an adjourned meeting last night, at the Hall of an adjourned meeting last night, at the Hall of the Good Intent Hose Co., to perfect arrangements for the formation of a Grant Club. Colonel ments for the formation of a Grant Club. Colonel Ments of the formation was effected, Col. White After the organization was effected, Col. White made a pertinent and able speech. In the course mof his remarks he said: I took occasion at our of his remarks he said: I took occasion at our first meeting to refer to the alleged reasons that first meeting to refer to the alleged reasons that lead to our late defeat in Pennsylvania. My views lead to our late defeat in Pennsylvania. My views were slightly misinterpreted by some of the results of the proposition in a manner that will admit of no question concerning it. The candidate of my choice must stand fairly and unmistakably on the platform of the Republican party. I would have him endorse to the fullest measure of its meaning the reconstruction policy of Congress without "ifs," "ands" or "buts." My political opinions coincide with the published views of that clear-headed jurist, warm-hearted philanthropist and magnificent statesman, Salmon P. Chase. From the most valuable sources of authority, it is clear to my mind that General Grant also coincides with them. Under our present political surroundings, therefore, I am willing to accept that unrivaled soldier as our candidate for the next presidency. I have unbounded respect for his patriotism, and gratitude for the daring, endurance and skill with which he led our brave troops to final victory.

If, however, in the further developments of the reasons which call us together to-night, it may be found that this illustrious officer does not meet our expectations by any refusal to face the music, I will be as ready to condemn him as I am now willing to endorse him. With respect, am now willing to endorse him. With respect, while the loyal man, whether black or white, should be denied such a privilege. To enfran-gon why a recet, maning sought to destroy and Union should be entitled to the elective franchise, while the loyal man, whether black or white, should be denied such a privilege. To enfranchise the one in the South and to disfanchise the other is the establishment of an oligarchy condemned alike of justice and humanity."

Mr. Hennessy was then called upon and addressed the meeting with excellent effect.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported the following permanent officers: President, John W. Donnelly. Vice Presidents, J. Markland. George White, Theodore Chandler, Edwin S. Yard, A. A. Hurley and Richard Donagan. Treasurer, Alexander Thackara. Corresponding Secretary, Benjamin Huckle. Recording Secretary, H. H. Deitz.

MUSICAL.

THE CONSERVATORY MATINEES. - The American Conservatory of Music give their first Classical Matinée, under the direction of Mr. Carl Gaertner, to-morrov (Saturday) afternoon, at 3% o'clock, at the New Horticultural Hall, Broad street, below Locust. The opening piece upon the programme, we are pleased to see, is the great Piano and Violin Duo, op. 47, of Beethoven, the performance of which difficult work, attain able to few, Mr. Gaertner as a violinist is so justly celebrated. Also, there will be given the favorite Mozart Trio for Clarionet, Violin and Plano, and other great works equally attractive. It seems to be the object of these matinees to display, as in a picture gallery, the finest chamber music of the great masters for advantage of the students of the Conservatory, who attend free of charge. The subscriptions of the public will aid in supporting the entertainments and assisting the directors of the Conservatory in their noble and praiseworthy efforts to do good. It is well known that sixty free scholarships for three years tuition have been thrown open to pupils of our public schools, and as carrying out these and other liberal views demands both time and money, we hold it for the duty of all desirous of advancing musical culture to encourage such an enterprise to the atmost in their power.
