Mr. O'Conor, on the part of Davis, stated tonight that he and his colleagues were ready and anxious for the trial to go on. With regard to the point whether they would be willing to proceed, in case Judge Chase could not be present during the trial, he said that was a matter upon which he would express no opinion until the contingency occurred; that was a question for the Government to decide first, whether they would be willing to go on with one Judge. But he remarked there were reasons why two Judges should be on the bench in a case of such importance. DISASTERS. THE OHIO BAILBOAD DISASTER. The Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday, gives the details of the distressing railroad slaughter which occurred on the Cincinnati and Dayton road on Thursday evening. The Commercial says:—
"A terrible calamity occurred yesterday morning on the railroad known as the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, a short distance above Lockland, Ohio, at about a quarter of alx o'clock. unce. In case of objections being made to any juror, solely on account of color, there is no doubt that Judge Underwood with heat, and carefully laid aside. The wounded, twenty in number, were brought into the city at half-past ten, every possible attention being shown them. The majority of them are very slightly injured.

Mr. Brewer, the engineer of the train, was badly burned in attempting to rescue the sisters Morgan. Mr. Allison escaped with slight bruises.

IDENTIFICATION OF THE DEAD—FOUR SISTERS INDEXTIFICATION OF THE DEAD—FOUR SISTERS Since the above was written, we have come into possession of important facts; the identification of the victims. Ten pieces of baggage, mostly trunks, were found, belonging to the four ladies. Eight of these were found to contain the wardrobes of four ladies. It appears that they left their home in New Orleans in June last, and spent the summer and fall in Canada West. When killed, they were on their ways and a couple of days.

It has been ascertained that the gentleman killed was mr. Chast, Jackspon, of Boston, who had acquaintances on the train aid in this city. This man was not scratched. Chief Justice Chase, who is expected to arrive at one o'clock Monday, and the opening hour for the court is fixed at two clock, to await his arrival. The case of Jeff. Davis is expected to be called an among the first cases. Domestic Missions .- A meeting in behalf of United States District Attorney L. C. Chandler arrived to-day from Washington, and is prepared to commence the trial if Judge Chase and the counsel on both sides are ready. Mr. Chandler will be assisted by Richard H. Dana, of Boston; William M. Evarts, of New York, and General H. H. Wells, of Alexandria, Va., who are all here, and have been in consultation all this afternoon and evening at the Statewood day which, during the last few years, has been day which, during the last few years, has been but very indifferently observed in London, had some of its "glories" revived on the 15th instant. The counsel for Davis now here are Charles The counsel for Davis now here are Charles O'Conor and George Shea of New York city, assisted by John Randolph Tucker, late Attorney-General of Virginia; Robert Ould and Judge James Lyons of Richmond. Mr. O'Conor arrived to-day. Messrs. William B. Reed and James T. Brady, counsel for Davis, are not present, but are expected in case the trial proceeds. There was no communication to-day between the counsel for government and the defendant, and it is, therefore, uncertain whether the trial will be commenced to-morrow or not. It is certain it will not be commenced till Chief Justice Chase arrives. The counsel on both sides are very reserved, and decline giving any information as to the course either will take.
