This position, Mr. Boutwell enforces with great calmness, clearness and ability. He accepts as "the key that unlocks the whole mysterious conduct" of Mr. Johnson, his declaration made at the Burnett House, in Cincinnati, in February, 1865, that "there was no way to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except through the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward to save the Union except the cost of cleaning the streets has gone upward the cost of cleaning the streets have the cost of cleaning the cost of cleaning the streets have the cost o Democratic party." discussed, but none of them were accepted. A new man was agreed upon, and his name is Gen. W. S. Hancock. Messrs. Haskin, Reynolds, and others, who had just been with the President stated that Mr. Johnson told them that General Hancock was doing admirably, and had only begun the programme that had been laid out by them some two months ago. They allow it to be understood that General Hancock was Mr. Johnson's choice, and was the only man that be understood that General Hancock was Mr. Johnson's choice, and was the only man that could make a show against Grant. Consequently this clique of politicians, at their meeting to-night, privately nominated General Hancock as the Democratic candidate for the next Presidency, and pledged themselves to his support. No one could be agreed upon as a candidate for Vice President. Haskin and Hoffman were spoken of, but Hancock being a Pennsylvanian the West, it is suggested, would claim the Vice Presidency. Haskin was promised the next Gubernatorial nomination in New York should Hoffman be the candidate for Vice President, and either Sandford E. Church, Horato Sey-
