Second Matrice in Horticultural

Call Servi's Segond Mather in Horticultural Mall, yesterday, was well attended. The beautiful Symphony No. 5, by Mozart, was played again in the beat style. The William Telloverture was also played better than it has been heard here for years. The other orchestral pieces were equally well done. Mr. Jean Louis sang a charming air by Lachuer, with an exquisite necompaniment of piano, clarionet and horn. Mr. Louis has a fine barytone voice and his style is excellent. The song and its accompaniment made a decidedly good impression. Mr. Sentz's enterprise may be considered intrly established, and his Thursday matinces will be sure to attract good audiences to Horticultural Hall throughout the season.
