MILES FROM ROME, Oct. 30, 1867.—Garibaldi's camp is situated at Castel Yuibilero, fives miles distant from the city of Rome. On this day (Wednesday), in the morning, he had at his headquarters under his immediate command, three thousand revolutionary soldiers. The men are well armed, and have plenty of provisions. The General has no artillery except two brass guns taken from the Papal soldiers during the light at Monte Rotondo. They have no tents to shelter in, and there is very little discipline maintained. The rear is unguarded.

The Roman peasants residing in the neighborhood of the contending forces take no interest, at least evince none, in the progress of affairs. They are engaged at the plough and attending to their flocks in the plain just as usual.

Garibald's men do not interfere with them and respect their property. They do not take away sheep or oxen, or any of the agricultural goods or chattels in the vicinity of the camp or on the roads leading hereto, with the exception of the wood of the field fences, which is required for warmth and purposes of cooking their food. They behave, indeed, well.

It will be of spacious dimensions, and will be reelved with much welcome by the Catholics of West Philadelphia. The ceremonies over, the audience assembled in front of a large platform, on which was a speaker's stand, seats for the Bishop and clergy, and reportorial facilities. An address was then made by Very Rev. Dr. O'Hare, from the text, "How terrible is this place; it is none other but the house of God, and the gate of Heaven."—Genesis, xxviii. He referred to the ceremonies just witnessed, their signification and antiquity, with the graces and blessings which would emanate from this church, rected to the honor and glory of the living God.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass would be in it daily offered up, in propitiation of the sins of mankind, and the appointed power of God would dispense the comforts of religion among His people. THE REFORMATION JUBILEE.—The Jubilee services in commemoration of the Reformation of the sixteenth century, are to be continued tomorrow, in St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring Garden street. The anniversary on Thursday last, was attended by an immense throng of people who could with difficult be accommodated in the large edifice. The floral decorations of the chancel are in the most chaste and elegant style, and the music of a full choir, with organ and brass accompaniment, under the leadership of Mr. H. Beethoven's Piano.—A precious artistic relic—the plano of Beethoven—is offered for sale by its present proprietor, an inhabitant of Klausenberg, in Transylvania. The instrument was made about seventy years ago, and is in a very fair state of preservation. On one of the panels is painted the portrait of the great musician at the age of twenty. It is supposed that it was a gift to him from the maker, S. A. Voggel, of Pesth.

CITY BULLETIN.

Union Passenger Railway, in which damages were awarded for the death of a boy by being jammed between a brick pile and a car, has caused other companies to complain of the brick piles upon the line of their roads. There appears to be no law governing the matter. The ordinance of Councils, now in operation, allows builders the use of ten feet from the curbstone. This ers the use of ten feet from the curbstone. This would place a portion of the bricks over one of the tracks of the railroad. The Commissioner of Highways, who grants the permits, has been in the habit of allowing six feet, so as not to interfere with the operations of the railways. This leaves but a few inches between the brick plies and the cars. Several persons have already been killed by being jammed between a car and a pile of bricks and it is time that some action was taken by City Councils for the protection of life and limb, and also the interests of the railway companies and citizens generally. What is companies and citizens generally. What is wanted is an ordinance to regulate the piling of bricks on the streets occupied by passenger rail-

SANFORD BENEFIT THIS EVENING. Sanford who all the world knows, as one of the greatest best Ethiopian permormers in the country, takes his farewell benefit to-night. Is the season about to close that the manager retires, or are we to have changes? We are sorry tires, or are we to have changes? We are sorry that Mr. S. retires from this beautiful Opera House, which we thought was to be a permanent Sanford institution, so long desired by his friends and the public. We have advocated Sanford in this enterprise, and should he make another effort to establish another Hall, he has our best wishes. Long live Sanford and may we always have the Ethiopian Opera, and such a man at the head of it. Don't forget his bene-MESSES, EDWIN HALL & Co.'s IMMENSE STOCK

Edwin Hall & Co., No. 28 South Second street, is rarely offered. This stock, for extent and richness, is hardly excelled by any other in this country, and the fact that excunstances have rendered it necessary to close it out absolutely, as early as possible, is a sufficient explanation for the extraordinary reduction in prices at which it is selling. The stock tion in prices at which it is selling. The woman was finally taken away by a Reserve Po-liceman, and was sent to prison by Alderman Beitler as a vagrant.

noon, about half-past two o'clock, an accident occurred at the new Catholic Seminary, now being constructed on what is generally known as the "Rimington Farm," on the Lancaster turn-pike, some seven miles from this city. The workmen were engaged at an altitude of about sixteen feet, when one of the cross-bars or planks on which some of them were standing broke, in consequence of too great a weight being placed upon it, and five of the men were precipitated to the earth, and one of them, named Osborne, was killed. PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, November 2. The pressure in the money market is hardly as severe as early in the week, yet the banks are unable to supply the demands made upon them, and a large amount of paper is forced into the hands of the brokers, who find it extremely difficult to place anything under 10@12 per cent. The recent failures have excited caution, and although there is a disposition on the part of capitalists to do rather more for their customers, yet it is only upon collaterals of unexceptionable character, while paper is thrown upon the street to be negotiated at rainous rates. The course now being pursued by the Secretary of the Treasury, in cartalling the circulating medium, is having a most detrimental effect upon business generally. This steady contraction has embarrassed trade at a time when it needed all possible encouragement. While the Government officials are active in their determination to collect taxes, which crush the merchants be-
