Only nine out of thirty-one Schr RR 48, Smith, sailed from Georgetown, 4th he assured them that God was—punishing us for our sins. He said that when Judge, Legislature or Congressmen, or any one discriminated in the least on account of color, then this epoch was ended. Then there would arise another issue—the issue on the ballot for woman. We must clean this issue out, and not leave it for our children; it should be settled now. There is no use of prevarication, delay or evasion. The American people must be educated to the point of giving colored men every right and privilege which the white man possesses; until this work has been accomplished the agitation will never cease.

He said that when Judge, Legislature majority of 33,834. Only nine out of thirty-one districts have white majorities. A large amount of obligations, exceeding half a million in the aggregate, due chicfly to Northern creditors, matured at the city banks yesterday, and were promptly paid.

Election Fracas and Murder in New York.

New York, Nov. 5.—About 1 P. M. to-day Daniel Friel, a printer, had an altercation at the corner of Pearl and Franklin streets with Jeremiah Hannegan and Patrick Hayes about some election matter. Cease.

He said that if Grant and Sherman did not stand by the side of Johnson, he would not be a circumstance in the way of the American people. If Grant had stood up and refused the war portfolio when offered to him by Johnson, the latter would not have dared to remove Stanton. He alluded to the next Presidential election, and alluded it the greatest issue new people.

In relation to Grant, he thought Grant could be correctly denominated the American Riddle. Nobody knows about him. Where is he? Should he be trusted because he maintains silence? State at trust would be neither Republican nor Danger cratic.

The only reason why the Republican party would take him up would be a fear of defeat by the Democrats in the approaching election. He afiltmed that he had no wish to detract from the merits of Grant, but before he took the reins of government we should know exactly where he
