The following report was read by Rey. Mr.
Moore, Rector of the Church of the Crucifixion:
The Freedmer's Commission of the Protestant Episcopal Church, organized by the General Convention of 1865, believing that its efficiency would be materially increased by local auxiliaries in the several dioceses of the country, instituted the Pennylvania Branch one year ago.

A meeting to consider the propriety of forming such a branch was held in St. Luke's lecture room, on November 24th, 1866. A few earnest churchwoman, who had been working for the freedmen through other associations, there met, and were addressed by the general agent of the Episcopal Commiscion, and consented to undertake the work; the agent agreeing that all money co lected by the Pennsylvania Branch should be under the control of an Executive Board in Philadelphia, who were competent to select and direct their own tracleurs and schools, only reporting to and advising with the general board of the church commission, to which they were responsible.

After the formation of this Branch, its officers appeared nearly paralyzed by the aparty of the church to their appears, and were almost ready to turn back from the work. LATER FROM WASHINGTON. THE FISHER - BRADLEY CASE. BRADLEY FILES HIS DEFLNCE.
